The "Battle of Wahoo" was bloodless, but it was effective just the same.

Two many people run up merchandise bills and then join the Don't Worry club.

It is very easy to elect a candidate by abuse. Some newspapers are trying their hands at this work.

Heaven, according to the movie fans, is a place where everything comes out right in the last reel.

The Germans aren't getting the fullest satisfaction in taking all those French towns—they are all ready in ruins.

We approve of Uncle Sam's manipulation of our clocks as a good way to get his hand in for fixing the kaiser's clock.

"The Allies are all in the same boat, a long way from shore and on limited rations"—and Uncle Sam is running the relief ship.

The bootleggers are still going through this city, and one car load slipped by the boys Friday night. The business still seems to be good out of St. Joe up in Nebraska and Iowa.

The movement for the elimination of unnecessary telephoning seems to have lagged, because the things the high school lovers have to tell each other are just as important as they ever were.

An Atchison, Kas., professor says Moses was the handsomest man mentioned in the Old Testament, so evidently all those women married Solomon just for his money and a good home, after all.

The American people will resent any attempt to cut down Henry Ford's usefulness at this time and will discourage all efforts to send him to the Senate or anywhere else until his militant peace program is carried out.

Lloyd George's recent evidences of new determination to win the war at all costs give added plausibility to the St. Louis Post-Dispatch's prophecy of when England will be brought to her knees. It will be when hell freezes over.

"Stars and Stripes" is the name of the weekly newspaper being published in France for American troops, under the direction of the intelligence section. Practically the entire paper devoted to American news including a daily radio report of about 1,400 words supplied by the committee on public information to the French government.

Be a Food Controller in your own home and count yourself fortunate that you have food to control.

The greatest show of weakness in any man is for him to be afraid of making an enemy now and then.

If you could reach them by law, there would be a lot of persevering talkers committed to jail as nuisances.

The man who walks has one advantage over the man who rides in an automobile. He never punctures his tire.

The food controller is after the boosters of flour substitutes. And, too, there seems to be a good field of endeavor.

Lenine's threat to declare war on Japan carries some hope. Then, maybe, he'll begin to fraternize some with the Allies.

At home "men on the road" are as sedate as a minister; when "out" you understand, it is their business to make "an impression."

Well done, noble hen. You have been a great help to many of us in the past two weeks and we hope you will keep right on in the good work.

The ones who objected so strenuously when the clock was moved up ought not to kick when we turn it back next fall, but they probably will.

What has become of the old-fashioned violinist who opened his program with the "Golden Wedding" and closed it amid great applause with a series of imitations of rooster crows and pig squeals?

It is easy to save if we remember that by saving we are helping those who are undergoing indescribable hardships and discomforts, and risking their lives every day for us and for our country's sake at the front.

If a bill before congress passes, loafers who are in a military class more favored than Class 1 may find themselves put in Class 1. The nation is endeavoring to conserve manhood and loafers are not very valuable.

The bishop of London is paid $50,000 a year, but is compelled to spend it all in maintaining a pretentious household. Whatever advantages there are in celibacy, it seems the bishop ought to be given the benefit of them.

Every nearby county is putting on strong Liberty Bond drives and all expect to go "over the top" in the campaign. The zeal being manifested indicates that the government will be furnished the money with which to equip our boys to meet the "huns" on equal terms.

A chair at a Red Cross sale in Kansas sold for $142, while a much more valuable mule brought only $34.75. It also sometimes happens that the Red Cross gains the least from those who are able to give the most. But the chief thing about the Red Cross is that it always manages, somehow.

You will find at the present moment that whenever an understanding of the war penetrates the brain of any man, whether he be laborer, Socialist, banker, reformer, priest or poet, from that moment he steps, willy-nilly, out of his own rank and class and into the fighting ranks of the Republic.

THE WISCONSIN ELECTION.

