OVER THE COUNTY

LOUISVILLE

Miss Ruth Fitzgerald returned on Tuesday from a few days' visit with relatives and friends in Omaha.

Rev. Wilson, pastor of the Free Methodist church here, and baby son are both suffering from an attack of the flu.

Clyde Knutson will return to Camp Custer, at Battle Creek, Mich., Saturday. He was called home to attend the funeral of his father, Oscar Knutson.

Coxswain Thomas Stander has finished his course at Great Lakes, but has decided to return to civilian life and is expecting to receive his discharge within the next month or two.

The local Odd Fellows lodge is having work every Monday night. Four or five candidates are taking the trip from Jerusalem to Jerico and others are soon to start on the journey.

Charles Voigtman was among our young farmer friends who has had his subscription to the Courier advanced for another year. He also left an order for a hundred return envelopes.

We are glad to report that Louis Hennings, living east of Louisville, is recovering after a hard attack of the flu, from which he has been suffering for several weeks, and which kept him bedfast about a month.

Mr. and Mrs. Early Bailey are the proud parents of a beautiful little daughter that arrived on Friday, January 10, 1919. Mr. and Mrs. Bailey live at Red Oak, Iowa, but have been here spending the winter with Mrs. Bailey's parents, Mr. and Mrs. H. N. Taylor.

Mrs. Mary Ragosa has received word that her brother, John Ahl is now able to leave the hospital in Omaha and has gone to Plattsmouth to spend a few weeks on the farm with his sister, Mrs. Henry Born, where he hopes to be able to regain his former strength and health, following a serious illness with the influenza and pneumonia.

Mrs. Charles Ahl and children have returned from an extended visit with her mother, Mrs. Hayflick, in Wakeeney, Kansas. Mrs. Ahl reports that the flu was very bad in that vicinity and during her stay there a few women in the neighborhood died of the disease. She expects to move to the ranch near Broken Bow in the spring, where Mr. Ahl is already located.

LET US KEEP WATCH ON THE RHINE AWHILE

TO GUARD AGAINST FUTURE ATTACKS SAYS MARSHAL FOCH.

STRICT VIGILANCE IS REQUIRED

Tells How Success Was Achieved Through American Campaign on Argonne-Meuse.

Treves, Jan. 17.—It is the conviction of Marshal Foch that the Rhine must be made the barrier between Germany and France. He expressed this clearly when he received American newspaper correspondents. The marshal is here in connection with the meeting concerning the extension of the German armistice.

Marshal Foch pointed out the difficulties that had been overcome and said that peace must be commensurate with the price of victory. Germany now was beaten, he added, but with its resources, especially in men, recuperation in a comparatively short time was quite possible. It was now the duty of the allies to prevent further aggressions.

Calls Americans Superb.

"This is, for me," Marshal Foch began, "a happy opportunity to tell you all the good things I think of the American army and of the part it played on our side. Your soldiers were superb. They came to us young, enthusiastic and carried forward by a vigorous idealism and they marched to battle with admirable gallantry."

"Yes, they were superb. There is no other word. When they appeared our armies were, as you know, fatigued by three years of relentless struggle and the mantle of war lay heavily upon them. We were magnificently comforted by the virility of your Americans."

"The youth of the United States brought a renewal of the hope that hastened victory. Not only was this moral fact of the highest importance, but you also brought enormous material aid and the wealth which you placed at our disposal contributed to the final success. 'Nobody among us will ever forget what America did.'"

"And you know what happened on the field of battle since the month of July—first on the Marne, then in the region of Verdun. General Pershing wished as far as possible to have his army concentrated in an American sector. The Argonne and the heights of the Meuse were a sector hard to tackle. There were considerable obstacles there."

"All right," I said to him. "Your men have the devil's own punch. They will get away with all that. Go to it."

"And finally everything went well; everything went so well that here we are on the Rhine."

Germans Gave Everything

Marshal Foch was asked by the correspondent:

"But was not the armistice concluded too soon?"

"It was not possible to do otherwise," answered the marshal. "Because the Germans gave us everything that we asked for at once."

"France has a right to effective measures of protection after the formidable efforts it put forth to save civilization. The natural frontier which will protect civilization is the Rhine."

"It is on the Rhine that we must hold the Germans. It is by using the Rhine that we must make it impossible for them to recommence the coup of 1914. The Rhine is the common barrier of all the allies, precisely of all those who united to save civilization. The Rhine is the guarantee of peace for all the nations who have shed their blood in the cause of the Rhine. Then let us watch on the Rhine."

