On Friday afternoon the Grammar room was the scene of a delightful Hallowe'en party. The room was lighted with candles and Jack'o-lanterns, while the walls were decorated with the usual Hallowe'en symbols, pumpkins, witches and black he injury, thought he would try cats. Games were played which proved to be somewhat of a puzzle; even the most skilled scholar in arithmetic being baffled when his teacher said, "Sometimes 7 is onehalf of twelve." Refreshments, consisting of pop corn, pumpkin pie, doughnuts and apples were served, and as they were being eaten ghost stories were told by Marie Puls, Francis Cook and Mabel Howard Mrs. Minford and Edward Howard were present at the party. Friday evening, December 31st at the home of Miss Leona Davis, the pupils of the Murray high school and a few other friends assembled to celebrate the eventful evening. The home was beautifully decorated in designs suitable for the Hallowe'en except for light furnished by Jack'olanterns. As the guests arrived each ing's fun. After the enjoyment of a few games, unmasking was next in order. As the evening wore on, the merry crowd played all sorts of games on the lawn and at a suitable hour a delightful luncheon was served, consisting of pop corn, apples, doughnuts and candy, followed by more games and it was indeed a late hour when the guests departed declaring they had had the time of their lives. Every one present is thoroughly convinced the hostess and her mother know just how to entertain boys and girls who are always eager for a good time.
