NOW RIVALS EVEN ITS FORMER ELEGANCE

THE BARCLAY RESTAURANT HAS BEEN ENTIRELY OVERHAULED & RE-FURNISHED.

NEW EATING HOUSE TO OPEN

Everything in Ship Shape, And in Perfect Condition to Feed the People.

From Thursday's Daily. Yesterday afternoon we visited the newly refurnished and refitted Barclay Restaurant, which has been closed for many months. The old furniture and all things connected with the old eating house are gone. When the restaurant was disposed of some time ago the goods with which it was furnished were used by a number of people, who allowed the place to fall from the high class which Mr. Barclay and wife always kept it.

The New Restaurant.
The new restaurant as it appears today, presents an appearance of an eating place from which every particle of dirt has disappeared for strict cleanliness, the place will rival the spotless town in the advertisement for the cleaning powder. The kitchen is scrupulously clean and while it has taken lots of work to place the room in the condition which today finds it, nothing has been spared either in labor or money. Two ranges are harnessed for the cooking, one large one burning wood or coal, while the other is equipped with gas. In the kitchen where large domes cover the ranges to convey the gasses and what smoke there might be incident to the cooking away, is also attached a large hot water tank for cooking and washing dishes. A dish washing sink with two compartments are handily located for the cleaning of the dishes used.

The Dining Room.
There everything is in white, with the tables enameled, which makes them most sanitary, with the room newly refurnished making it very neat and cleanly in its appointments. The lunch counter which has table room for the customers on three sides, and an abundance of room on the inside for those who serve, is so arranged that the best service can be given the public. The dining room is sure a beauty and the cleanliness speaks for itself in the way of recommendation.

The Upstairs Rooms.
It is not the intention to furnish rooms for the public, the upstairs though is finished in the latest style, and furnished in elegance, and will be used for the home of Mr. and Mrs. Barclay, which also are rooms for the help. Their bedrooms, living room, dining room, both, store room are so arranged for perfect accommodation and utility and economy make the whole, one of much elegance and usefulness as a home and place of business combined.

HAS MOTOR HANDCAR NOW
From Thursday's Daily. John Weber, the section foreman on the Missouri Pacific, whose territory covers this place, has received a gasoline motor, with which he is enabled to convert his hand-car into a motor car for use in getting over the rails, to and from his work. Especially does the motor come in handy when one starts home all tired out from their day's work.

THE SOLDIERS ARE RETURNING
From Thursday's Daily. The government has made provision for the filing of the names of the soldiers, who are returning from service and their occupation, that wherever there is an opportunity they may find the kind of a place which they are best fitted for by reason of experience and aptitude and which they desire. With the clerk of the district court J. M. Robertson as a member of the Red Cross, there has been filed thus far some half dozen cards, and who ever can direct these returning soldier boys to what they would desire will be doing a kindly act. Those so far filed are, Lester G. Burrows, farmer, Plattsmouth; James R. Jones, Plattsmouth; Carl Fred Stoll, Nebraska; H. A. Travis, Weeping Water; A. L. Wurga, Plattsmouth; John Wickman, Plattsmouth.

John Bauer departed this morning for Omaha, where he is looking after some business for the day.

FOUR MINUTE MEN BANQUET AT WAGNER

ENTHUSIASM RUNS HIGH AT THE CLOSE OF WAR WORK.

The Four Minute Organization Becomes a Part of Great War History.

From Friday's Daily. Last evening at the Hotel Wagner dining room, which had been artistically decorated for the occasion, the "4-MINUTE MEN-4" together with the theatre managers of this city, assembled for their "MUSTERING OUT CEREMONIES." Fred Wagner, the genial and accommodating proprietor of the Wagner Hotel, served one of his usual and customary banquets. Everything was cooked and served in proper style and manner and Fred Wagner, who has gained a reputation as one of the best hotel men in the state, advanced his standing another notch with the men present.

The gathering last evening marked the conclusion of the active war service of our Local Organization. Thus passes into history, an organization that was organized by the Government as one of the most potent factors in all War Activities. The Local Organization was considered by the State Director, as among the best and helped to place, the State Director at the head of all the States in the Union in effective work. It was with much pride that the body gathered listened to the words of commendation that had been paid the men by the State Director through the Local Chairman, Mr. D. C. Morgan. In a large measure, the success of the Local Organization has been due to the effective and consistent work of the Local Chairman, D. C. Morgan. This fact was recognized by all of the men present and words of commendation for his untiring and business like methods were paid to Mr. Morgan by all the speakers.

After the banquet which was one of the best ever served in Plattsmouth, a number of FOUR-MINUTE toasts were given. The program follows:

EXTRACT FROM A LETTER MAILED BY BEN WINDHAM

WRITTEN TO FATHER, GIVING DESCRIPTION OF SOME SIGHTS WHICH HE WITNESSED.

From Saturday's Daily. Written Dec. 29th, 1918, after leaving New York. Mailed from Brest, France.
"I saw a very thrilling and deplorable sight just as we were pulling out. I was eating dinner when all at once the whistles on all the Harbor tugs, steamships, and ferry boats started to blow. It was sure a great noise. I went to the top side and all the sailors and people on all the ships in the river were waving like mad. But one ship coming up stream made more noise and a happier noise than the rest. It was a load of wounded soldiers coming back. They were dancing and yelling and waving crutches and armless sleeves. Some had no arms to wave, no feet to dance, they just yelled. Every ship in the river that had a band had them on the top side playing as hard as they could.

Dec. 29, 1918. Well here I am in the harbor of Brest, France, got in about 8 o'clock A. M. I am now on watch in Dinamo room. I have not as yet seen France. Won't see it till I go off watch at 12 o'clock noon. Am told I can go ashore tonight. Will be there to celebrate New Year's Eve.
