THE successful farmer raises bigger crops and cuts down costs by investment in labor-saving machinery.

Good prices for the farmer's crops encourage new investment, more production and greater prosperity.

But the success of agriculture depends on the growth of railroads—the modern beasts of burden that haul the crops to the world's markets.

The railroads—like farms—increase their output and cut down unit costs by the constant investment of new capital.

With fair prices for the work they do, the railroads are able to attract new capital for expanding their facilities.

Rates high enough to yield a fair return will insure railroad growth, and prevent costly traffic congestion which invariably results in poorer service at higher cost.

National wealth can increase only as our railroads grow.

Poor railroad service is dear at any price. No growing country can long pay the price of inadequate transportation facilities.

RETURNS FROM STATE MEETING

From Friday's Daily.

County Assessor George L. Farley returned last evening from Lincoln where he was in attendance at the meeting of the assessors of the state which was held in the capital city this week. One of the biggest problems discussed at the gathering Mr. Farley states, was that of the valuation of the farm lands of the state. Since the valuation of the farm lands four years ago the values have jumped to almost double and the land is at a very high figure at the present time. The law provides that the land shall be listed at its cash value and accordingly the valuation of the farm land of the state will be advanced this year and the assessors of the state will endeavor to place it as fair and just a valuation as possible. The city property of the state has not advanced at such speed as the farming lands and consequently will not command as high a figure.

No Great Act of Heroism Required

From Friday's Daily.

If some great act of heroism was necessary to protect a child from croup, no mother would hesitate to protect her offspring, but when it is only necessary to keep at hand a bottle of Chamberlain's Cough Remedy and give it as soon as the first indication of croup appears, there are many who neglect it. Chamberlain's Cough Remedy is within the reach of all and is prompt and effective.