"Doubtless any general would have preferred to have continued the struggle and to have battled when the battle offered, was so promising, but a father of a family could not but think of the blood that would be shed. A victory, however easy, costs the lives of men. We held victory in our grasp without any further sacrifice. We took it as it came."

"The German high command was not ignorant of the fact that it faced a colossal disaster. When it surrendered everything, it was prepared for an offensive in which it would infallibly have succumbed. On the 14th we were to attack in Lorraine with 26 French divisions and six American divisions. This attack would have been supported by other movements in Flanders and in the center.

"The Germans were lost. They capitulated. There is the whole story."

"The armistice is signed, but peace is not yet concluded. So long as the status of Europe has not been settled, let us watch; let us watch together, so that we lose not the fruits of our common victory. Let us remain united as we were in battle."

ROW STARTED BY

MRS. BRYAN'S VER-SION OF AFFAIR

"Atmosphere Blue With Curses" When Tumulty Heard Mrs. Bryan Had Said He Told Prominent German-American Her Husband Was Sole Cause of Administration's Anti-German Policy.

Washington, Jan. 17.—J. J. Dickinson, mentioned in testimony before the senate committee investigating German propaganda as Washington representative of George Sylvester Viereck, testified today before the committee. He said he represented Viereck until February 1917, when the United States broke relations with Germany, and wrote articles for The Fatherland under the name of Josiah Wingate, in which he undertook to reflect the views of W. J. Bryan. Referring to his relations with Mr. Bryan, then secretary of state, the witness said Mr. Bryan knew nothing of his connection with Viereck.

Terms Leak "Pure Dope."

Dickinson went into the story of the so-called "leak" in advance of one of President Wilson's addresses to congress just before the war started. He said he sent a message to John F. Harris, of Harris, Winthrop & Co., of New York, the day before the speech was delivered forecasting the president's action. He said his forecast was "pure dope" and that he gave it to Harris for use in the market, because the latter's firm was his client. He said he sent a similar message to Viereck. Copies from the military intelligence service files of letters written by Dickinson were read. They purported to record the activities of Dickinson and his conversations with persons high in official life, including President Wilson during the months that preceded the break with Germany.

The following letter, said to have been written June 4, 1916, by Dickinson to Viereck, was read:

"I learned yesterday from an authoritative source that the president had been informed that Secretary Lansing's attitude toward every newspaper man in Washington who exhibits even a sense of fairness toward German interests is growing more insulting every day. I told a member of the cabinet of this sometime ago and I expect it is this that is bearing fruit."

Story Told by Mrs. Bryan.

"I was not here when Bryan was last in Washington, but I have learned that he will give the Wilson cause only the most perfunctory support in the campaign. This will also mark the course of Speaker Clark."

"I don't know whether I told you in one of my last letters the story related by Mrs. Bryan to T. H. Pickford, a local democrat magnate, of the immediate cause of her husband's precipitate retirement from the cabinet. It was that Tumulty told a prominent German-American that Bryan was the sole cause of the administration's anti-German policy. Pickford went to Tumulty with the story and the atmosphere of the White House was blue with curses of the Bryans at the time Pickford was there. Pickford has since written to Mrs. Bryan a full account of his interview with Tumulty."

ORDER OF HEARING

And Notice on Petition for Settlement of Account.

In the County Court of Cass county, Nebraska.
State of Nebraska, Cass county, ss: To all persons interested in the estate of John Chaffant, deceased.

On reading the petition of John M. Chaffant, praying a final settlement and allowance of his account filed in this court on the 15th day of January, 1919, and for distribution and assignment of estate.

It is hereby ordered that you and all persons interested in said matter, do appear at the County Court to be held in and for said county, on the 19th day of February, A. D. 1919, at 10 o'clock a. m. to show cause, if any there be, why the prayer of the petitioner should not be granted, and that notice of the pendency of said petition and the hearing thereof be given to all persons interested in said matter by publishing a copy of this order in the Plattsmouth Journal, a semi-weekly newspaper printed in said county, for one successive week prior to said day of hearing.

In witness whereof, I have hereunto set my hand and the Seal of said court this 15th day of January, A. D. 1919.

ALLEN J. BRIDSON, County Judge.

HAS RECEIVED FIVE FINE HOGS.

Adam Steehr has just received from the breeding farm of Howard Keer, of Beaver Crossing, five of the fine, large Poland-China variety of hogs, which are all fertile and will early spring.

Mr. Steehr is of the opinion that when one raises hogs it is well to raise the best that money can buy. A poor hog, he reasons will eat just as much as the better variety, and will not "bring home the bacon" when placed on the market. This accounts for the large expenditures of money Mr. Steehr is making to bring his herd up to the highest standard.
