A friend in need clings to you for all you are worth.

Nebraska produces more wheat and corn per acre and per capita than any other state.

One million foreign born laborers have left the United States for Europe since the armistice.

Railroad rates will advance 25 per cent and coal go up a dollar a ton, is a coal expert's prophecy.

Make hay while the sun shines and get your ground ready to mow it when the harvest is ready.

The way some people scheme to secure free publicity is sufficient to convince the editor that they do not believe that paper has advanced in price.

Although the packers say they aren't getting it, and the meat retailers say they aren't either, we wonder why we never hear of packers and butchers going broke in such numbers as cattlemen are reported to be in some sections.

Mr. McAdoo admits he is for tax reforms, but of course his views are not important, as he is not a candidate for anything. Also, he thinks the railroad question should be reopened, if private ownership fails after a reasonable trial.

Candidates for the meanness woman are also in order. And our entry is the woman who spanked her little girl for betraying to visitors that she had the whooping cough, as though the fear of quarantine could enable a child to remain silent through a paroxysm of whooping cough.

A bill to coin 7-cent and 8-cent pieces has been introduced into congress, which the author of the bill must believe that such coins are large enough to buy something. Or maybe, we might add, he is under the delusion that such coins might be stable as street car fare.

The rent hog would boost the price of occupying mansions in the skies if they owned them; which, thank goodness, they never will.

The former kaiser would like to raise cattle in South America. But what he raised during the war will give him all the business he can handle.

The sugar probe in Kansas City will be continued through this week. That's about the only thing to do when the sugar is short—to stir violently.

The old time system that the office seeks the man may still hold true, but if it does the presidential office this year is doing a lot of flirting.

The Journal can never believe that the vice-president holds no important office and yet throws the first ball on the opening of the season in Washington.

Probably the real reason why overalls are not entirely popular is because the average man is afraid folks will think his wife is wearing the pants.

Once more it has been demonstrated that May day cannot be turned into a day of anti-social demonstration in America. Americans are too busy moving.

In Vienna a safety razor, exactly like a popular American make, packed in a leather case with a dozen blades, sells for 80 crowns or about twenty-five cents.

Another federal judge holds that the Lever act has a kick in it after all. Perhaps all it needs is mixing with an attorney general who is not all campaign foam.

A Plattsmouth youngster told some older friends up town the other day that he liked his little baby brother all right, but "there was a lot of things we needed more."

SAYS HANDS WERE ALMOST USELESS

Rheumatism and Other Troubles Began to Disappear After Taking Tanlac.

"There's no mistake about Tanlac being a real medicine, for nothing but a real medicine could do what it has for me," said Mrs. Hattie Campbell, of 1808 Grace St., Omaha, Neb. "Beginning with indigestion four years ago," continued Mrs. Campbell, "my troubles multiplied till my life became one of constant suffering. Everything I would eat soured on my stomach and almost tortured me to death. The gas would press on my heart at times so I could hardly breathe and I would almost smother. I suffered from heartburn and had nervous sick headaches and was so dizzy that I would almost fall every time I stooped over. I had rheumatism in my hands so bad that my fingers were all bent over, and at times they would become so numb as to be almost useless. My appetite was poor and I fell off from one hundred and thirty pounds to ninety-four and nobody will ever know how much I suffered. "I was in an awful fix, and while I tried everything recommended, I found no relief until my sister and some of my friends got me a bottle of Tanlac. While on my second bottle my appetite returned. I could eat almost anything I wanted and my other troubles began to leave me. I have regained sixteen pounds of my lost weight and am now able to eat anything I want without suffering from gas or indigestion afterwards. My hands and fingers have become supple again and I hardly notice any rheumatic pain in them. Those headaches and dizzy spells are gone and I have improved so much that I hardly feel like the same person. "Tanlac is sold in Plattsmouth by P. G. Pricke and Company and the leading druggist in every town. It takes two to make a collision, as well as a contract. Transportation seems to be the missing key to most difficulties. Some men will never go to work until labor is made unlawful. A little more red blood and less red flag is needed everywhere today. Whiskers are cultivated by young professional men who feel the need of greater dignity and by bank cashiers who are leaving the community and feel the need of greater security.

PROTEST OF A FACULTY

The rumpus at the Chatham Episcopal Institute at Richmond, Va., over the matter of the delivery of a lecture on Harriet Beecher Stowe is regrettable as showing the persistence of some of the prejudices and passions of the days of the '60s which we had hoped had entirely died out. The lecture was arranged for and later the engagement was cancelled by President Pruden of the institute who held that a lecture on Harriet Beecher Stowe before southern girls would be out of place. Whereupon the larger part of the faculty, composed in large part of women graduates of northern colleges, and the principal resigned. It would seem that a discourse on so eminent a little personage as the author of "Uncle Tom's Cabin" should not be out of place now at any educational institution in the country, and that even southern people themselves could not get a true historical view of the struggle over slavery without becoming acquainted with the standpoint from which the author of the famous book wrote. It would be easy, also, to explain and discuss this standpoint with an appreciation at the same time of the southern view and in a manner and temper that would not give offense. At any rate, if President Pruden considered that a difficult situation had been created by the engagement of the lecturer, he did not improve it, and seems to have acted from an excess of caution that appeared ridiculous even to many of his southern friends.

FRIST ASSESSOR TO COMPLETE WORK

This morning Ed Doran, assessor of Tipton precinct, was in the city to make his report in the assessment of that precinct. Mr. Doran has the distinction of being the first assessor to complete his work and file his report with County Assessor George L. Farley and it is no slight distinction as the job of assessing this year has been exceptionally strenuous with all the real estate values and property to list.

The central Missouri farmer who selected pop corn for his principal crop found this festival cereal a good investment. Five hundred and fifty bushels brought $1,600. Since this best seller at the circus has risen in social scale to a chocolate coated confection in a rose and gold box the price has kept pace with its popularity.

PERFECTION KEROSENE OIL

Making the Tractor Pay

The value of your tractor as an investment, depends upon the amount of dependable service you get from it and its cost for maintenance. A very important factor in lowering operating expenses and keeping the engine smooth-running and full-powered, is clean, reliable fuel.

Perfection Kerosene Oil is the ideal fuel for tractors and all kerosene burning engines. Its even vaporization and complete combustion keep the engine at highest efficiency—delivering full horse-power continually.

Keep the tank filled with Perfection Kerosene Oil and give your tractor a fair chance to show what it can do. Telephone our nearest agent and he will arrange for an immediate delivery of Perfection Kerosene Oil in any quantity.

For gasoline-burning engines use Red Crown Gasoline.
