PLAYING DUAL ROLE IN LIFE IS OFTEN COSTLY

MAY PROVE SO TO AUTO SALESMAN TAKEN INTO CUSTODY BY OFFICERS HERE.

MARRIED MAN A GAY BEAU

Made Love to Former Creston, Iowa, Girl, Who Says Were to be Married in a Week.

From Thursday's Daily.

Playing a dual role in life is oftentimes quite costly in the ultimate end, and so it may prove to Abie J. Archer, who some weeks ago came to Plattsmouth to accept employment with T. L. Amick as an auto salesman. He engaged apartments at the Hotel Wagner, where he lived until, at frequent intervals, was visited by a lady whom he registered as his wife. Whether she was aware of the registering is not known.

Mr. Archer, it appears, had lived at Oxford, this state, where it is claimed he has a wife living, and where he is said to have defrauded a bank out of a number of thousand dollars, as well as the town of Benbolman, where he likewise accrued $600 by misrepresentation. Sheriff S. E. Kenney, locating his whereabouts, phoned from Omaha to Chief of Police Barclay to look out for him, and the officer accordingly went to the Wagner hotel and placed his man under arrest, holding him in the city jail until the arrival of the sheriff from Oxford, who identified him as the man he was after.

In company with Chief Barclay, Sheriff Kenney went to Omaha in search of the woman in the case, and they found her at 25th and Dodge streets, in the White apartments.

The Woman's Story

The young woman, whose name is Susan Probasco, said she had been to see Mr. Archer here and that he had represented himself as a single man, and had said he had never been married, moreover saw any person whom he loved until he had met Miss Probasco. She avowed she was to come to Plattsmouth next Sunday and they were to be married here on the following Monday. The young lady's home is at Creston, Iowa, but she has been in Omaha for some time.

After getting her story, Sheriff Kenney and Chief Barclay returned here, arriving on train No. 14 over the Burlington last night. This morning the sheriff departed over the Missouri Pacific for Omaha, with his prisoner in hand, and will take him back to the western part of the state, there to answer to the charges against him, namely that of defraud and also to face the accusations of a wife whom he sought to abandon for another.

CLASS ONE CASS COUNTY.

From Thursday's Daily.

There is now remaining on the available list after the departure of the boys who are to go to Camp Dodge on next week, are 178. These are to supply the quotas, which this county will be called upon to make, in the coming drafts. There are now a list of 30 delinquents or those who have not reported on their questionnaires, and have failed to report when called upon and are otherwise missing from this number as they are rounded up, but the federal authorities will be credited to this county as they are found. Besides this there are some 22 which are listed for limited service, they being men who have something which prevents them from entering the service in full capacity, such as having a finger gone, or a toe, or other slight deficiencies barring them from full service. The first drawings will exhaust the 178 men, after which will be drawn from the new registrants of which it is expected that will be about 170, from the list, which is to be on June 5th. These will be placed at the bottom of the list, but just how the order is determined is not as yet reported.

About Rheumatism.

Rheumatism causes more pain and suffering than any other disease, for the reason that it is the most common of all ills, and it is certainly gratifying to sufferers to know that there is a remedy that will afford relief, and make rest and sleep possible. It is called Chamberlain's Liniment.

SOLDIERS AT FUNSTON ON THEIR WAY

DRAFT BOYS OF A FEW MONTHS AGO GOING OVER TO DO THEIR BIT FOR U. S.

NOT A DRY EYE IN THE CROWD

Of Civilians as Boys March Away with Banners Flying, Bayonets Glistening—Bands Play

From Friday's Daily.

Plattsmouth and Cass county boys are today in all probability nearing the end of a journey extending from Funston to "an Atlantic seaport," there to embark on a trip across the seas. A short time ago these boys were in our midst pursuing various walks of life and today they stand united as one in the army of Uncle Sam, eager and willing to 'do their bit' for liberty and democracy. A most interesting account of the departure of the boys from Funston is contained in the following special dispatch.

Camp Funston, Kan., May 21.—

Special Dispatch.—(Passed by the Censor)—The Funston boys are going, going over, "over there." Where they go from here, or when and how they leave, are points of information that cannot be made public. The men themselves know very little about that, and care less. Sufficient for them there is action afoot at last, lots of action, with trains and loading and packing, night and day work, and speed such as has never been seen here before.

Surmises among the men as to what the big step they are about to take means cover a range that includes everything. Headquarters alone knows what is taking place, and headquarters is not telling. There is no lack of enthusiasm, however, as a result of lack of information, for good privates don't question orders from higher up.

Eight and a half months of most strenuous training are at a close. For a few it is less than a month. "Squads right" and "Squads left" have been mastered long ago, more intricate drills perfected; rifle practice carried on steadily; muscles turned into iron; and now the entire Eighty-ninth division stands as a perfect unit, ready to serve its country, and the countries that have held the line.

Details of the biggest event the middle West has ever staged must be withheld.

Censorships make it necessary, for although every officer and every private has written and telegraphed to one or more friends or relatives of his plans, the more intricate details must not be offered to those who might use them to work harm. But at any rate, the middle West may know its boys were wonderful in their parts. And every mother with a boy in the Eighty-Ninth division may know he answered to the call "Ready" with a smile and in many cases a tear of enthusiasm in his eye.

