Demobilization of Service Flag

Last Sunday at the Methodist church the Epworth League, who had maintained a service flag for the order had appropriate services which were joined by the members of the Methodist church as well in the demobilization of the service flag of the league, of which there were six silver stars and one gold star, the latter telling of the life which was given for the country, while the remainder told of the sacrifices which were also given for the land of their birth and in the cause of humanity. An excellent program was given which consisted of patriotic songs, reading and addresses. Two of the veterans who had seen service in France made very interesting addresses as to the life overseas, they being Robert Roddy and Lester Everett. Those whose names received the bars denoting the demobilization were Ross Jay, when whose name was read and the story of his death at Goat Island, San Francisco, had a gold bar crossing the silver star, telling of the supreme sacrifice which he gave of his life. While the others, Robert Roddy, Lester Everett, Levever Jay, William Sikes and John Pearsley and Edwin Fahrlander, who had given their names and would have given life had the occasion required, had their stars crossed with a silver bar.

BLOWING SMOKE IN MARS' EYES

Byrn Mawr, Pa., Feb. 24.—Use of the government's surplus of smoke making material left over from the war in signaling Mars was suggested today by James J. Crenshaw, associate professor of chemistry at Byrn Mawr college, who served in the chemical warfare section of the American expeditionary forces. Smoke screens several hundreds of miles in width, he believes, would be more likely to be discerned by possible Martians than the geometrical designs which Sir Oliver Lodge suggested be laid out in the Sahara desert.

The government has enough smoke making material to create a tremendous screen or spot on the earth and this material can be used for no other purpose, Prof. Crenshaw said. He advocated covering an area as big as the state of Pennsylvania with either black or white smoke.

Prof. Crenshaw believes that it would be possible to make the spot appear and disappear by regulating the flow of smoke.
