CLOTHCRAFT CLOTHES Class - Some folks used to think the government had no business interfering with rates of fare. But now—as a war-winning measure—we raise no protest, when the government regulates bread prices, transportation—and even style. -The National Defense Board asked clothiers to buy only "simplified" styles, so that the supply of wool might be conserved. We are showing these simplified styles, but you needn't think they are common place just because the patch pockets, belts and other useless decorations have been cut out. -They're the classiest looking garments we have seen in many a day. When you see what the Clothcraft Shops have evolved—looks and fit and wear all there—at $17.50 to $30, you'll begin to believe all the more in Clothcraft Scientific Tailoring. -A guarantee with each Clothcraft suit.

BIG AND LITTLE CALLED TO WAR ONCOMING DRAFT LAW CATCHES HIGH AND LOWLY. CONGRESSMEN NOT TO ESCAPE Members of Legislatures Also in List by Terms of House Amendment—Provision of 18 to 45 Years Still to Stand. Washington, Aug. 23.—Champions of the house military committee's plan to direct the war department to defer calling of youths of eighteen and nineteen years until older men have joined the colors under the man-power bill extending draft age limits to eighteen and forty-five years, lost their initial fight in the house late today and the way was paved for the passage of the bill by the house tomorrow. In the senate disposal of minor amendments caused leaders to hope that the measure could be passed there also before the week-end adjournment tomorrow. At the close of a day of vigorous debate the house rejected 167 to 129, the amendment of Representative McKenzie of Illinois, written into the bill by the military committee, directing separate classification and delayed call of youths from eighteen to twenty. Amendments by Representatives Johnson of Washington and Blackman of Alabama to fix the draft age minimum at nineteen and twenty-one years, respectively, also were defeated. Dramatic Touches in Debate. Dramatic touches were given the debate in the house of Representatives: Tilson of Connecticut, who, amid cheers, called upon four marines in the galleries to stand in evidence that youths of eighteen make excellent soldiers. This was after Representative Johnson of Washington had presented a small eighteen-year-old page in a soldier's coat and trench helmet to support his claim that eighteen-year-olds are mere children. Representative Olney of Massachusetts aroused the patriotism of the house members during the debate by declaring that it was the American marines who at Chateau Thierry stopped the German rush in July and saved Paris. Plans for a final vote on the measure in the house tonight were lost in the midst of a wrangle over an amendment prohibiting deferred classification of government employees because of their employment. Before a vote could be taken a motion to adjourn was carried and the amendment with several others of a minor nature went over until tomorrow. Mrs. Burns' Letter. Here is a letter that is certain to prove of interest to people in this vicinity, as cases of this sort occur in almost every neighborhood, and people should know what to do in like circumstances: Savannah, Mo., Oct. 12, 1916. "I used a bottle of Chamberlain's Colic and Diarrhoea Remedy about nine years ago and it cured me of flux (dysentery). I had another attack of the same complaint some three or four years ago and a few doses of this remedy cured me. I have recommended Chamberlain's Colic and Diarrhoea Remedy to dozens of people since I first used it." Patriotic crepe paper decorations at the Journal office. SOMETHING SUGGESTIVE IN THE PRIMARIES From Friday's Daily. Since the primary election there has been a large number of people of foreign birth who have rushed out their first papers. The suggestion which is made by the appearance of the title of the constitutional amendment to be voted upon, that there is a necessity for one being a real citizen before they be allowed the elective franchise, has stimulated some to take steps to insure relationship. Let us hope that it may go farther than just the securing of the papers, may they be Americans in spirit and in truth for that is the only class which is desired. WILL BE MILLINER OR SCHOOL TEACHER From Friday's Daily. A few days since the stork made his appearance at the home of Wm. Keif and family, bringing with him one of the finest little girls imaginable and who has been installed in the home of this good couple, and seems perfectly at home. Both the parents are happy over the arrival, but there was a desire, that the contribution from the storkship, would have been an American who could have entered into partnership with the father in the cement business, and alas, the vision of the dream was transferred to another share of labor, and she will probably be a school m'arm, or a milliner instead. A LETTER FROM FRANCE. From Thursday's Daily. Somewhere in France, Aug. 4. Dear Folks: How is everybody getting along at home by this time? I hope you are all well and enjoying yourself as usual. I am as well and as hearty as ever and if it wasn't for the heat I wouldn't complain a bit, although it is very hot during the day time it gets nice and cool at night and one has no trouble in getting good sleep. I received two bunches of papers yesterday, the dates ranging from May 28 to June 8th. I was sure glad to get them as there was quite a bit of interesting news in them from about there. I haven't received a letter from home now for some time and am quite anxious to hear from you folks. Anton Rys and Julius Koubeck are both well and as happy as usual, and as anxious to hear from their folks as I am from you. I guess it has been some time too since either of them heard from their folks. Well as news is short, will close for this time, hoping to hear from you all soon, I am as ever, Lovingly, Your son and brother, PVT. HARRY W. WINSCOT, Det. 35th Engineers, A. E. F. A. P. P. 752, France. ENTER GOVERNMENT SERVICE. From Thursday's Daily. This morning R. C. Meyers of Louisville was in the city, driving down to bring with him, Claude Ryan, and Wm. LESTER VROMAN WRITES HOME. From Thursday's Daily. Lester Vroman writes very interestingly from Camp Taylor, Ky., to his friends here and tells of his experience in helping get lumber out of the way of a fire, and getting his clothing afire, when the hose was turned on him to extinguish the flames, he was knocked down by the force of the water. He says that he likes the place very well and will soon take an examination for over seas duty. PLATTSBROUGH HOME GUARDS. From Friday's Daily. Last evening the Plattsburgh Home Guards put a good hard season of drilling, and which is perfecting them in their drilling, and making of the company, which was originally not the concrete unit it now is a well drilled military com-

Sweat as Hard as You Like! You can't wilt this collar. It's cotton; it's stiff; but not starched. Doesn't have to go to the laundry. No ironing. It's a— Challenge Cleanable Collar Just a little water, a rag and soap will clean it. Two minutes' time. When on your neck, no one can tell it from an ordinary cotton collar. Here's the difference: The cotton collar you wear is stiffened with starch. Ours is stiffened by a process that makes it impervious to water. Yet it's pliable and comfortable. Costs about $15.00 a year for cotton collars and their laundering. $2.00 worth of our cotton collars will last a year. Saving—$13.00. Isn't it worth considering? C. E. Wescott's Sons

My back often pained me severely. Headaches and dizziness were common and my sight became affected so badly I couldn't read. I was also troubled by my kidneys acting irregularly. I got Doan's Kidney Pills from Edward Rynott & Co.'s Drug Store and they benefited me greatly in a short time." (Statement given April 10, 1912.)
