PROSPECTS FOR OTHER MILLS ARE GOOD

L. C. Sharp of the Alfa-Maize Milling Co. Finds Much Encouragement in Iowa Fields.

The company that has been formed for the purpose of erecting mills for the purpose of manufacturing stock food through the special process owned by the Alfa-Maize company of this city, is meeting with much encouragement in neighboring towns.

The proposition has been brought up of establishing a mill at either Glenwood or Pacific Junction, which places have been applicants for the location of one of the mills. The company has also received much encouragement at Hamburg, Iowa, which enterprising little city will undoubtedly secure one of the plants for the manufacture of the feed that will make such a revolution in the stock feeding world. It is hoped that in a short time it will be possible to have the machinery fully installed in the mill here at Plattsburgh and have it operating so that by fall the work of the manufacture of stock food may be under way in good shape.

Mr. Sharp states that the condensed form in which the special process of his machinery handles the alfalfa, corn and other forage feed, makes it a very easy matter to ship the manufactured feed and that it will be possible to ship twice the amount of stock food of the manufactured sort in the same space that would be required for a much smaller amount of the alfalfa, corn or other food in its original form.

ARRIVAL OF NEW SON.

The message was received in the city today by the relatives announcing the arrival of a fine little son and heir to Mr. and Mrs. Glen Rawls at the Murray hospital at Billings, Montana. The little son has been christened Carlos E. Rawls and with the mother is reported as doing nicely. The happy event that has come to Mr. and Mrs. Rawls will be pleasing news to the many friends in this city and especially to Mr. and Mrs. C. A. Rawls, of this city, parents of the proud father.

Treatment of Common Colds

"If all who catch cold could be persuaded to remain in bed for the first twenty-four hours of such an attack," says a well known physician, "there would be fewer cases dragging on with distressing symptoms for weeks and often ending in some more serious disease." To make sure of a prompt recovery you should take Chamberlain's Cough Remedy. Whether sick or well, the bowels should move each day.

Mrs. Charles Hiatt, of Glenwood, accompanied by her niece and nephew, Genevieve and Charles Goodman, departed for Lincoln this morning with Robert Goodman at the St. Elizabeth hospital. The injured young man is a nephew of Mrs. Hiatt.

LOUISVILLE YOUTH KILLED LAST EVENING

JAMES THOMPSON, 18 YEAR OLD BOY GROUND TO DEATH BY ROCK ISLAND FREIGHT

ATTEMPTING TO BOARD TRAIN

Young Man Was on Way from Work at Lyman-Richey Sand Pit at Time of the Accident.

From Saturday's Daily. Last evening while James Thompson, an eighteen year old lad of Louisville, was enroute from his work at the Lyman-Richey sand pits north of the Platte river, to his home in Louisville, he was killed by falling beneath a moving freight train of the C. R. I. & P. railroad.

The accident occurred shortly before six o'clock as young Thompson, completing his work, was starting for his home. At this time a west bound freight train of the Rock Island was moving off of the bridge of the Missouri Pacific and Mr. Thompson, upon seeing the train, attempted to board the train. The only eye witness of the tragedy was the fireman of the train and he states that Thompson made three attempts to secure a footing on the train which had by the time he came up gained quite a little headway. The third attempt was fatal as the boy losing his hold on the side irons was swung beneath the wheels and six cars passed over his body before the train could be stopped and the mangled remains dragged from the track where they lay.

The body was completely severed at the waist and one leg was torn off and the remainder of the body and head of the boy frightfully mangled by the wheels and being dragged over the ties and rails. In attempting to board the train young Thompson had placed his dinner bucket in the bin of his overalls and this with the clothing was entirely destroyed in the accident.

The unfortunate young man resided in Louisville with his widowed mother, Mrs. Mary Thompson, of whom he was the support and to whom the loss has come as a terrible shock. He also leaves one sister, Mrs. Louis Mayfield, residing east of Louisville and two brothers, Harry and Papillon and George, residing at Havlock.

The funeral services were held today at the late home owing to the condition of the body not permitting delay. The accident has come as a great shock to the community near Louisville and the bereaved mother has the deepest sympathy of the many friends in her loss.

ROBERT GOODMAN IN CRITICAL SHAPE

Wounds Received in Accident at the Havlock Shops Such as to Afford No Hope of Recovery

From Saturday's Daily. The condition of Robert Goodman, who was injured on Thursday afternoon at the Havlock shops is reported this morning as being very grave and while all possible has been done for him, his case is very serious and the chances of his recovery are doubtful.