The election of Congressman Leuro to the senate from Wisconsin is more than satisfactory to this democratic newspaper. Had its editor been a Wisconsin voter his vote would have been cast for the republican candidate. The injection of partisan politics into the Wisconsin campaign was unfortunate to say the least. The only issue should have been a patriotic one—the annihilation of Bergerism and pro-Germanism. That the unspeakable Berger, pro-German to the core, should have polled a hundred thousand votes is a disgrace to that great state. But his heavy vote may have a good effect. It may demonstrate to a lot of people that pro-Germanism is all too rampant in this country; that the authorities have been too all-fired easy with that class, and that the time is come when mere fines and detention in easy camps will not suffice to stamp out the evil. Under similar circumstances a Berger in Germany would receive short shift, and the Wisconsin admirer of the Kaiser knows it. No other country on earth would countenance a Berger in the same circumstances. Uncle Sam ought to quit it instanter.—York Democrat.

AMERICAN GENIUS.

There is little doubt but that American genius will offer something quite startling on the battle fields of France. Premier Lloyd George recently announced that the Americans had a great surprise in store for the kaiser. He no doubt alluded to the force of the American army but the suggestion offered the basis of a persistent rumor in London Tuesday that an American airplane carrying twelve men had arrived in England from New York, making the three thousand mile flight without a stop. The rumor was officially denied, but it is significant of the faith placed in the inventive ability of the Yankee. The perfected locomotive, the iron clad battleship and the telegraph are examples of American genius. The Liberty motor and the Browning machine gun, both representing the most perfect machines in their fields, are products of this country.

Those first tanks used by the French and British owe their existence to the efficient American tractor and now Henry Ford has produced a typical U. S. tank. They are lighter and less cumbersome than those used by the French and British. The Germans were much surprised when the British first sent the crawling fortresses against them but they will be more surprised when these darting Yankee hornets make their appearance in Europe. The machines will be faster and harder to hit and greater numbers will be used. These new tanks will be a surprise for the boche, but it is a safe wager that other surprises will be afforded him by the sons of Uncle Sam.—Lincoln Star.

JUBILANT GERMAN PRESS.

A New York woman got six months for flying a German flag in honor of Hindenburg's drive. Apparently the bonfire burning and exultant singing in Chicago was less effectively dealt with. What this tolerant and long-suffering nation will do about the jubilation in our German-language newspapers is the more important question.—Fremont Tribune.

Columbus, Neb., will spend $1,000 to equip their Home Guard company. The right spirit.

New York's income taxes this year are expected to total 800 million dollars, which sounds big until you begin guessing how much Von Hindenburg would levy were he suddenly to become military governor of the old town.

Don't get confused. The buying of Liberty Bonds is in no sense a donation, but a better investment than the average man can plan for himself. When duty and profit appear together the individual can respond to both and make no sacrifice.

THE MONEY COMES BACK.

The cycle of money invested in Liberty Bonds is short and complete. The people lend the money to the Government, the Government lends some to our Allies and our Government and our Allies straightway spend the money, or the greater portion of it, among the people of the United States. In some instances the money paid in by wage earners on one installment of Liberty Bonds is paid by the Government to their employers, and by their employers paid back to them in the way of wages before the next Bond installment is due.

A FIFTY DOLLAR LIBERTY BOND.

It will protect 1,000 soldiers from smallpox and 666 from typhoid. It will assure the safety of 139 wounded soldiers from lockjaw, the germs of which swarm on Belgian soil. It will render painless 400 operations, supply 2 miles of bandages—enough to bandage 555 wounds. It will care for 150 injuries in the way of "first-aid packets." It will furnish adhesive plaster and surgical gauze enough to benefit thousands of wounded soldiers. Every purchaser of a Liberty Loan Bond performs a distinct individual service to his country and to our boys fighting in France.

KING GEORGE'S DEMOCRACY.

King George constantly gives proof of being a democratic king. The other day, as many times before, he met a private in ranks and shook hands with him; he met others, far beneath the "stations" of the kind of folks the king usually deals with, and shook hands and spoke. He has enjoyed meals with the proletariat along the western front. He is a king who is not too uppish to talk to a plabeian. Contrast this attitude with Kaiser Bill. Did you ever hear of the kaiser shaking hands with a common soldier? Did you ever hear anybody getting close enough to the kaiser with a 40-foot pole minus the ceremonies that used to be associated with ancient monarchy? Neither have we. That's the difference between autocracy and democracy as applying to the personal attitude of kings toward their subjects.—St. Joseph News-Press.

