Alex Rhoden arrived home from Kirksville, Mo., one day last week, and is feeling as well as could be expected at this time.

W. H. Puls and family were in Plattsmouth Monday afternoon, to meet Mrs. Puls who was returning home from Omaha.

W. H. Puls and family, Alf Gansemer and family and Fritz Lutz and family spent the day last Sunday at the farm home of Mr. and Mrs. Philip Hild.

Mr. and Mrs. Alf Gansemer were in Omaha Monday and while there bought their first shipment of goods for the opening of the new general store. These goods will be conveyed to Murray over the truck route. Mr. Gansemer expects to lay in a complete new line by the opening date for the new store arrangement in Murray.

The Red Cross societies of this community served dinner at the Presbyterian church on election day. We can vouch for the excellent quality of dinner served for we took dinner with the ladies, and we have no hesitancy in stating that it was one of the finest dinners that we have enjoyed for some time, and they were deserving of all the patronage they received, and more to.

Lard for sale—Oldham Stock Farm.

Miss Clara Young was home over Sunday, for the first time in the past three weeks.

Earl Terryberry has been quite sick for the past few days with a throat trouble.

Mrs. Will Countryman who has been quite sick for some time, is improving at this time.

Minford & Creamer shipped a car load of stock to the South Omaha market Tuesday evening.

School has begun again in Murray, but the next meeting of Lyceum course will be postponed on account of the flu.

The Missionary Society will be entertained at the Oldham home by Mrs. Long and the Oldhams at their next meeting.

Mrs. L. H. Puls and children were visiting with Mrs. Puls' parents Mr. and Mrs. Hild, in Plattsmouth Saturday evening and Sunday.

The Alamo farm lighting plant was installed in the new farm home of Mr. and Mrs. P. Hild this week. The plant was put in by the Puls Murray agency.

Chas. Chriswiser and family, from near Nehawka, were in Murray Tuesday of this week enroute home from Plattsmouth, where Mr. Chriswiser is receiving medical treatment.

Mr. and Mrs. D. A. Young arrived home from their extended visit up in North Dakota last week. They report a very pleasant trip and a most enjoyable visit among relatives and friends.

Gus and Ben Mohr, from down near Avoca, sold their Perkins county land the past week, through the Frank Valley agency, of Murray. They are buying more land in that part of the country.

The Lewiston list is still growing since last week. John Hobscheidt donates one lamb, Otto Welmuller one duck, Mrs. Nick Friedrich one pair of pure bred Rhode Island Red chickens, Mrs. Kennedy a pair of pair of pure bred White Leghorns, Mrs. Harry Creamer two pure bred R. I. cockrels, Mr. T. J. Tibson one half dozen hand made sweeping brooms, Geo. Shrader one pair of pure bred Indian Runner ducks. Who will be the next with a cow, horse, automobile or a Ford?

W. G. Boedeker is in receipt of a letter from Capt. Gilmore, somewhere in France, in which he states that the army life is sure a busy one, in fact that work is the middle name for all the physicians and surgeons right now. He says that he is enjoying the life, and the busy part of it is what he likes. The trip over the big pond was one full of excitement and adventure, and as the doctor describes it "just like driving a fiver, expecting to receive a puncture at most any moment, but "nary a one came". He was troubled with the usual sea-sickness at all, and of course this made the trip one of real pleasure.

There was another change made in the future for the Murray Hardware and Implement Co. and the general merchandise firm of Puls & Gansemer the past week. In this change in the management of the two firms, Mr. Ted Barrows, who has been a member of the hardware business since he was a boy, has retired altogether, and the hardware business will be conducted in the future by Mr. L. H. Puls alone, and Mr. Gansemer, who has been associated with Mr. Puls in the general merchandise store for the past few years, assumes full charge and ownership of the general merchandise line, and both lines will be carried in the large store building, the same being separated into two storerooms with the hardware in the west side and the general merchandise in the east side. Mr. Puls has purchased the interest of Mr. Gansemer in the building.

CARD OF THANKS

We wish to express our sincere thanks for the sympathy and kindness shown us by our neighbors and friends during the illness and death of our mother, Mrs. Sarah Smith, and especially do we thank those who contributed flowers, the choir, and those who prepared the church. The Family.

PUBLIC SALE

There will be a public sale held at the Will Homan farm home west of Murray, on the Anderson Davis place, at Maple Grove, on Saturday afternoon, Nov. 9th, at which time Mr. Homan will offer for sale his household goods, some chickens and a number of cords of wood. Bear in mind that the sale will start at one o'clock in the afternoon.

