RETRIEVE COAL MEN'S LOSS ON OLD CONTRACTS

ADMINISTRATION ALLOWS FUEL DEALERS TO TAKE MARGIN WHICH NEW GOVERNMENT PRICES SWEPT AWAY.

Washington, Nov. 8.—Thousands of tons of coal held by jobbers and wholesalers were made available for emergency distribution today when the fuel administration decided to allow dealers to take a small margin of profit on coal they had contracted for at high prices before the government prices were fixed.

Under previous orders jobbers have been permitted to sell only at a small margin above the government price at the mine regardless of the figures named in their contracts. Because in many instances this price was less than the coal costs them, the jobbers have held their coal.

Today's ruling provides that the jobbers may sell at a margin of 15 per cent above the contract cost to purchasers to be designated by state fuel administrators. The fuel administrators will place the coal in communities most in need of it.

Increase Coal Production. Measures to increase coal production were taken up at a conference today between officials of the food administration, administrators of the National Coal association and representatives of the railroad war board, the priorities committee and the Interstate Commerce commission. Consideration was given to a proposal that coal shipments be given preference in transportation over all other commodities except food and war supplies. This step was urged particularly by the coal operators, who assert that car shortage is forcing mines to stand idle in many parts of the country.

Local committees serving under state fuel administrators were given wide discretion by the fuel administration today in fixing retail margins. In a recent order retailers were directed to charge no greater margins than they took in 1915, with the provision that in no instance were margins to be more than charged in July of this year. Today's order empowers local committees to reduce these margins wherever investigation shows they are unreasonable.

Fuel administrative officials predicted the order would bring lower coal prices in many parts of the country.

CHIEF CAUPOLICAN.

World's Greatest Indian Orator and Entertainer.

The most notable representative of the Indian race upon the American platform is Chief Caupolican, orator, singer, entertainer and man of affairs. He is a native of Chili, South America a member of the Aurocan Indians, a race which was never subjugated by the Spaniards. He is an accomplished linguist, speaking fluently English, French and German as well as his native tongue. He was self-educated in letters and music in France and England.

Caupolican's story of his own people, and their long struggle against the aggressions of the Spaniards never fails to hold his audience in breathless attention. Pride of race is evident in every gesture, and his stories of the old-time triumphs of his people are told in the manner of an ancient bard celebrating a victory, rather than that of the entertainer. While the story he tells is thrilling, yet the real climax comes when he breaks into song. He is the possessor of a splendid high baritone with marvelous feeling and expression.

Altogether Chief Caupolican gives one of the most unusual and thoroughly attractive programs upon the American platform. For the past six years he has been a star upon the greatest vaudeville circuits, and has delighted audiences in all the country's leading cities. He belongs essentially to the Lyceum and Chautauqua; however, and we are very glad to present him to a new and finer clientele of real Americans, adapted by temperament and insight to thoroughly appreciate the artistry of his offerings. We believe that from this time he is destined to be a headliner in the Lyceum world. 2nd number Lyceum course Parmele Theatre Friday Nov. 16. Reservations open Tuesday evening 7:30 Nov. 13th.

Certain Cure for Croup.

Mrs. Rose Middleton, of Greenville, Ill., has had experience in the treatment of this disease. She says, "When my children were small my son had croup frequently. Chamberlain's Cough Remedy always broke up these attacks immediately, and I was never without it in the house. I have taken it myself for coughs and colds with good results."
