TO THOSE WHO MOURN FOR LIFE LOST IN WAR

A Message from Dinsmore Ely, a Chicago Youth Who Paid in Full for His Devotion.

From Wednesday's Daily. Charles C. Parmele has a friend in Chicago, who was present at the wedding something like thirty years ago, and who has since become the mother of a brilliant young American boy who died in France last spring, being about the same age as Pollock Parmele, whom he had visited a number of times.

In young Ely's last letter home he sent to his mother the following tender message:

"And I want to say, in closing, if anything should happen to me let's have no mourning, in spirit or in dress. Like a Liberty Bond, it is an investment, not a loss, when a man dies for his country. It is an honor to his family and is that the time for weakening?"

"I would rather leave my family rich in pleasant memories of my life than numbed in the sorrow of my death."

WHOLE FAMILY DOWN WITH IT

From Wednesday's Daily. Ovan J. Taylor, wife and six children are all down at their home in the west portion of the city with the Spanish influenza and just now are not able to secure anyone to care for them. They have a half promise of one after tomorrow providing the people where she is now nursing are improved sufficiently to permit of her leaving them. Just now the Taylor family are getting along as best they can, with all the children and parents sick. Such a condition makes it very difficult to get anything accomplished about the house.

Protect the Children.

GEN. HAIG PAYS GLOWING TRIBUTE

BRITISH GENERAL GIVES GLOWING EVIDENCE OF FIGHTING OF AMERICANS

P. PARMELE AMONG FIGHTERS

Battle Described in Today's Telegraphic News Participated in by Plattsmouth Boy.

From Wednesday's Daily.

The foreign news of today contains an address made by Field Marshal Haig, in which he calls attention to the valor, the spirit, the fighting qualities of the Americans who were with him on the western front. The account will be found in all the papers of today and is well worth reading. Look it up and see what it has to say regarding the way the boys fought.

As evidence we quote from the telegraphic news the following extract: "The thirtieth division is now embarking for home, containing 488 officers and 12,099 men. The full strength of this division was 27,000 men, which shows the losses to have been more than fifty per cent in the time in which they were engaged."

In this division was one Plattsmouth boy, Pollock Parmele, and on the 29th day of September he with others of the division went over the top. Pollock had written weeks ago about this battle in which the men did such vallant fighting, the letter being received by his father, Mr. C. C. Parmele some time ago. Field Marshal Haig now corroborates his explanation of the tenesness of the battle and the courage displayed by the men at a time when such heavy losses were being sustained.

Plattsmouth boys have done their full portion in this fighting for the Liberty of the world, their losses attesting their valor and determination to succeed and their courage in the face of most trying circumstances, and when they return there should be nothing too good we could possibly do for them.

RETURNS FROM HOSPITAL

From Wednesday's Daily

While A. D. Manier and son, Walter, were passing through this city enroute to Omaha to bring home another son, Chester Mannier, who had been in the hospital there receiving treatment, the youth was on his way home via rail and they passed each other between here and Omaha. Chester remained here until the return of his brother and father in their car when he went home to Murray with them. He will return for a second operation in a short time, when it is hoped he will be entirely cured.

Full of Cold; Had the Grip.

Many will be pleased to read how Lewis Newman, 506 Northrand St., Charleston, W. Va., was restored to health. He writes: "I was down sick and nothing would do me any good. I was full of cold. Had the grip until I got two 50c bottles of Foley's Honey and Tar. It is the best remedy for grip and colds I ever used. Sold everywhere."

VICE PRESIDENT WILL SPEAK IN OMAHA

Arrangements Perfected for Address by Assistant Director of the Nation on December 6th

Arrangements are being perfected for a monster meeting of the organization to enforce peace, to be held in Omaha December 6th, at which meeting Vice-President Marshall will be one of the speakers and will make the principal address. In this connection it is desired that all the defense councils send as large a representation to the meeting as possible.

Just at this time it is being discussed in government circles what is to be the destiny of the Councils of Defense, as they would be an excellent medium through which the country might return to an after the war status. For the good services which the Councils have rendered to the country and for the hearty cooperation, the National council desires to extend its thanks and asks that all publicity be given to the removing of the restrictions imposed on the construction of new buildings.