R. R. Nickels was a Plattsmouth visitor Monday afternoon.

Mrs. George Park was a Plattsmouth visitor last Saturday.

George Park and wife are listed among the sick this week.

Miss Etta M. Nickels was calling on Union merchants last Saturday.

L. Puls was looking after some business matters in Omaha Monday.

A. D. Crunk and wife were transacting business in Plattsmouth on Monday.

John Hobscheidt trucked a load of sheep to the South Omaha market Monday.

John Hendricks and family were Plattsmouth visitors last Saturday afternoon.

Walter Sans had a car load of sheep on the South Omaha market Wednesday of this week.

Miss Etta Nickels was in Plattsmouth Monday afternoon, concerning the Red Cross dinner at Lewiston.

Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Cross and wife are rejoicing this week over the arrival of a new baby girl at their home, on Nov. 1.

The family of Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Troop, who have been down with the flu for the past few days are all able to be up and around again and are doing nicely.

Mr. and Mrs. Fred Hild have been suffering for the past week with an attack of the flu, but are getting along very nicely at this time, and will soon be able to be up and around.

Dr. Jake Brendel, who has been down with the flu for the past ten days, is again able to be up and around to look after his practice, which has been keeping him busy for the past few days.

Judge Claiborne and wife, of Omaha, were in Murray last Sunday, and were guests at the home of Mr. and Mrs. E. S. Tutt. They were accompanied by their niece, Miss Catherine Claiborne, of Washington.

We regret that we failed to mention the arrival of a new baby boy at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Ben Speck, on October 17. We know that Ben is just as happy as though we had not overlooked the little man's arrival.

There is still quite a number of flu cases in this community, but all are getting along very nicely at this time, and are recovering very rapidly. The most serious cases are at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Tom Ruby and family, where they have two trained nurses looking after all members of the family, who are suffering with the disease.

THE GAS MASK DRIVE

Apologies to Kipling. By Robert Honsum

"What makes you save your olive stones?" the Thoughtless Waster cried.

"The Government has asked for them," the Patriot replied.

"I don't see what it wants of them," the Thoughtless Waster cried.

"It wants the carbon that they make," the Patriot replied.

"So we're gathering up the cherry pits, the peach stones and the shell of walnuts and Brazil nuts and of hickory nuts as well,

And the youngsters hunt for butter-nuts in every dale and dell, To furnish the materials for carbon.

"What do they want the carbon for?" the Thoughtless Waster cried.

"To manufacture gas-masks," the Patriot replied.

"And a carbon respirator in a gas-mask over there

Will save our boys from gas attacks. Come on and do your share!

"We dare not waste one single stone—let's give them all they ask!

It takes two hundred peach pits to equip a single mask.

And they've given you and me and everybody else the task Of furnishing materials for carbon

Mrs. Carl Dalton and Miss Mattie Larson were passengers to Omaha this afternoon, where they are visiting at the schools of that place for the afternoon.

CHRISTMAS PARCEL FOR EACH FIGHTER

GOVERNMENT HOPES THAT EVERY SOLDIER AND SAILOR WILL RECEIVE ONE BOX.

NO MORE WILL BE CARRIED

No Opposition Shown to Continuing the Calder Daylight-Saving Law—Senate Now Complains of the House as Extravagant.

By ARTHUR W. DUNN

Washington. — The government through its authorized representatives has expressed the hope that every soldier and sailor will receive a Christmas parcel. For that reason preliminary steps have been taken to secure for each of the soldiers and sailors something from home at Christmas. In order that everybody may be served, the precaution has been taken that only one parcel of a standard size and weight shall be sent. For the army the size is 3 by 4 by 9 inches, not to exceed three pounds in weight, while sailors may be sent boxes weighing 2½ pounds or less. Only one package of that character can be received by each soldier and sailor, and so it is important that the friends of each see to it that no attempt is made at duplication, but rather that men who might not get anything shall be cared for.

We are all very proud of our soldiers and sailors who are fighting across the water and it is expected that their relatives in this country will take care of them in the matter of a Christmas box. It is to be feared that some of these fighting men will be neglected, but in all probability there will be many duplicate packages sent and it may be that the authorities will take it upon themselves to see that neglected men are supplied out of the surplus. There is not the least doubt in the world that these Christmas boxes will be highly appreciated by our soldiers and sailors.