And the few civilians who are seeing the sight of a lifetime can never tell what they saw. Words will not tell it.

Not a Dry Eye Left

A unit marching, led by a band blazing the strains of "Over There" standards and colors flying, bayonets glistening; thousands of canvas-clad legs moving in perfect rhythm; curt orders, in low voices, barely distinguishable above the crunching of gravel; a stop for good bye to comrades; more playing by the band of jazz music, ragtime and a finish on the national anthem. Not a dry eye is left, but none from sorrow. There's patriotism and joy in the air and a big man about to offer his life for his country feels no shame in shedding a tear at such a time.

Confusion for a few minutes, and the offerings of Kansas, of Missouri, of Nebraska, of South Dakota, Colorado, Arizona and New Mexico are on their way.

A colonel, a real full-fledged colonel, with eagles on his shoulders, stood at the head of such a line. Stiff and erect he stood with a cold look in his eye, frowning when the bands played and his thousands of men stood awaiting his command. A veteran of former service he was,

"No talking in line" he announced when the column halted.

The colonel watched the expression of his men as they melted under the national anthem, saw the locks of yearning in the face of "bunkies" standing by, saw his men look toward them but never speak, and he melted too.

"Hold the lines, but talk if you want to," he changed his order and the dozen or more fathers who knew somehow to be in camp, rushed into the lines for one more word to their boys.

"Wonderful," Officer Exclaims
An officer, ranking so high it would practically be naming him to give his rank, stood back a distance and watched.

"No man can ever know or realize, unless he has seen it with his own eyes," he soliloquized. "Just a few short months ago they were clerks and office men, farmers and mechanics. Now to look at them. It is past believing. They're wonderful. Thank God I am an American and a brother of these men."

And the high officer is not alone in his thankfulness. Not a man among the thousands would trade places with a stay-at-home. Each feels his importance, the prime importance of a private in canvas leggings, the man who will execute the orders of Gen. Pershing. With such a feeling the Eighty-ninth division goes in to do its share.

The middle West may rest assured it is well represented in the American expeditionary forces and before the summer closes will hear of the work of its sons in barring the door of barbarism.

RESOLUTIONS OF CONDOLENCE.

Whereas, It has seemed the will of the Supreme and Great Creator of all things, to remove from our midst and from our earthly association, our highly esteemed and honored Brother, Wm. Dorse Jordan, and,

Whereas, In the death of Brother Jordan, Evergreen Camp No. 70, Woodmen of the World, recognizes the loss of a most valued member, who for several years has been one of the most faithful and truest of its members; therefore,

Be It Resolved, By Evergreen Camp No. 70, Woodmen of the World that in the death of Brother Jordan, we have parted with a true and faithful member of our order, and a true steadfast friend.

2nd. That since it has been the will of Him who creates and controls all things, to remove Brother Jordan from his earthly life we trust and hope that what is our loss, may be the eternal gain of our deceased Brother.

3rd. That we extend to the bereaved parents, sister, brother's grandmother, and sorrowing friends, our profound sympathy in this hour of saddest affliction.

4th. That these resolutions be spread at large upon the records of Evergreen Camp No. 70, Woodmen of the World, and a copy of the same be delivered to the parents and family of our deceased Brother, and that our Charter be draped in mourning for thirty days.

INJURED AT THE SHOPS

From Friday's Daily.

While engaged at his work in the Burlington shops yesterday morning, August Kopp had two fingers on his right hand severely lacerated by a large piece of iron which was being beveled for a patch on a foreign car. The injuries required the services of a physician to close, and each finger needing two stitches. The hand is pretty sore and it will be some time before he is able to get to his work again.

For a Sprained Ankle.

As soon as possible after the injury is received get a bottle of Chamberlain's Liniment and follow the plain printed directions which accompany the bottle.

Cause of Headache.

By knowing the cause, a disease may often be avoided. This is particularly true of headache. The most common cause of headache is a disordered stomach or constipation, which may be corrected by taking a few doses of Chamberlain's Tablets. Try it. Many others have obtained permanent relief by taking these Tablets. They are easy to take and mild and gentle in effect.

Uncle Sam's Postman Has a New Job

He is now also a recruiting officer to enlist the financial support of the youngsters. Let him be your children's adviser in the matter of thrift. Let him show them what it means to substitute interest-bearing Thrift Stamps for the penny savings bank. Let him be the medium to put your children into actual contact with their country's government.

The Thrift Stamp represents to the children what the Liberty Bond represents to adults. The penny embodies war power just as the dollar—for pennies make dollars. The Thrift Stamp idea is designed to reach those who think in terms of cents. The power of the penny is shown by the fact that the government hopes to raise two billions of dollars from the sale of these stamps.

Thrift Stamps make a reality of the children's patriotism by allowing them to aid the government with money for war purposes. A child's savings may be a means to shortening this war by days, and every day means the redemption of colossal waste.

Thrift Stamps cost 25c each. Books of 16, with a few cents added, are at any time exchangeable for certificates which will be worth $5.00 in 1923. These Stamps are received as payments on Liberty Bonds. You may obtain them at any Post Office, your mail carrier, and at most stores.
