MEXICAN WORKERS DRIVEN AS SLAVES

John Lind, Wilson Emissary, Describes Conditions to Senate Committee

Washington, April 27.—John Lind, former governor of Minnesota, described today to a senate committee investigating mexican affairs his efforts as a speciemissary of President Wilson to aid the late Victoriano Huerta to aid his power in Mexico and allow new government to be set up there in 1913.

Mr. Lind refud to detail conversations with the mexican chief or instruction given in by the president except as they ve outlined in printed memoranda hich he submitted.

"My object, according to my instructions, was to bring about an adjustment between the contending powers," he sa "so that the country could have a de facto government but up which the United States could recognize."

Mr. Lind s of the Latin-American disorganization. The primary causes are sal and economic. In the tropical lantations owned by Americans, law men working almost as slay guarded by men with revolvers an ships and locked up at night. Theines in the north and commercial enterprises of course are carried on a different fashion.

"Don't think American influence and his has gone far towards ameliorate these conditions of Mexican pr?" the witness was asked.

"I don't think the influence of Americans gone far in the south," Mr. Lind lied. "I think more has been done Mexican workmen who have lived the United States."

PRESBYTERIAN MISSIONARY SOCIETY

Mrs. W. J. Streight, Hostess for the Woman's Missionary Society Yesterday Afternoon

From Wednesday's Daily.
Yesterday afternoon at the home of Mrs. W. J. Streight, occurred the regular monthly meeting of the Presbyterian woman's missionary society, with an attendance that taxed the capacity of the house. The devotional hour was in charge of the president, Mrs. F. B. Shopp. The budget of the new year was explained by Mrs. McClusky. The program of the afternoon consisted of short story narratives given by Mrs. Chase, Mrs. Martin and Mrs. Troop, and the presentation of a Pageant play on Medical Missions, entitled, "Hanging the Sign". Mrs. Clyde Cavendar took the leading part. Eight members of the society represented the foreign countries. The appeal of this Pageant was very impressive. The program was interspersed with music which was very much enjoyed. Mrs. J. M. Roberts and Mrs. Henry Goos each rendered two instrumental solos, all of which was a real pleasure to hear. Mrs. T. B. Peterson rendered two beautiful vocal selections.

A committee, of which the hostess was chairman, served very dainty refreshments, and the latter part of the afternoon was spent in a social manner. All present were enthusiastic in their praise of the splendid program rendered by the society.