The operation at the St. Elizabeth hospital in Lincoln disclosed the fact that the injuries were not caused by the ball bearings from the broken machine as had first been reported, but a small fragment of the casing of the machine with which the young man was working. It seems he was using air pressure on the machine causing the casing of the broken off was forced into his body, making a wound similar to that caused by shrapnel, and which penetrated the intestines, almost severing the large intestine and several of the smaller intestines and it was impossible to locate the piece of steel although several X-ray examinations as well as probing were used in the attempt to locate the fragment causing the wound. The father, B. F. Goodman, returned home last evening to arrange his affairs at this place so he could return to the bedside of the son and this morning the aunt of the injured boy, Mrs. Charles Hiatt and his younger brother and sister, departed for the hospital to be with Robert.

MRS. CORA SCOTT LOST 60 POUNDS

Troubles Disappear After Taking Tanlac and She is Regaining Her Lost Weight.

"Anybody who gets the wonderful relief I have experienced ought to certainly praise the medicine that did it," said Mrs. Cora Scott, living at 3902 Lindsey Ave., Omaha, Neb. "Before I took Tanlac," she continued, "I was suffering from a number of ailments and was up all hours of the night feeling so nervous and miserable I couldn't half sleep."

"My stomach was all out of order and my appetite was so poor that I could hardly eat a thing and suffered more or less all the time from indigestion. I was badly constipated and had dizzy spells and awful headaches. I also suffered from catarrh of the head and had rheumatism in both legs and the upper part of both arms, which was very painful. I had been in this condition almost a year and during this time I lost sixty pounds. Although I felt tired and worn out at night, I couldn't get any sound sleep and would always get up in the morning feeling worse than when I went to bed. I had too much will power to give up, but it was all I could do to drag around and do my work."

"I took so many different kinds of medicine without getting any relief that I had begun to think nothing could help me. But I found I was mistaken soon after I began taking Tanlac, for I began to feel better with my first few doses. My appetite is fine now and my condition has improved so I can eat anything I want without suffering a bit from indigestion. The catarrh has left me entirely and the rheumatism seldom bothers me at all. I am regaining my lost weight and am so much stronger that I can work from 11 o'clock tonight and then go to bed and sleep like a child."

Tanlac is sold in Plattsburgh by F. G. Fricke and Company and the leading druggist in every town.

URGENT NEED OF REPAIR TO COURT HOUSE

Delegates to County Convention at Plattsburgh Expressed Approval of Early Action by Board

From Saturday's Daily.

The republican county convention convened in the Distriet court room Tuesday and this afforded County Commissioner Harris an opportunity to present to a representative number of tax payers over the county the necessity of making some very needed repairs to the court house. In one corner of the court room the plastering had fallen off and according to the statement made by Commissioner Harris there is danger of the tiling with which the ceiling is lined, falling upon the heads of the occupants of the building. He stated that the board of commissioners had decided to make the necessary repairs to the building and after his description he asked for a vote of approval, which was almost unanimous.

Cass county's court house is a magnificent structure, but for some reason unknown to the writer it has been shamefully neglected. The building has settled until the slate roof has cracked and pulled away from the building in places, allowing the water to soak the walls which in turn has rotted away the ends of the strainers allowing the ceiling to sag and the plastering to crack and fall off. The ceiling and walls of this particular room have evidently at one time in the hazy past been painted and decorated, but today they are smoked and begrimed with dust and look more like the interior of a Missouri Pacific round house than a court room.

Commissioner Harris is right. It needs fixing. The only complaint the Courier has is the fact that the commissioners have been so neglectful of their duty in permitting this magnificent building to get into such a dilapidated and disgraceful condition. The commissioners should not stop at repairing this room but the entire building needs going over and such repairs as are found necessary should be made at once.

This thing of "passing the buck" and expecting the succeeding board to take the initiative has been practiced too long. It is poor economy to postpone making needed repairs until damage has been wrought to such an extent that repairs are but temporary at best.—Louisville Courier.

Henry Heebner, of Cedar Creek, was in the city today—enroute to Murray for a week-end visit with home folks.

Harold Wiles returned Monday evening from Omaha, where he had underwent an operation. He is getting along fine and was lucky enough to get back in time to graduate with his class.

Mrs. Helen Wallick, accompanied by the Misses Lettie Foster and Judith Johnson were over from Plattsburgh Friday to attend the class play in which Miss Theima Wallick had a prominent part.

Mr. and Mrs. B. F. Ruby spent Sunday down at Mrs. Ruby's farm and enjoyed a fine dinner with Mr. and Mrs. Jack Sheard and family who are now living on the farm. John Sheard came up and took them down in the car. Mr. and Mrs. Ruby are well pleased with the way Jack and his son John are cleaning up and taking care of the farm.

