ALL MURRAY WILL ATTEND BIG EVENT

At Plattsmouth Saturday—A Royal Welcome Home to the Boys—Parade in Afternoon.

From present indications about town it looks like the big majority of Murray people will be in Plattsmouth Saturday to attend the Cass county homecoming celebration given for the returned soldiers, sailors, Marines and Red Cross nurses. The Plattsmouth home guard company, which is fostering the entertainment is making gigantic preparations to assure a most successful celebration.

Free street attractions, picture shows open to the public and an abundance of music will be included in the day's program. Also, in the afternoon there will be a short parade of ex-service men, reviewed by prominent men of the county. In the forenoon a ball game is scheduled to be played between a soldier and sailor team. The big feature of the day, however, is the athletic carnival, in which is included all the sports the soldiers like—wrestling, boxing, etc. The main bout will be between Seaman Andy Schmarder, of Louisville, champion of the U. S. navy, and Harry Williams, of Omaha, noted mid-west pugilist and an ex-soldier. Soldiers will be admitted free of charge to the arena, including free meals and dancing on the big platform (70x70) to be erected at a main street intersection. The old town will be ablaze with decorations as never before and it is anticipated the celebration will be attended as never before. An event included in this part of the state. The calling off of the Ak-Sar-Ben festivities has left many Murrayites with a desire for amusement and the celebration at Plattsmouth Saturday offers opportunity for everyone to enjoy themselves. There are good many returned service men in this vicinity and it is a safe bet to say they will all be there.
