home. I would certainly like to start home—not that I don't like it over here, but I like it better back in the States. I guess we will be home before so very long however, for it at least looks that way now. They have started sending men home already and I think my turn will come soon—at least I am hoping to get home before the last of January.

I have seen John Miller. He is here in this town. Alpha Cook is located about a mile from here—or rather his company is. I haven't seen him but presume he is there. I am going down there if we stay here long as I'd like to see him. Well what is father doing; still in the shops I suppose? Is Barney around there any place? No use asking what he is doing; loading as usual I suppose. Well he is a lucky boy—lucky is right.

Well, I have been pretty lucky myself. I suppose you will have a big time Christmas. We had a big chicken dinner Thanksgiving. I do not know just where we will be Christmas.

Well, I am hoping that I get home by the middle of January as that is not a bit too soon to suit me.

Will close for now and good bye to all. Answer soon.—Cook Henry Lamphear, 84th M. P. Co.
