How Much Oil-Not What Price

The wearing quality, not the price-the protection it gives your engine and the power efficiency it maintains-these considerations should govern motor oil selection. They measure the true economy of high grade Polarine Oil over cheaper, less efficient lubricants.

Polarine not only lasts longer—gives more miles of operation per gallon—but it gives an engine better protection. It retains its body and lubrienty practically unchanged at all engine heats. It provides an oil film that keeps compression tight and gets every possible ounce of power from the explosive force of the gases. It is the year round lubricant for motoring satisfaction, economy and efficiency.

Buy Polarine where you buy Red Crown Gasoline, the economical, clean-burning motor fuel - at first class garages and service stations where you see this sign.
