GERMANY SIGNS THE ARMISTICE

Washington, Nov. 11.—Armistice terms have been signed by Germany, the State department announced at 2:45 o'clock this morning.

The department's announcement simply said: "The armistice has been signed."

The world war will end this morning at 6 o'clock Washington time, 11 o'clock Paris time. The Armistice was signed by German representatives at midnight. This announcement was made by the State department at 2:50 o'clock this morning.

OFFICIAL ANNOUNCEMENT FROM PARIS.

The announcement was made verbally by an official of the State department in this form: "The armistice has been signed. It was signed at 5 o'clock a. m., Paris time, and hostilities will cease at 11 o'clock this morning, Paris time."

TERMS OF ARMISTICE.

The terms of the armistice, it was announced, will not be made public until later. Military men here, however, regard it as certain that they include:

Immediate retirement of the German military forces from France, Belgium and Alsace-Lorraine.

Disarming and demobilization of the German armies.

Occupation by the allied and American forces of such strategic points in Germany as will make it impossible to renew hostilities.

TAKE OVER HIGH SEAS FLEET.

Delivery of part of the German high seas fleet and a certain number of submarines to the allied and American naval forces.

Disarmament of all other German warships under supervision of the allied and American navies which will guard them.

Occupation of the principal German naval bases by sea forces of the victorious nations.

Release of allied and American soldiers, sailors and civilians held prisoners in Germany without such reciprocal action by the associated governments.

Washington, D. C., Nov. 11.—The world war ended this morning at 6 o'clock, Washington time, 11 o'clock Paris time. The armistice was signed by the German representatives at midnight. This announcement was made by the state department at 2:50 o'clock this morning.

Germany has accepted the terms of armistice offered by the allied nations and delivered through the hands of Marshal Foch to envoys who came from German grand headquarters begging peace.

While details of the terms imposed by the victorious allies have not yet been officially announced, it is generally understood that they are so stringent that acceptance of their condition leaves Germany physically incapable of resuming the war, which is therefore considered ended.

The seventy-two hours of grace in which Germany had to frame her reply to the allies had nearly expired when the answer came. The courier sent from Marshal Foch's headquarters in France to German grand headquarters in Spa, Belgium, encountered great difficulties of travel, and was reported only Sunday morning to have reached Spa.

Meanwhile, Marshal Foch having denied the plea of the German emissaries for a temporary cessation of fighting, the allied armies had plunged forward steadily. France is now entirely clear of German soldiers, while allied fighters are marching onward in Belgium.

Revolution continues to spread throughout the German empire, with the ranks of the insurgents being hourly augmented. Kaiser Wilhelm and the crown prince are reported to have signed decrees of abdication and renunciation of the throne at Spa, while their messenger was on the way to them with the armistice terms, and the kaiser is reported to have fled into Holland.

HAD TOE OPERATED UPON.

For some time Mrs. Wm. Koop, of Louisville has been having some trouble with an ingrowing toe nail, which some six or seven months since, she had removed, but they would never properly heal. For some time past the member has been giving some trouble. For some time past she has been at the home of her brother Wm. Krecklow, where she has been having the toe treated and this morning a portion of the nail which was growing on again was removed, and the proud flesh removed. Since she has been resting as well, as could be expected.

JOSEPH WEYBRIGHT DIES AT BURWELL

YOUNG MAN A NEPHEW OF MRS. M. MAUZY OF THIS CITY. BURIED AT LINCOLN.

From Thursday's Daily. Tuesday at his home at Burwell, Joseph Weybright, a nephew of Mrs. M. Mauzy and cousin of J. H. Short, and a nephew of Morgan Weybright, formerly of this city, but now of Los Angeles, passed away of pneumonia, following an attack of Spanish Influenza.

The young man, who was in his early twenties, was engaged in the automobile business at Burwell, but his home had formerly been at Lincoln. He had been married but a short time since, he and bride making Burwell their home, at the time of his death. The remains were brought to Lincoln for interment, the funeral being held there this afternoon. James H. Short departed this morning for Lincoln to attend the funeral and burial.

WILL INSTALL SIGNAL SYSTEM.

