COULD PLATTS-MOUTH FILL THE GAP IN ROAD?

THE GOVERNMENT IS GOING TO PUT GOOD ROAD FROM OMAHA TO FORT CROOK.

From Tuesday's Daily.

With the advent of the building of a paved roadway from Omaha to Ft. Crook, there will be an excellent opportunity for the building of the road from Ft. Crook to Platts-mouth, that the matter of being in connection with Omaha on a road which would make it possible to haul loads and to travel at any time from that city to this. There is a move on foot to establish such roads from Omaha to other cities, and in the most of the places it will be much more difficult as there is more distance for them to build the road. Now then from the Missouri Pacific railway station here, to the terminus at Fort Crook, is about eight and a half miles. There is much agitation in this matter at the present time, and what will be done, no one knows, but certain it is that the matter of the interurban motor truck traffic as well as the pleasure car travel is growing daily, and with the congestion of traffic, the scarcity of cars, it makes it very important that some thing be done to get the shipments out to the smaller towns on time, and also to get the shipments from the country to the cities. The Omaha Chamber of Commerce Journal has the following to say about the matter:

A great deal of interest has already been manifested in the work the Industrial Bureau is about to undertake with a view to assisting the interurban auto truck business in what is known as the "Return Load" organization. Cross country or interurban hauling by auto truck is growing at a surprising rate, and steps have already been taken by the Industrial Committee to formulate some sort of organization which will enable both the firm or the merchant having goods to haul and the man with the truck to get in touch with each other, and if possible furnish loads both ways. In case the business warrants it a plan may be adopted by which those having goods they wish to send to Blair, Tekamah, Fremont, Ashland, Platts-mouth or any other town within a radius of fifty miles, may report to a central office in Omaha, where the auto truck drivers can also call in this way get in touch with the "Return Load." The smaller towns will, of course, in time organize along the same line and the business may, as it has in the east and in California, develop into a great and growing volume when the roads are improved and maintained in better condition than they are at present. There is undoubtedly a large amount of the lighter freight and produce that can be moved from town to city and vice versa more expeditiously by auto truck than by rail.—Omaha Chamber of Commerce Journal.

THE BOYS GOT AWAY ALL RIGHT YESTERDAY P. M.

OUR QUOTA JOINS HUNDREDS OF NEBRASKANS ON THE SPECIAL TO CAMP DODGE, IN IOWA.

In some instance the people of this city did not grasp the importance of the fact that from this county there were fifteen of the flower of young manhood departed from this community, for services with this government, in defending the sacred institutions of this nation. They did not show their appreciation of the sacrifice, in any way that would vouchsafe to them, the face that this city appreciated the importance of their act, or the feelings, of the people that a sense of gratitude that those departing are leaving this city, their homes on the mission, which has called them, and which is fraught with so many possibilities. Never will the circumstances, be again as were to these boys who yesterday went out into the world, the boys that are, will return the same, when they do the homes will be changed, the boys will be men, and do explanations of we were sorry that we did not show you our appreciation for the sacrifice will suffice, for while we hope all may return, there will be some to whom the explanation cannot be extended, by reason of frailty of silver cord, which holds us to this servitude.

Others of the city were at the station to see the boys as they got away and to receive renewed inspiration in the justness of our cause, and the assurance that the time is fast approaching where we shall have won for the world the battle for the Rights of Humanity. One cannot look on the determination in the faces and the earnest of purpose of the more than a thousand of the selectmen on the train last evening and not get a vision of victory over autocracy and in the favor of Democracy. Many of the Good-byes, and "God Bless You's" were uttered with a sob, but the firm purpose which underlaid, the departing and the farewell greeting nevertheless, spoke of the willingness to make the sacrifice for the sake of the cause of the Rights of the People.

Orin Tyler who is making his home at Omaha and has been employed there for some time past is visiting at the home of his parents C. Tyler and wife, south of the city, but returned to his work in Omaha today.

And What It Means to You

You Appreciate Economy You Get It Here

THE ONLY REAL ECONOMY—ECONOMY THAT "PROVES OUT"

There are two kinds of economy in buying farm implements.

One is seeming economy; the other is real economy.

One looks mainly to first cost; the other looks mainly to final results.

One makes you think you have practiced buying economy when you pay the first cost of an implement; the other makes you know you practiced buying economy when you count the profits that the use of an implement has paid you.

One is usually false economy; the other is always the kind of economy that pays.

We offer you the real economy in buying—the kind that is safe—the kind that pays.

The implements we sell carry a trade-mark that is firmly established, wherever farm implements are used, as an assurance of special quality. Their general use is due alone to the fact that farmers everywhere find real economy in using them. Their success is based entirely on the better results they give in actual use.

Our service puts you in the closest possible touch with these better implements. We keep a stock of them right here close to your farm, where you can investigate each implement thoroughly before you buy—where you can get what you want when you want it.

You don't take a chance when you take a buying trip to our store.
