Letter From Camp Dodge.
This letter was received by Miss Emma Hansen from her brother at Camp Dodge:
Camp Dodge, Iowa, July 30,
Dear Sister and all:
I received your letter today and was glad to hear from you. The pictures sure were fine. I just got to see ten and that was all; as quick as they hit the sun they were gone. You don't need to send me any pictures for I guess I won't get out of here for two months. Then maybe I can come home before I go. Some say I can look for a call any day but I don't think so.
I have not got my uniform yet, but we will get them this week. I sure have got my suit ruined now. You asked me if I had got to see Henry C. No I haven't, because we can't get out. The sickness is holding down alright yet. But there is quite a few dying and getting killed. There was one shot in our company the other night. He tried to get away and got a bullet in the back.
It was quite a sight the day we got the shot in the arm and back. There were so many that fainted. We were lined up for dinner and they began to drop all around so they dismissed us. I stood it fine, and both of mine took effect so I only have one more to take. That will be the worst one. You asked about that comfort kit. I did not get one. But there isn't anything I need unless you want to send me a sweater if you can get one that don't button down the front. It has been pretty cold the last two mornings.
How do your papers state about the war, all we can hear is that the Yanks are capturing and killing the Huns by the thousands.
We had it pretty easy last week but say they are giving it to us this week. I wished you could see the trained "Soldiers", it sure is pretty to see them march. You know how it sounded that day in Plattsmouth. Our company can beat that now. There are 330 in our company. When we hit the pavement it sounds nice too. You should see the exercise we got to go through, some you never would think of. It sure loosens every muscle in you. It made my breast feel better. We have a nice bunch of officers. If you are half white with them. If you don't do as they say it won't be easy sailing. The officer was telling us the rules the other day and how to do. He said "If you meet an officer and did not salute him just nod your head and say Hello and if you didn't it would be Hello with the O cut off. The rejected ones went home today so if I would of been one I would be home tomorrow. But I guess it will be Berlin or East. I don't care now. I am in and going to stay to the finish. That is one thing sure I never think of us getting killed. I may get to go up to Des Moines Saturday P. M., lots of nice girls up there, they say, and a nice park. I know the park is nice. We came past it when we come out to the camps. You can send a cake some time if it isn't too much bother. I sent Ina, Louise and Tillie all a letter so I can get news all around the country and cards to Art and Elmer Keyver, also Violet. You tell Violet and Ina to be sure and write me some long letters. I guess I had better quit and go get a bath. Tell all the kids and folks hello and don't be long about writing.
Your brother,
ALFRED HANSEN.
Co. 27, 10th Bat. 163 Depot Brigade, Camp Dodge.

AGRICULTURAL EXHIBITS AT STATE FAIR WILL BE BEST EVER SHOWN.
A campaign in the interests of a larger and better exhibit of farm products at the Nebraska State Fair is being conducted throughout the state, says a bulletin of the Nebraska State Board of Agriculture, and it is believed that the result will be the finest agricultural exhibit ever shown at any Fair.
The farm products exhibit at the Nebraska State Fair has had few equals among other state fairs and is one of Nebraska's strongest exhibits. The campaign for an even bigger exhibit is being conducted as a means of stimulating food production. A fine exhibit will be the means of interesting more people in food production as well as affording farmers a valuable object lesson in the study of varieties of products. No less essential is the enthusiasm that is aroused through seeing the prize winning products that stand as the standard of perfection.
"REED SURPRISES CONVENTION"
The change of front on suffrage and prohibition was caused by Willis E. Reed, when he surprised the convention by making a clean-out demand for a suffrage and prohibition plank in the platform.
"I am for woman suffrage," he said. "Women are entitled to vote, not only as their right, but because of the splendid self-sacrifices they have made in the war."
"The applause from the convention prevented Reed from continuing for a time."
"Ratification of the national prohibition amendment ought to be the first thing the next state legislature does," said Reed.

"Delegates rose to their feet cheering and waving their hat. Almost at the same time National Committeeman Mullen, James C. Dahlman and other leaders told I. J. Dunn, A. A. Lamoreaux and other men that they had urged the resolutions committee to include suffrage and prohibition in the platform.
"Licked, and Knew It."
"They saw the handwriting on the wall," said Lamoreaux. "When the convention cheered both measures as it did, the last ounce of fight went out of opponents of suffrage and prohibition." They were licked, and knew it" said I. J. Dunn.

From Omaha Daily News, July 31.
The foregoing is taken from the report of the Omaha Daily News, of July 31st, respecting the action of the democratic state convention, and is of special interest to the public, in view of the fact that Willis E. Reed is a democratic candidate for United States senator.

Candidate for Republican Nomination

For United States Senator Charles H. Sloan

Was four times elected Congressman in Fourth District with increased majority each succeeding election. In 1916 ran nearly ten thousand ahead of his ticket.
Only Republican Congressman from Nebraska in its fifty-one years of history, who attained membership on Ways and Means Committee, the most important Committee of the House of Representatives, and the one having jurisdiction to prepare and present tariff, revenue and bond bills.
Is a graduate of an Agriculture College, resides on and conducts a large farm. Has made a thorough study of the agricultural interests of Nebraska and the Northwest. Is recognized on the floor of the House as an authority on agricultural subjects.
Has conducted a persistent fight against the discrimination in democratic tariff and other legislation in favor of southern agricultural products, and against those of the north. Has opposed price fixing and market control legislation for northern products while in no wise interfering with those of the south.
Framed and forced through Congress measure for the control and the eradication of hog cholera. Under the working of this legislation the department of agriculture estimates hog production increased twenty per cent and a decrease of loss of nearly fifty per cent. This was pronounced by an eminent authority as one of the best measures of food preparedness Congress enacted prior to the War.
Presented a bill and furnished argument before Committee and the House for a similar measure for the eradication of tuberculosis in live stock which passed the recent Congress.
Has always advocated and voted for a large Navy and an adequate Army. Has supported every completed War measure for the successful prosecution of the War.
Is active in both Committee and the House and is recognized as one of the ablest debaters in Congress.