From Thursday's Daily. Last evening Superintendent Flynn of the Burlington and Engineer Frank S. Darrow of the Burlington from the Lincoln office were in the city, coming on an inspection tour, and remained over night. They were looking over the new boarding camp which has recently been installed here, and Engineer Darrow was also a visit at Pacific Junction, Iowa. Speaking of the improvements which are necessary for points on the road, Mr. Darrow said that it is the intention of the Burlington to install a system of automatic signals through here the coming year, and are planning for other improvements for the road in this place.

Mrs. G. Johnson was a visitor in Omaha this morning where she is having some dental work done.

WILLIAM HALL PINNED UNDER TANK

EXTREMELY TRYING EXPERIENCE OF YOUNG MAN LAST NIGHT IN DRIVING RAIN.

THE OIL WAGON OVERTURNED AT BRIDGE

One Mule Also Caught, and Nearly Drowned While Rain Descends in Torrents.

From Thursday's Daily. Yesterday morning William Hall, driving the oil wagon, left here with a load of gasoline, and served a number of customers in the country, and was returning last night just after dark, the last party being Mr. Walforth west of Mynard, and after passing Mynard, on his way home, when arriving at the parsonage where Mr. Pontias lives turned north, because of the roads being better that way. He made the way all right until he had passed the home of Henry Eikenberry, having four mules which were hitched abreast.

When arriving at the foot of the hill where one drives into the lane leading to the home of Elbert Wiles, he passed under the row of Maple trees, overhanging the road, which added to the darkness. Not being able to see the road, he trusted to the instinct of the mules which he was driving, and two of the mules passed to the south end of culvert, overturning the tank wagon, throwing Mr. Hall to the ground, and as he was catapulted from the seat he spoke to the team saying whoa, the team stopped instantly, with the result that one of the mules was knocked down by the overturning of the wagon, while it like Mr. Hall was caught and pinioned under the corner of the tank. In this position and unable to help himself, Mr. Hall had to stand as he was able to get on his feet one only being caught, with a double tree under it, and another one over it, and the tank on top of all.

After a wait which seemed like the passing of the ages, all the time calling for help, a car came along, which he was able to stop. The car was that of James Long of Murray, and had his family, and John West therein. They after having investigated went to the home of C. H. Fuller, and secured a lantern and help, and returned getting also some help from other neighbors, they succeeded in getting the young man liberated. The situation was far from pleasant as the young man stood there with the rain descending in torrents, and all the time the water getting deeper where he was fastened at the end of the bridge in the gutter, and with the surging current coming above his knees, and the mule which was fastened, near the point of drowning. This looked pretty black, when the first car came along, driven by Mr. Long. After having been liberated he was brought to town and had his foot dressed and bandaged at the doctor's office, it being so swollen, that it could not be ascertained whether there were any fractured bones or not. Mr. Hall is resting in bed this morning and says he feels pretty well with the exception of the pains which are in the crushed foot.

John S. Hall, the father of the young man, had just arrived from Omaha, when he heard of the accident, and hastening to the country accompanied by G. W. Olson and C. N. Hansen, they endeavored to find him, were given wrong directions, and were not able to find him, but after having traversed the country to considerable extent, returned and found the young man in the office of the physician, having the foot dressed.

Ray Patton who has been employed in Omaha, was a visitor in this city for last evening and today.

CHAS. C. WESCOTT DEPARTS TODAY

GOES FROM HERE TO NEW YORK WHERE HE WILL STOP A WEEK BEFORE SAILING.

From Friday's Daily. All the preliminary arrangements having been completed and all appointments made, for the departure of Charles C. Wescott for overseas work, he departs from here this evening on the late Burlington train for New York, and will there remain for a week, receiving special training, and then sail for the work in France going direct to Paris. While in New York, he will have his address at 347 Madison Avenue, New York, and after having arrived over seas, will be at American Y. M. C. A. 12 Rue d'Aguesseau Paris.

With his departure it will be the first one to go overseas for this work from Plattsmouth or Cass County, although Mr. Charles Richardson the principal of the schools last year, was engaged in the same work in this country.

Helping the Farmer Re-Stock the Barnyard

IF YOU DESIRE TO PURCHASE stock this fall we have plenty of money on hand to help you. Farmers who have been well supplied with stock this past year can tell you of the splendid profits they have made.

This bank is ready to make loans to the farmers who are interested in increasing the livestock production of the world. There is probably no greater patriotic duty for the farmer today than to raise more stock.

Call and talk it over with one of our officers any time that it is convenient.
