ALLIED TROOPS POUR INTO ITALY TO AID ROMANS

FRENCH REINFORCEMENTS COME ACROSS SNOW-COVERED ALPS TO AVOID WAITING FOR CONGESTED TRAINS.

London, Nov. 16.—The British correspondent accredited to Italian headquarters in a dispatch dated Thursday, says:

"Allied reinforcements are reaching Italy daily in increasing numbers. To avoid waiting for trains on the congested railway some French troops have been brought across the Alps through the snow-covered passes. The allied troops are marching steadily forward to their appointed places in the Italian scheme of defense.

"Both the British and French are in high spirits. They are delighted at the change in scene and over the prospect of a new adventure."

The Daily Mail's correspondent at Italian headquarters under date of Friday, tells of the grave difficulties of the Italian defenders on the Trentino mountain frontier, where the same troops day after day are resisting the enemy without opportunity for rests, while the Austro-Germans, having greater reserve, assault incessantly with fresh and vigorous troops. Nevertheless, the correspondent adds, the main bulwarks of the defense remain firm, and presumably it will not be long before the allied help makes itself apparent.

CARPET FLOO WITH SUGAR AND OATMEAL

From Saturday's Daily.
This paper made mention of a family in destitute circumstances, where the father is constantly employed and making fair wages, the neighbors when the article appeared, took things to eat, and for the children to wear, but it is not seemed to be appreciated, for the goods were sat on the floor, and the children immediately began to open the packages and scatter the oatmeal and sugar over the floor, with the other things similar. This is a case where the authorities should step in and do something with these children for they are entitled to a better heritage, than to be continued in such a condition. If the parents can not or do not care for them it is time some one else did. There are plenty of good homes in the country that would find room for them, giving them the advantages of a home and a good education.

"BETSEY" LOST HIS KNIFE.

From Saturday's Daily.
A few days since Nitka and "Betsey" Bookmeyer went hunting, and started a squirrel, which climbed a tree into a hollow tree, where they could not get a shot at it. "Betsey" thought he would climb after the pestiferous little animal and did so. When he had gotten to the place where the hole in the tree was he thrust his hand in and securing a good hold of the animal's tail, endeavored to pull him out. But with the claws it held on and "Betsey" was not able to dislodge it. So he whipped out his knife and stabbed it in the back, which caused the animal to jump and jerk loose from Mr. Bookmeyer, carrying with it the knife which he highly prized. "Betsey" is ahead the experience but out the knife.

GETS FINE AND TRIMMINGS.

From Saturday's Daily.
A. C. Farrar, who has been making this his stopping place for some time was a visitor in Omaha yesterday and remaining for the concert in the evening, returning home on the late Burlington train, but had absorbed so much spirits ferment, that he could not navigate the street with any certainty, and Officer Alvin Jones picked him up, lodging him in the city jail. This morning Judge Archer placed him under tribute to the extent of ten dollars and trimmings, for being drunk. He paid the amount and was given his liberty.

FRED WEGENER NOT IMPROVING

From Saturday's Daily.
Reports from the bedside of Fred Wegener, state that his condition does not improve, and he stays in an unconscious condition, and but rarely shows any signs of returning consciousness. For a moment day before yesterday he opened his eyes and asked regarding the market for May corn, then elapsed into unconsciousness again. Dr. Updegrafe of Omaha, who has been called on in the case, does not offer any hope of improvement, still he says "I would not say he would not get well." His condition seemingly has but little to base hope upon. His injuries came about by his trying to stop a mule from passing out at the stable door, he grabbing it around the neck, when it swung around, throwing Mr. Wegener against a stone wall, striking his head with much force.

THOUGHT WALKING GOOD FOR HEALTH

From Saturday's Daily.
Yesterday a man or load of men with an automobile, dropped into Plattsmouth and got shaved, and was talking about getting a farm, when they ran across one of the local real estate men, who was interested immediately, and said he had a farm for sale which was well improved, which he had for sale.

The traveler asked where the farm was and was informed that it was about six miles on the country. Well just jump into my car and we will go out and see it and I will bring you home again. They went, and when they had arrived at the farm, the traveler cast a glance at the surroundings and said, "Oh, I would not have that place to all." The argument grew warm, and the car was turned around driving back, until they arrived at the road running south from this city to Union, but several miles south of here, when the traveler said to our Realtor, "sorry, but I cannot take you back to town, I am in a hurry, you will find a ride easily," and turned him into the road, notwithstanding his vigorous protestations. And he walked home, too, while walking was good. Now to get him to try the same trip over you would have to give a guarantee bond for a dozen times the amount of the cost of sending for a car to come after him.
