

BOOZE CAR IN BAD MUD HOLE EARLY TODAY

SAM DIXON, OWNER OF CAR, IS CAPTURED, WHILE THE BOOZE MYSTERIOUSLY ESCAPES.

SENT OUT A S. O. S. CALL

The Car Was a Cadillac Roadster, Bearing Nebraska License 1918 Number 123928.

From Wednesday's Daily.

During the early portion of the night before, J. E. Mason received a request to come near the home of Luke Wiles and help a car out of the mud, which had stuck. He told his driver of the car, which serves the railway stations, when he returned from the Missouri Pacific train at midnight to come and help get the car which was a Cadillac roadster, bearing Nebraska License 1918 number 123928, out of the mud. When Mr. Orvil Newton returned Mr. Mason was back also having gone out with a rope, which he had broken, and was after a cable to pull the car out with. They both went out and spent the remaining hours until morning getting the car out of the mud and down to the Mason Garage. At about seven o'clock Luke Wiles telephoned to Officer Jones, telling him about the car. Mr. Jones notified Chief of Police Barclay, and went to the place, the car being gone, when Mr. Barclay notified Sheriff Quinton and they went to look into the matter, they found that the man, Sam Dixon was at the home of Orvil Newton, and arrested him, and when arraigned pleaded guilty to having had the intoxicating liquor and to having offered the same for sale. He was given a fine of one hundred dollars on each charge with fines besides. Sam Dixon claimed not to have had any money, but said that the car of whiskey which he had had was gone.

When arraigned he testified that he had unloaded the liquor by the side of the road, when the car had run back against a culvert puncturing the gasoline tank on the car, and allowing the gas to escape. He said that he sold the liquor to some one on the road, but when he was asked to pay his fine, he said he had no money.

During the interval between 12:30 a. m. and about seven o'clock J. E. Mason and Orvil Newton were working on the car to get it removed and Mr. Newton says there was no one that came and got the whiskey.

key, but on the ground was broken bottles and many labels, and a path in the mud which showed the whiskey had been carried up the bank. With the testimony that no one came and took away the "booze" and still when the car was brought to the garage in the morning it makes things difficult for those who do not know about the devious way of the bootlegger, to believe. As we go to press Mr. Sam Dixon is still in the custody of the court officers, and the car in the local garage awaiting developments.

DRIVES BUICK FROM CALIFORNIA

From Monday's Daily.

E. L. Berry and wife arrived in this city this morning from Omaha where they have been visiting with their son W. C. Berry and family, for the past ten days, having driven from Los Angeles in a Buick car, coming through the mountains and visited the places of interest between here and there. Stopping in the Grand Canyon, Colorado, and many of the cities between the coast and Omaha. They will depart this afternoon on trip to Oklahoma, where they will visit for some time with friends and relatives before returning to their home in the west. They left Los Angeles on April 30th, and could have arrived at Omaha in eight days, but preferred to see the country and cities along the way.

FIRST OF JUNE WEDDINGS IN PLATTSMOUTH

MISS MARIE DONNELLY AND 1ST LIEUTENANT EDWIN FINGARSON UNITED.

PARTRUCK OF MILITARY STYLE

St. Luke's Church Decorated with Flags, Etc., for Saturday Night's Event.

From Monday's Daily.

Last Saturday occurred one of the most beautiful and nicely appointed weddings which has been solemnized in this city for some time, when Miss Marie Donnelly was united in marriage with First Lieutenant George Edwin Fingarson, at the St. Luke's Episcopal church. The church had been decorated in military colors with flags abounding in profusion everywhere, being looped from the ceiling of the church and a large one was hung on the wall. After the congregation was seated the pews were roped in with ornamental ropes, which formed a passage way for the bridal party.

The bridal party entered, the bride upon the arm of her father, preceded by little Elizabeth Aldrich, of Nebraska City, about four years old, carrying a bouquet, while following was the groom and Lieutenant M. B. Johnson, of Fort Crook, the best man, and Miss Gretchen Donnelly as maid of honor and Mrs. John W. Falter as matron of honor.

The ushers, Lieutenants Boughton, Andrews, Carter and Milne, all of Fort Crook, with a nicety that proclaimed military precision, cared for the audience and looked after the wants of the wedding party. "The Star Spangled Banner" was played by Mrs. George H. Falter, of Falls City, being followed by Lohengren's Wedding March.

The march ended under a looped canopy of American flags, where the bridal party was met by Rev. Wilber F. Leete, pastor of the Episcopal church, who, with the beautiful ritual of the church, said the words that united the hearts and lives of these two young people.

After the ceremony was concluded, the bridal party, with the same precision and stately movement that characterizes army regulations, left the church for the home of the bride's parents. The pews which had been closed to the aisles, were then loosed one at a time and the people passed out in order, each pew full assembled in the form of platoons of military men.

Following the ceremony was held a reception at the home of the bride's parents, attended by a large number of people.

The bride was dressed in white georgette, trimmed in point lace and carried a shower bouquet. The veil, which had been her mother's, was arranged coronet shape and held in place by a crown of orange blossoms. The attendants at the wedding wore pink organdie dresses quaintly old fashioned, trimmed with lace, and blue ribbon poke bonnets trimmed in pink organdie with streamers of blue ribbon, carrying nosegays of ward ward roses. The flower girl's dress was of pink and white, with tiny nosegays of ward roses.

The Donnelly home was decorated with foliage, white flowers and trailing vines. Assisting at the reception there were Mesdames J. A. Donelan, R. F. Patterson, J. S. Livingston, Henry Herold, Anna Britt and W. R. Clement and Misses Mia and Barbara Gering, Dora Fricke, and Verna Leonard. Those who assisted in the serving were Misses Madeline Miner, Edith Dovey, Jeanette Patterson, Margaret Donelan and Lillian Dwyer.

The out of town guests at the wedding were Miss Callie Hermann, Watertown, Wisconsin; Miss Charlotte Hayes, Milwaukee, Wisconsin; Mr. and Mrs. C. W. Aldrich, Nebraska City; Mrs. Frances Welch, Chicago; Misses Stella Shannahan, Josephine Grace, Eva Bragg, Marian Zimmer and Violet Dodge, Dr. R. A. Dodge, Mrs. Withnell and Mr. and Mrs. Russell Harris, of Omaha; Lieutenant and Mrs. Paul Reinke, of Fort Crook; Mr. and Mrs. George H. Falter, of Falls City; Warren Powell and C. Goerke, of Omaha; Lieutenants Powell, Thorne, McCulloch, Johnston, Marsh, Cassidy, Drake and Harding, of Fort Crook and Miss Jennie Donnelly, Yates Center, Kansas.

The bridal party departed on the midnight Missouri Pacific train for a short trip to Kansas City, Mo.

Boys will be Boys-- and some day boys will be men. That's why we try to have everything a boy wants in things to wear, because then later he will come to us for the things a man wants and that's how our business has been built. We think there is no store in Nebraska can show you better clothes for boys, or better shirts, or better underwear, or stockings, or caps, or play suits, or anything a boy wears than we do. We take pride in our boys' department. We want you to know about it. Bring the boy here, we'll take good care of him.
