MAY TAKE CIVIL SERVICE EXAMINATIONS WHEREVER GIVEN

Washington, D. C., April 10.—The United States Civil Service Commission announces that on March 27, 1918, the President approved a joint resolution of Congress suspending, during the period of the present war, the operation of the provision of law which required applicants for civil service examinations to be examined in the State or Territory in which they reside. During the period of the war, therefore, applicants for any examination held by the Commission may be examined at any place at which the examination is held, regardless of their place of residence.

An act of July 2, 1909, required examinations to be taken in the State of residence. While this provision is suspended for the period of the war, it is still required that only those who have been actually domiciled in the State or Territory in which they reside for at least one year previous to the examination may become eligible for permanent appointment to the apportioned departmental service in Washington, D. C.

The Commission expects this change to make it easier to obtain applicants for positions in Washington. Competent stenographers, typists, and bookkeepers are in great demand. Examinations for these positions are held weekly throughout the country. Representatives of the Civil Service Commission at the post offices in all cities are furnishing detailed information and application blanks.

TIDE OF BATTLE CHANGING.

With the British Army, in France, April 10.—The Messines ridge and the Ploestert wood, which last June were cleared of Germans by a spectacular coup, again today were filled with swirling masses of fiercely battling troops as the result of a new drive launched by the enemy between Armentieres and Messines this morning. For hours the German hordes have been flinging themselves against the defending lines, and by sheer weight of numbers forced their way forward at several points into the British positions. Messines, Ploestert and Ninepe all had come within the zone of the bitter fighting during the forenoon, but, with the attacks and counter attacks in progress, the situation was changing so rapidly that it was impossible to say at the time of the filing of this dispatch which way the tide of conflict was flowing.

Today's push north of Armentieres was a continuation of the new phase of the great offensive which boiled up yesterday between Givenchy and Armentieres, when the enemy surged forward suddenly with fresh troops and made a considerable head in the defending line.

If the enemy attack of today should succeed Armentieres would be in a deep salient with the Germans well in on either side of it.

In the meantime fighting is still proceeding at various points in the sector between Givenchy and Armentieres.

One of the main features of the German plans for the offensive as a whole now becomes obvious. The Kaiser is bent on annihilating the British army as far as possible.
