JOSEPH SEDLOCK AT HOME.

From Tuesday's Daily. Joseph Sedlock who has been at the Great Lakes as a carpenter, at the U. S. Naval training station, during the past six months, returned home this morning having been mustered out of the service yesterday. He had offered his services to his government in the time when the need was great, and after the cessation of hostilities, and there was no more need for his services, he is returning to his home here to take up the life of a citizen again. He will expect to take up the work of a carpenter at which trade he has been engaged both before and during his stay at the Great Lakes.

MUSTERED OUT OF THE ARMY.

From Tuesday's Daily. Sunday morning Geo. McDaniel arrived home from the Great Lakes training station, where he has been since the 24th of last June, at which time he enlisted in the service, and a naval blacksmith. Mr. McDaniel has liked the service well and was a great deal of the time an instructor in the training station. He has not exactly decided as to what he will do, but has a number of offers of position open to him, as soon as he shall have rested for a short time.

HARRIS COOK ARRIVES HERE.

Comes From Cleveland, Ohio, Where He Was In Hospital For Some Time.

From Tuesday's Daily. Yesterday Harris Cook, son of Dr. and Mrs. E. W. Cook, who are visit- ing here, arrived, coming from Cleveland, Ohio, where he has been in a government hospital for some time past, and where he was under treatment for the influenza, and has just recovered. Harris was during the past few months on a coasting vessel on the lakes completing his training as an officer in the navy when he was taken sick.

He is home now on a ten days furlough, which he will spend here after which he will return to Cleve- land, Ohio, for some more training and later will go to Pelham Bay, N. Y., for the completion of the course. We are sure Harris will make good, as he has the ability, the tact and the disposition to succeed.

LITTLE MARION HAN- FORD PASSES AWAY

Death Angel Claims Her Spirit Near the Noon Hour Saturday— Was Six Years Old

From Monday's Daily. Just after the noon hour on Sat- urday last, at the home of her par- ents, Mr. and Mrs. L. E. Hanford, at McCook, Nebraska, little Marion Hanford, six years of age, who had been sick for some days, passed away following a very heroic struggle between life and death.

Mrs. Carl Dalton had gone the day before and was at the home when the little one breathed her last. Word was immediately sent to Mrs. Frank Schopp of this place, who hastened to the home, where the little one was called from suffering to peace and rest. We have no notice of when or where the funeral is to be held, but will furnish the more complete details at another time.

A PICTURE WELL WORTH SEEING, IS GENERAL VERDICT

Mazinova, Newest Movie Star, as Joline, in "Revelation," Draws Full House at Parmele

From Wednesday's Daily. "An excellent play, well acted" is the general verdict of those who saw Mazinova in "Revelation," at the Parmele theatre last night.

This newest star in picture-dom is possessed of wonderful acting ability, of which she was given opportunity to exhibit in the various scenes of the play adapted from "A Rosebush of a Thousand Years" an interesting book of quite recent publication.

First as the dancing girl at the Cafe of the Three Graces—Wine, Women and Song, in the Latin quar- ter of gay Paris, later as the artist's model and last as a nurse among the grief-stricken war victims of Europe, administering to the soldiers on the battlefield, her acting won her a place in the heart of Platts- mouth movie stars, who will welcome any announcement of further screen plays in which she takes a promi- nent part.

All in all the story was most cap- ably acted and to see it was worth the advanced admission charge. The final showing of the story will occur tonight, when the first show begins at 7 o'clock and the second at 8:45.

DEPARTED AFTER VISITING FRIENDS

From Tuesday's Daily. Mr. Norman A. Taylor and his daughter Mrs. E. E. Andrew from Centralia, Wash., have been visiting in the homes of Mrs. W. T. Stiles, Mrs. H. O. Dooley and Mrs. Jas. ARRIVES HOME SAFE AND SOUND FROM ENGLAND

Edgar Walters, son of Emil Wal- ters and wife of this city, enlisted in the army last winter, and was sent to England, almost immedi- ately, arriving at Liverpool on March 16th, and after having been sent to a rest camp near South Hampton, where they remained for about a week. They immediately went to Stamford, which is a town of about 14,000 population. Here Mr. Wal- ters remained until the latter part of November, when he started for home leaving Liverpool on December 1st, 1918. He arrived home on Christ- mas day, having been mustered out of the service at Camp Funston. Speaking about England, he simply shook his head and said, "They are too slow." Asked about London and New York, he quickly said, "New York is many times the better city. New York is in America, London is a big place, but the people want lots of time to do anything over there. They are too slow."

FRANK KOZAK AND WIFE HAPPY

From Wednesday's Daily. Well yes, they are feeling pretty well thank you, and it is a girl, the dearest sweetest little one, came here a perfect stranger, but soon made up with father and mother Kozak. A happy little bit of sun- shine, catching too, for the reflec- tion of the happiness which is caught but the parents won't rub off. They do say the father goes whistling to his work and his heart is lighter because of the smile that greets him when he drives home.

MRS. PEXTON GOES TO HOSPITAL

From Wednesday's Daily. This morning Mrs. F. E. Pexton, departed on the Burlington for Kirksville, Mo., where she will enter the hospital there for treatment and will have also to undergo an opera- tion, for relief for trouble which has been the cause of her ill health for some time. She goes with the hope and expectation that she may return soon with her accustomed health restored.

ENJOYS THE EVENING GREATLY

From Monday's Daily. At the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Fred Spangler, south of this city, Miss Lillian Spangler en- tertained a large number of her friends last evening, the occasion being the calling together of the school associates of Miss Spangler, who is attending the high school at this place. An excellent time was had by this gathering of young folks and the hours were spent in merriment, with games and music and daughter. The evening was made all the more en- joyable by the serving of an excel- lent luncheon by the hostess and her mother, Mrs. Fred Spangler.
