

BRITISH TO RECRUIT A HUGE NUMBER MORE

HALF MILLION MEN TO BE ADDED AT ONCE TO THE ENTENTE FORCES.

HOPE THUS TO SAVE THE DAY

England Outlines Plan to Draw Men from War Industries Until U. S. Can Get Men Over.

London, Jan. 14.—Nearly half a million men from Great Britain alone are to be recruited into the British army at the earliest date possible and it is probable that more will be added to that number in the coming months.

These will comprise the younger men who up to the present have been exempt because of their employment in industries essential to the war services.

Call Skilled Workers.

This announcement was made in the house of commons today by Sir Auckland Geddes, minister of national service, whose statement of the government's manpower proposals are replete with interesting details of Britain's strength in the struggle into which she means to throw her full resources.

The minister set forth the status and needs of the British fighting and munitioning forces and the measures the government is taking after agreement with most of the labor leaders for recruitment from the classes of skilled workers who were promised exemption when conscription was adopted.

The empire has enrolled 7,500,000 fighting and labor battalion forces during the war, according to the statement of the minister, and now has more than 4,000,000 enrolled, but needs more men to hold its own against the enemy until the American strength is available.

Praise Women's Work.

He praised the spirit in which the labor leaders have met the government, but regretted that the Amalgamated society of engineers had remained outside the conference, adding however that the invitation was still open to the members of this society. He paid warm tribute to the work of the women.

He declared that nothing could be more misleading than the suggestion that the manpower problem could be solved by a dramatic stroke. It was the central problem of the war.

"It means everything," he said, "ships, armies, munitions, food, light, heat and coal. At the moment, the most anxious problem is not the supply of men for the army. But we have to take steps against the time when it will be—a time, which, I believe is not far distant."

Going into the details of the situation, the minister said in part:

"The plain facts do not support the statement that the armies are melting for lack of recruits and that recruiting has broken down.

Allies Have Advantage.

"The government has examined in detail the position of the allies on the eastern front and the results are not unsatisfactory. Excluding Russia and Roumania, the allies have a substantial superiority in fighting and ration strength over the central powers. From a statistical standpoint the strength of the enemy gives no cause for anxiety.

"The withdrawal of Russia means that not less than 1,600,000 men will be made available on the western front. Notwithstanding Russia's defection, the resources of the allies and America are sufficient to assure victory, and nothing but a psychological catastrophe can save the central powers.

"Every day the hitting force of Britain becomes of greater importance to the alliance. Russia no longer strikes for freedom; France has poured her strength in the struggle and cannot sustain the full burden indefinitely; America is not yet in the field and months must elapse before she can advance with a full stride; Italy has suffered grave misfortunes.

"On Britain and on the skill with which she handles her manpower in the months to come everything depends."

Discussing the age question, he said that the Germans were using boys of 18 on the Russian front and that Austria has raised the limit to 55 years. Analyzing the enemy's strength, he declared that the Germans would be able to withdraw 650,000 men from the eastern front and the Austrians would be able to release enough to make the total 1,500,000.

The minister declared that it would be necessary to raise in this country at once from 420,000 to 450,000 men from civil life as an absolute minimum.

More might be necessary during the coming year. He added that the government had decided not to introduce conscription in Ireland for the present, nor change the military age limit in Great Britain and the colonies.

Three possibilities for increasing the army, said the minister, had been considered.

First, lowering of the military age. The Germans were taking boys of 17, but lowering the age below 18 was contrary to natural instincts and economically unsound, and the fighting value of the average youth of 18 was not commensurate with his value in civil life.

Second, raising the age limit. Economically this was less objectionable. Austria-Hungary had raised the age to 55 years while the British limit was practically 43. But the fighting value and staying power of a man of 45 was less than of a man of 25. The government felt strongly that it would be contrary to national interests to raise the age limit, while there were notoriously large numbers of younger men fit for service.

Third, compulsion for Ireland. The government had considered the vexed question carefully and was satisfied that the reasons which excluded Ireland from the first compulsory act had lost none of their potency.

The government had determined, however, to take a large number of young men engaged in essential industries and also to take steps to maintain the industries after the young men were withdrawn. More than 1,000,000 men were now exempted on occupational grounds. The government had divided the essential industries, roughly, into three classes. From the first it would take no men; from the second about half of the fit men and from the third class about one-third.

Gets Good Results Quickly.

These few lines from J. E. Haynes, McAlester, Okla., deserve careful reading by every one who values good health: "I find no medicine which acts so mildly and quickly with good results as Foley Cathartic Tablets. They empty the stomach and bowels, giving all of the digestive organs a healthy action." Sold everywhere.

DAYLIGHT RAID ATTACK MADE ON KARLSRUHE

TION AND QUARTER OF BOMBS DROPPED ON BIG GERMAN RAILWAY JUNCTION.

FIRE STARTED IN FACTORIES

Teutons Who Start to Put Out Fire Driven Away by Machine Guns.

London, Jan. 14.—A successful daylight air raid has been made on Karlsruhe, according to a British official communication issued tonight.

The text of the statement says:

"Today our squadrons carried out a most successful raid into Germany in broad daylight, their objectives being the railway station and munition factories at Karlsruhe. One and a quarter tons of bombs were dropped. Bursts were observed on buildings and sidings of the main railway junction in the center of the town on railway workshops and a smaller junction in the town.

"Observers report that a very large fire was started in factories alongside the railway, which was confirmed by photographs.

"The antiaircraft fire was very heavy and accurate, and several hostile machines vainly attacked our formation. All our airplanes reached their objectives and returned safely.

"Bombings and attacks with machine gunfire from low altitudes were carried out incessantly Sunday. More than 400 bombs were dropped on a large ammunition dump near Roulers and on hostile billets, hutments and railway junctions. A party of the enemy, engaged in extinguishing a large fire, attacked by machine gunfire, was scattered, and the fire was left to run at will.

"In combats seven hostile machines were driven down out of control. Another was forced to land in fact behind our lines by antiaircraft fire; the pilot was captured. Three or four machines are missing.

"During Sunday night our night flying machines dropped bombs on Roulers and Menin. All returned safely.

Karlsruhe, which is the capital of the Grand Duchy of Baden, several times has received visitations from allied airmen. It is situated about fifty miles from the French border, and has a population of between 75,000 and 100,000.

VERY COLD IN NORTHWEST.
From Tuesday's Daily.
Mrs. Don Norman of Alliance who arrived here a few days since for a visit at the home of her parents Mr. and Mrs. Carl Kapischki for a short time was a passenger to Omaha this morning for a day or so to visit with friends, and speaking of the weather, which has prevailed in the northwest she said it was the coldest which she had ever experienced.

CAUSE OF YOUR BAD TEMPER
Anger unbalances a man, sullenness renders him an intolerable nuisance to society. But often the cause of the irritability is very simple. The stomach is out of order. Anger dies quickly with a healthy man, the sourest temper disappears as soon as the stomach is restored. Triner's American Elixir of Bitter Wine combats the bad temper. It cleans out the intestines, helps digestion, restores appetite and fortifies the entire system. It dissipates nervousness, headache, insomnia, a lack of energy, and frees you from constipation, indigestion, etc. Price $1.10. At drug stores. Why be always full of aches and pains. Rheumatism, neuralgia and lumbago are bad foes, but Triner's Liniment turns them to flight. It is also an excellent remedy for sprains, strains, swellings, etc. Price 35 and 65 cents at drug stores; by mail 15 and 75 cents—Joseph Triner Company, Manufacturing Chemists, 1333-1343 S.