C. E. Butler reports an interesting visit in the east while back there last week attending a bank hearing at Washington. One of the most novel experiences was getting to see practically the entire Atlantic fleet at anchor in the Hudson river. It was in for a week's "clean-up" and was the first time it had been seen in the vicinity of New York for over a year. Another experience was getting aboard the famous converted German ship Veterland, or "Livingston" as it is now named. It is the largest vessel in the world and during the war hauled as many as 20,000 American troops a trip, besides its crew. It is laid up at dock now while its motive power system is being changed from the steam engine to the oil engine type. It is said that the present price of coal made its operation under that type of power almost prohibitive as it burned 1,000 tons of coal a day. While in New York City he visited the stock exchange and the curb market. In talking with bankers in the city about present day conditions he gathered from them that their belief is the tight money condition will not get fully readjusted for a year. There were representatives from State Bankers Associations of twenty-six states present at this same conference in Washington and Mr. Butler brings back the report that definite things were accomplished toward checking the Federal Reserve Banking system in its inroads upon the rights of state banks.

Miss Josephine Rys, of Plattsburgh, came up Saturday to visit over night with her friend, Mrs. G. Brown. She returned home Sunday, accompanied by Mr. and Mrs. Brown, who drove down.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Lau, Jr., and family and Mr. and Mrs. William Wiles and family, of Murray, visited their parents, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Lau and family last Sunday. Other guests at this hospitable home were Rev. and Mrs. Theodore Hartman.

Mr. and Mrs. William Stohman had the pleasure of entertaining their daughters and families, Mr. and Mrs. Fred Brunkow, of Murdock and Mr. and Mrs. Henry Gaebel and Mrs. Gaebel's J. Gaebel and daughter, Miss Henrietta, at dinner last Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. G. L. Berger, who are again in Elwood over an extended stay in Orange, California, where they have a comfortable home, had the pleasure of a visit with their daughter and son-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. William Stander, last Sunday. Mr. Berger and wife are expected in Louisville for a visit with their old time friends in the near future.

Ernest and August Pautsch drove out to the home of their brother-in-law, William Schiefer, west of Manly last Sunday morning, where they found Mrs. Schiefer and her daughter, Miss Erna, sick in bed with an ailment which was very much like the influenza. Their many friends hope for their speedy recovery.

Men's ODD Trousers!

A man asked us the other day when we were going to hold our annual pant sale. Every day is sale day on pants in here. The high prices found us with an extra big stock of trousers on hand. These pants at old prices are bigger bargains than any discount prices ever made. It is nothing for us to sell a man 2 or 3 pairs of trousers at a time these days — it's a thrift purchase. You can make your clothes go farther with extra trousers than any other way. We still have a good many sizes left at old prices, and all sizes at prices below the market. Don't overlook this. Prices $2.75 to $15.

Will and Warren Trumble returned to Wild Horse, Colo., Monday, after a visit with relatives and friends at Eagle.

Mr. and Mrs. G. Rockenbach expect to leave this week for Holyoke, Colo., where Mr. Rockenbach will combine pleasure with profit and do some construction work for which he has a contract.

Will Hudson, Geo. Oberle, Fred Schwegman and the editor of the Beacon attended the republican county convention at Plattsburgh last Tuesday. The editor was chosen as a delegate to the state convention at Lincoln next Tuesday. The convention was a real interesting one, considering the lack of business to be transacted, and was full of pep. All but two precincts in the county were represented. The democratic convention was held the same day, but none from this precinct were present, and the attendance was not nearly so large.

This community was shocked Tuesday evening by the death of another old and highly respected citizen—James Dysart. He had been ill for some time, and since his return from the Springs, but little hope had been entertained for his recovery, yet his death was a shock to all. Mr. Dysart was born near Mendota, Ill., Dec. 23, 1853, and was 66 years of age. He came to this community in 1881, and was married to Viola Porter in 1888. Two girls, Laberta and Hessie, and three boys, Porter, Thomas and Floyd, all living, were the fruit of this marriage. The deepest sympathy of the community goes out to them and their mother in their affliction. As we go to press the funeral is being conducted by Rev. Davis.

BAGS NINE COYOTES

This morning Grant Hackenberg came in with nine coyote scalps which he had secured at his farm home and for which he received a bounty of $3 each. This makes 141 coyote scalps for the season that has been brought in for registration and to receive the bounty and County Clerk George R. Sayles has been kept busy issuing the warrants for the amounts. The bounty law seems to be doing its purpose of ridding the country of coyotes.
