GERMANS ACT AS INSOLENT

DELEGATES OF AUSTRIA. TUR-KEY AND BULGARIA DIS-AGREE WITH PRUSSIANS.

Kuehlmann and General Hoffman Quarrel Openly Buring Deliberations.

Amsterdam, Jan. 4 .- A telegram, from Warsaw says that a special train carrying the peace delegates of the central powers has passed through there on the way to Brest-Litovsk.

! On the invitation of the German foreign minister, Dr. von Kuehlman, Prof. Emil Oplik, an artist, will go to Brest-Litovsk to sketch the assembled peace delegates.

Although the peace conference between representatives of the Bolsheviki government and the central powers was due to reconvene Friday, no news has come through indicating whether the meeting took place. Neither have there been any advices whether the difficulties in the way of reaching an agreement have been surmounted, or in concessions by either side making possible further negotiations are intended.

Dissatisfaction with the proposals of the central powers apparently does not obtain solely on the side of the Bolsheviki government, but exists among the delegates of the central powers as well.

Germany Dominecring.

Disclosures of details of the Brest-Litovsk conference makes it clear that Germany assumed a domineering attitude, while Austria, Bulgaria and Turkey were conciliatory and disagreed with the arrogant position of the Germans.

There were differences also among the German delegates during the meeting. Foreign Minister von Kuchlmann and General Hoffman classed openly. Germany posed constantly as a conqueror while its three allies showed eagerness for peace and a disposition to compro-

The attitude of the German socialists against the demands of the central powers, especially those providing for the retention of Poland, Lithuania, Courland and other occupied territory, has forced the imperial chanceller to refer to the situation before the main committee of the reichstag.

POCLAMATION FOR SIX O'CLOCK CLOSING HERE

Whereas, the council of the city of Plattsmouth at a regular meeting, in compliance with the request of the United States fuel commissioner to conserve fuel in every way possible, did on the 26th of December last vote to request the business men of this city to take steps toward the conservation of fuel, and

Whereas, during the emergency unless immediate step are taken, our citizens may be with out necessary fuel in their homes, John P. Sattler, Mayor of the City of Plattsmouth therefore urge upor the merchants, and all lines of business in the city to get together and agree on an early hour for closing stores and places of business, and in this way decrease the hours during which fuel is used in your places of business. I offer as a suggestion that grocery stores and lines of general merchandise, close at six p. m., and hardware stores at the same time Drug stores could easily close no later than eight p. m., soft drin' places and billiard and bowling halls between nine and ten, and all other lines close an hour earlier than their usual previous closing hour.

As the chief magistrate of thi city. I appeal to your patriotism in this time of our nation's peril, and urge upon each of you, that you ow it to your community to do all it your power, to aid in the saving of

The Situation!

You have been asked to conserve food.

You have been asked to conserve fuel.

Most every item which is used directly or indirectly by the vast army which is in the making, Uncle Sam is putting his thumb upon and asking you to save.

Our trade Journals tell us we are preparing for a war of at least five years duration. One of the biggest essentials and the one next to food, for the successful terminus of this war is clothing. A man is no more a man if ill fed, than if poorly clad.

The government now advises the use of reworked wool or 60% wool and 40% cotton, all this is to conserve wool in order to clothe an army for a period of years, no one can tell how many.

Ultimately you must pay your share of contributing the best clothing materials to the army. Any clothes shop of good repute can still sell you an all wool suit at little or no increase in cost and stand right behind this garment as in normal times.

Our appeal to you is an honest one-whether you buy here or elsewhere—buy your suit or overcoat now buy two of them if possible; the saving in the six months to come will be no small one. And be careful—GET THIS - be careful of the "Clearance Sale" - buy merchandise. Pay the price for it, but don't buy what is offered at a cut price unless you are an expert judge of values.