Additional information concerning the shipment of such packages can be obtained at any post office in the country.

Turning the clock ahead seems to have worked very satisfactorily, for there is not the slightest opposition to making the Calder law a permanent fixture, or at least until after the close of the war. The Calder law as it stands now provides that during the summer months, or until October 27, the clock should be set ahead one hour. Now come the men who are dealing with war industries, and particularly the conservation of everything that will help win the war, and say that the law should be continued in order to save daylight in the winter as well as in the summer. Senator Calder has not been long in the senate, but he seems to have gained quite a wide reputation by introducing the bill and pushing it through, which has made this vital change in the affairs of the country.

The time was when the senate was called the extravagant body, and there were bitter complaints in the house of representatives over the manner in which appropriations were increased. That policy seems to have been reversed, particularly upon anything like an agricultural appropriation bill. Senator Kenyon of Iowa was one of the conferees upon the emergency appropriation bill, but he would not sign the conference report because the house would not agree to have a number of items left out of the bill. On this subject Senator Kenyon said: "The first provision, where the item of $105,000 for production of beef cattle was stricken out, has come back in the bill and where these few economies crept in the senate and some of us had hoped that we might hold them in conference, practically all are eliminated, and the appropriations come back, cottage cheese and all, which item was restored after many tears shed by the conferees over the cottage cheese situation. It simply illustrates that it is impossible to cut down appropriations."

Naturally considerable indignation was aroused on the part of Minnesota and North Dakota men when Congressman Stafford of Wisconsin asserted that the Red River of the North was not a navigable stream. They were insulted, for the navigation of that stream, which runs north and finally through various channels reaches the Arctic sea, is bound up in the history of the Northwest and its development. For many years steamboat navigation on the Red River of the North was the only rival of the famous Red river carts in the way of transportation facilities between the headwaters of the Mississippi and Hudson bay. It is not surprising that Stafford should occasionally make mistakes, for he is so frequently in evidence during the proceedings in the house.

The several flare-ups in regard to the condition of our airplanes subsided as do all such things, while those in charge have corrected the mistakes of the past and are doing great work in making the air service a success along with other war achievements. The prediction is now made that America will soon be first in aviation. If that happens nobody will care very much what the Hughes report will bring forth or what the senate reported some six weeks ago.

"4-MINUTE MEN-4"

UNITED WAR WORK CAMPAIGN.

Cooperation is the Keynote. The seven different organizations now united in this one campaign, all of which are under the direction of the Fosdick commissions, have been working together in harmony and complete cooperation since their organization and approval by the War and Navy Departments.

In those camps or cantonments where the Young Men's Christian Association huts were the first to be erected, these huts have been opened for the other organizations to use as necessity arose. In many of the Y. M. C. A. huts masses were held by Catholic priests from the churches of neighboring cities or by the chaplains connected with various regiments as soon as the buildings were opened and ready for use. In the same way these same huts have been used by the Jewish Welfare workers and services have been conducted by the rabbis of the neighboring cities on Fridays, or at any time when request has been made.

Similarly the American Library Association has made use of the buildings of both the Young Men's Christian Association and the Knights of Columbus, placing there the books which had been donated to the Library Association for circulation among the enlisted men. This plan enabled the Library Association to get its work well under way before the library buildings were constructed. After the construction of the library buildings the Knights of Columbus, Jewish Welfare and Young Men's Christian Association buildings have all been used as branch libraries to increase the facilities afforded to the men for good reading. Where hostess houses have not been in operation the buildings opened by other organizations have set aside a room for the use of women relatives and visitors to the soldiers to use until such hostess house could be opened by the Young Women's Christian Association.

These instances are only a few of the many illustrations which could be given of the complete cooperation and sympathetic work of all the organizations one with the other.

Mrs. W. B. Egenberger departed this afternoon for Lexington, where she is visiting at the home of her parents A. H. Rinker and family for a few days. Superintendent of the city schools G. E. DeWolf, who was a visitor in Omaha for the past few days returned home this afternoon. Mesdames C. S. Forbes and daughter Fred Wynn, were passengers to Omaha this afternoon, where they are spending the day with friends. W. A. Barelay and wife departed this morning for St. Joseph, where they will visit for some time at the home of their son Earl Barelay before Mr. Barelay takes up his work as Chief of Police.

Mrs. Sam G. Smith departed this afternoon for Omaha, where she is visiting at the south side with her relatives and friends.
