FORMER PLATTSMOUTH WOMAN DIES AT GRESTON

Mrs. Nora R. Hubbard Died Yesterday at Home in Creston, Iowa. Formerly Lived Here.

From Wednesday's Daily.

The following has been taken from the Creston Plain Dealer, and tells of the sad death of Mrs. Hubbard, who lived in this city for some time. But a short time since they lost a child with influenza, which the mother had for a number of weeks as well, and which was partially responsible for her death:

"At 5:15 o'clock yesterday afternoon occurred the death of Mrs. Nora R. Hubbard, wife of Phil S. Hubbard, at the family home, 309 East Monroe street.

Mrs. Hubbard had been sick for several weeks past, and although every possible thing was done for her it was impossible to save her life. At the hour of her death she was attended by her husband, his sister, and neighbor women also, who did all they could for the care of the deceased.

Circumstances of a particularly sad character attend the passing of this estimable woman, as she leaves five small children, the eldest nine years of age, and the youngest a boy baby born at the death of the mother. The deceased was but twenty-five years of age, and had made Creston her home with her family for a number of years, the husband having been employed here as a newspaper pressman, and also in garages, being now pressman with this paper.

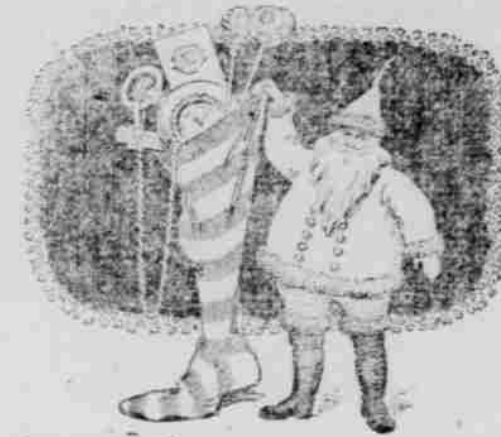

Arrangements are being made to hold the funeral services at McGreggor Bros. & Coen's, at 3:00 o'clock Thursday afternoon. Rev. Elias Handy will conduct the obsequies, and interment will take place at Graceland cemetery.
