Troy Wiles who has been dangerously sick for some time was reported slightly better Wednesday morning.

Alva Marshall returned Sunday night from La Fayette, Ind., having received his discharge from the government service.

George Boyle of Farnam, Nebr., came in Tuesday morning for a visit at the home of his brother, A. S. Boyle, south of town.

Soldier boys are getting to be quite numerous on our streets these days and the question is often asked, "Who is that soldier boy?" Every one seems anxious to know if the boys are safely back home again.

Rodney Davis, while on his way home to Perkins county from New Haven, Conn., where he was discharged from the U. S. service was visiting his uncle, W. A. Davis and old time friends here the first of the week.

Mrs. Johanna Mathiasen and son Otto, of Omaha, came down Saturday evening for a few days visit at the home of her cousin, Mrs. Hans Johnson. The son had just returned from one of the government training camps.

Tony Sudduth who has been visiting his brother, Virgil Sudduth, southeast of town during cornhusking left Monday morning for his home in Missouri. While here Tony cribbed 2,000 bushels of corn and scooped it all. That was pretty good work for a lad of only fifteen years.

Merritt Russell who has been home for the last three weeks caring for his mother and brother, Webb, during a siege of flu, returned to Lincoln Tuesday to take up his work at the State University. Although discharged from the military part he is going to keep up his work.

The Board of Health reports that the number of new cases this week is averaging five or six a day. None of the cases for the week have proved very serious so far. D. J. Hillman and J. J. Johnson who took the disease previous to this week have been the sickest persons reported this week.

Mr. and Mrs. Lon Stoker who had been visiting at the home of Mrs. Stoker's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Murtey, since Mr. Stoker's discharge from the government service, went to Omaha Saturday morning to get located at housekeeping and Mr. Stoker went to work Monday morning in the United States National Bank, where he had secured a position.

Sam Baker returned Tuesday night from Ft. McArthur, Calif. Sam received his discharge among the first men in the camp and took the folks by surprise as it was not known he was coming until he phoned for Mr. E. B. Taylor to meet him in Omaha with a machine. Sam says he has no complaint to make of army life and has gained 24 pounds in weight but was mighty glad to get home.

Mrs. S. V. Gerard received word Monday of this week from Mrs. Hymenus Adams of Portland, Oregon that Guy Adams was to be buried that day the 12th of December. Just lately Mrs. Gerard received a letter announcing the death of Hymenus Adams on Nov. 22. These brothers passed away just 20 days apart. They were well known in this vicinity. They were the sons of Mr. and Mrs. George W. Adams and were born here and grew to manhood here.

A letter from Henry Gerbeling of Ora, Nebr., states that they are getting over the Flu in good shape. Also that wheat looks fine and they have had plenty of rain.

The little girl of Mr. and Mrs. Edgar Golden of Wabash had one of her arms badly injured while playing at school. At first it was thought to be broken.

Mr. and Mrs. Leon Roettger came in on Friday from Peru, Nebr., the school having been closed on account of the Flu epidemic until Jan. 1st, 1919. They are spending their vacation here with home folks and friends.

Word reaches this place that Richard McCraig died at Hempstead, N. Y., of appendicitis. He was in the aerial service. He was a son of John McCraig who lived here for a good many years. The young man is known to many here.

Kirk Cunningham has it all figured how he will cross the egg plant and the pig weed and get eggs and pork at the same time. He has another scheme to cross the milk weed with something else and get cows milk. Some garden. Success Kirk.

Reynolds Deles Dernier who has been in training at the Great Lakes training station returned to Elmwood on Sunday evening. He has been dismissed from service but however may be recalled within four years if needed. He gave his folks and friends a great surprise as they were not expecting him home. He has had a great training and experience. He expects to get his old job back on bridge work for the Mo. Pac. R. R.

Floyd Coon arrived home on last Friday. Floyd has had some experience while gone. He was stationed for some time in Mexico but was transferred to Gettysburg, Pa., where he was placed in the tank service. He has taken a good many auto truck trips over country. The army service seems to have done Floyd a great deal of good, his health is much better and he weighs a good many more pounds than he did when he left here.

LAND WAS LONG UNEXPLORED

Tasmanians for Centuries Unaffected by Influences to Which Other Aborigines Were Subjected.

Probably the best illustration of an island population unaffected by outside influences was afforded by the Tasmanian aborigines. They wandered from the mainland before the sea (Bass straits) cut the Speck off. It may be that the aborigines cut off were not disturbed by an outside influence until the arrival of Tasman, and he did not get on speaking terms with them. The Frenchman, Marion, had an argument with them, and a couple of natives were killed before it concluded. Furneaux and Cook also had some slight intercourse with these blacks. Lahlardiere saw a good deal of them. He reported that in a party of 40 there were eight men and seven women. The rest were children. In another party 48 strong there were 10 men and 14 women, which shows that the families had a good average number of children. When the island was colonized the native population, on the most reliable estimates, ranged from 4,000 to 7,000. There is nothing to show that the tribes fought much against each other until the white man pushed some of them off particular hunting grounds on to preserves of other tribes. Anyway, if they did fight they couldn't have done much damage. The spear, their best weapon, was only a pointed stick. They had no spear-thrower to give it extra force, and two black fellows might throw spears at one another all day without a hit—not that the aim would be bad, but that the target would not be there when the missile arrived.

Wm. Pohlman of Omaha, arrived in the city this morning coming to visit for over Sunday with his father Wm. Pohlman sr.

Miss Jesse Robertson who is staying at Lincoln, arrived home last evening, and will spend the holiday season at the home of her parents J. M. Robertson and wife.

Business called Arthur R. Troop to Omaha this afternoon, he going on the early Burlington train.

H. K. Zavgren who has been at Loup City for some days past, returned here last evening.

Have you seen the beautiful line of Christmas cards at the Journal office this season? They are the finest that we have ever seen and know that they will meet with your approval if you will call and see them.

Mrs. Roy Craig was a visitor in Omaha this afternoon where she is visiting with a sister and will also look after some pre-Christmas shopping.

Geo. O. Dovey (Bundy) who has been sick at his home for several days past with the flu, is again down town and looking after the business at the bank.

Harrison McCord was a visitor this afternoon at Bellevue, where he will spend the week end.

Mrs. F. Burian who has been visiting with Mr. Burian, who is in a hospital arrived home this afternoon.

C. Metzger of Omaha was a visitor in Plattsmouth this morning, and was looking after some business for the day.

Your Christmas!

What your plans may be for Christmas buying you will find OUR plans have been made to meet your requirements.

You will buy early because the government for obvious reasons has requested you to do so. We have been busy for months preparing for this season and offer now what is perhaps the most complete and attractive collection of goods we have ever assembled for Christmas.

You will desire to purchase wisely—to give this year something useful and worth while.

We offer goods that are decidedly useful and economically practical, or which in their intrinsic value preclude waste and extravagance. In all the changes of these strenuous and difficult times, our policy of serving our customers satisfactorily and of offering goods of real merit at logical and fair prices, has remained fixed and constant.