LINCOLN'S DOCTRINE.

"The man who stands by and says nothing when the peril of his government is discussed cannot be misunderstood. If not hindered he is sure to help the enemy; much more if he talks ambiguously—talks for his country with 'buts' and 'ifs' and 'ands.'"

That is pretty strong doctrine. Some of us would hesitate to draw the line of disloyalty with any such rigor. Merely talking for the country with "buts" and "ifs" and "ands" is regarded by many people as comparatively innocent.

The ruthless tyrant who uttered the doctrine quoted above was Abraham Lincoln. Lord Charnwood, certainly an open-minded student, sums up his impression of this phase of the great president's career with the statement: "In any case, Lincoln stood clearly and boldly for repressing speech or act that could help the enemy, with extreme vigor and total disregard for the legalities of peacetime."

Lincoln had summoned men to die for a cause. Unquestionably any toleration of speech or act that tended in any way to undo their word would have seemed to him contemptible and criminal. But Lincoln is not remembered as a man of freedom of mind or body.—Saturday Evening Post.

A curb should be placed on some of these auto livery drivers who make a practice of soliciting young girls on the street to take a ride with them. Anybody knows that it is for no good. This is simply a warning.

A New York lecturer says the world has already ended. Evidently we have missed the last installment out this way.

Doing your bit does not consist in finding fault with the work of others who are putting in their best liks.

A man who worries a good deal about getting his salary raised, seldom worries enough about earning it.

Even with an extra hour after quitting time some sociable men still get home late for dinner.

"Nate Goodwin remains silent." Well, five marriages are enough to teach silence to any man.

While the American boys are fighting in France, let your dollars fight at home.

ARE YOU DOING ALL YOU CAN TO WIN?

From Monday's Daily.

Do you read the papers and go out and say, we are getting the worst of the fight, do you say the Huns are driving the fighters for Liberty and Humanity back, do you say we are going to have a hard time to win. Well if you do you are doing things which you should not do. The real thing is to say we are going to win this war for Humanity and Liberty, and put every ounce of effort into the contest to win it. You may not have money, but you may have an opportunity to do some farming, and if you have a little bit of additional ground make it grow the most you can, and do not waste the things you have to eat, if there is anything to spare divert it into some channel where it will feed some and thus enable him to be productive to the fullest extent. You may not be a farmer, but you may have money, if so use all you can for the winning of this struggle by investing in war bonds. You may not like war, few of us do, but that does not matter, the war is here, and we have to fight it out. Will we do our part? Say about that bond issue, suppose you can get two per cent more for your money, that will make just two dollars per year, are you risking anything to get those two dollars? Suppose the lack of your support should cause the war to be lost, where has gone your two dollars per hundred. That makes possible to carry one thousand dollars of bonds at twenty dollars per year, and you a patriot! Or you one that would rather ease up while the burden comes on the others? Think this over and see

LOW VITALITY OF OUR PEOPLE.

The vitality of the American people is growing lower. Men used to work in the open, their food was simple, but today 60 per cent work indoors with little exercise and much richer food. If you are to be really healthy, you must help your stomach and intestines to expel all dangerous substances and morbid germs. Triner's American Elixir of Bitter Wine is a remedy whose ingredients, bitter herbs, roots and barks of eminent medicinal value, clean out the stomach, keep it clean, aid digestion and restore healthy appetite. Take it and get rid of constipation, indigestion, headaches, nervousness, general weakness, etc. Price $1.10. At drug stores. Remember that Triner's Liniment is the right thing for rheumatism, neuralgia, lumbago, sprains, strains, sore muscles, swellings, etc. 35c and 65c at drug stores; by mail 45c and 75c.—Joseph Triner Company, Mfg.
