> He was laid to rest in Mt. Pleasent cemetery by his many friends amid a bower of roses, thus mingling the flower of young manhood with nature's blossoms.

> While I had known Lawson all is life, it was only in the last year hat we became intimately acquaintd. I learned to admire his youthful optimism, his generous spirit. his loyalty to his friends, and his versatility of mind. He was one of ny very few boy friends with whom could visit and enjoy it ('tho thirty-five years his senior.) He brought to me that youthful effervescent spirit with which we need to commune in order to keep our hearts young and our eyes clear. I shall miss him very very much.

Last Saturday the county had subscribed $1,030,000.00 in the Fourth Liberty Loan bonds, the county will soon be over the top. Over the top will hardly suffice, for much more is needed at this time.

On arriving at the shops, the workmen gathered around, and list ened to many elegant addresses made by the speakers who came with the train, and during the time the special was at the shops, sub Del L. Pickett of Kimball was scribed for to exceed ten thousand dollars in additional to what they had made previous pledges for. This will make in the neighborhood, counting the ladies and men in all seven cars of potatoes for market a subscription of nearly sixty thousand dollars.
