Obituary
William Clyde Anderson, only son of George and Cora Anderson, was born in Wabash, Nebr., August 28, 1900, and departed this life March 22, 1918, aged 17 years, 6 months and 24 days. At the age of nine years he moved with his parents and sister, Aletha, to Seattle, Washington, where they lived until 1917, when they came to Alvo to reside. His sickness was of short duration, being only thirty-one hours, but his suffering was intense. Having a cheerful and lovable disposition, Clyde was the sunshine of the home and only those who knew him best can realize the aching hearts he has left behind. Those left to mourn his loss are his parents, Mr. and Mrs. George Anderson, an only sister, Mrs. Robert Byron, of Seattle, Washington, an aged grandmother and other relatives and a host of friends. On account of sickness the sister was unable to attend the funeral which was held Sunday afternoon at two o'clock at the Alvo

M. E. church, conducted by Rev. Harmon, of Eagle. Interment was made in the Alvo cemetery. The pall bearers were Glenn Dimmitt, James Dimmitt, Elmer Rosenow, Wayne Swartz, Earl Dreamer and Chas. Marshall. Many friends from out of town attended the funeral. The bereaved family have the sympathy of their many friends in their hour of grief.

DELCO-LIGHT
Increases Farm Efficiency

- Saves time and labor—Work formerly done under poor light and by hand can be done better and in less time with the aid of electric light and power.
- Labor is attracted to the farm—The "back to the farm" movement is made practical when the conveniences afforded by electric light and power can be had in the country.
- Keeps the boys and girls on the farm—Electric service on the farm offsets city attractions. Valuable labor and valuable young manhood and womanhood are saved to the country community.
- Solves the retired farmer problem—Electric light and power make the farm home so attractive and comfortable that the farmer and his wife remain on the farm where their advice, experience, and immediate interests are of great practical value.
- Lightens burden of the housewife—Increased farm work in war times means increased labor for the housewife. Electricity offers the only practical means of taking the drudgery of household tasks from her shoulders.

Delco-Light is a compact electric plant for farms or country homes. Self-cranking. Air-cooled. Thick plate, long-lived battery. Ball bearings. No belts. RUNS ON KEROSENE
