The Bank of Murdock

This is the only bank in Murdock having the protection of the depositors' guaranty fund of the State of Nebraska.

All deposits in this bank are and have been, since the 1st day of July, 1911, guaranteed by the depositors' guaranty fund of the State of Nebraska (Guaranty Certificate No. 290).

The present times are strenuous ones, and indications are that we are now to undergo the reconstruction period following the great war, and this is the time to confine your banking business to a reliable, established, proven bank—one that can and is able to take care of your needs in hard times.

The officers, who are also the directors, and whose names appear below, have invested their money in the Bank of Murdock, and devote their entire business time to the care of this one bank. This is an exceptionally strong bank, and not one of a "chain of banks," but rests on a solid business foundation. Our officers are interested in no other bank, thereby eliminating and avoiding the interlocking of funds, which is so common in banks, when the same party or parties are interested in a number of banks, and which usually causes trouble sooner or later. Our correspondent banks are the large, strong city reserve banks, and our business at all times is conducted on a safe, sane and very conservative basis, and whether you deposit or borrow money, only three persons besides yourself know of the transaction, being the officers of this bank. The same officers continue to serve from year to year, so you will find no unpleasant changes in our management, but always deal with the same officers and directors.

We take pleasure in calling your attention to the excellent showing of our statement to the State Bureau of Banking, published on this page.

John Schell was a visitor in Murdock last Saturday evening, this month last Saturday evening. His on his face is not so shining, but still Plattsmouth has a large number of very attractive young ladies, whose acquaintance is very desirable.

Mrs. Myra McDonald, mother of Oscar McDonald, and Frank Moore, an uncle of our town, were visiting at his home in Murdock last Sunday, driving up in the car of Mr. Moore for the week end and enjoying the trip and visit very much.

Mottled and spotted walls of exceedingly charming color and true artistic value. You will find them in Max Dusterhoff's wall paper stock.

Mrs. C. Mooney and daughter, Mrs. Lacey McDonald, were visiting in Omaha for some time, having driven to Ashland where they took a train for the metropolis spending the day there visiting with friends and looking after some trading.

Miss Rose Schell departed a few days ago for western Nebraska where she will visit with friends for some two weeks or so. Mr. Rose was the teacher of a school near that town a few years ago, and retained the friends which she made while there engaged, and it is to visit them that she goes at this time.

Miss Mable Macheen of Omaha, Minn., was a visitor in Murdock for a short time last Friday evening, having missed the proper place when coming from a visit in the west. Miss Macheen had intended to get off the train at Meadow and mistook the call for Murdock for the station which she was at. Miss Macheen and Mrs. Floy Dodson, the latter's sister, came after Miss Macheen in a car and she enjoyed the visit after all.

W. O. Gillespie and H. A. Guthmann were looking after some business matters at Lincoln last Friday afternoon.

Comes a Long Way to Church
Alphonse Gietzel has a desire to attend church whenever it is so he can get there, and last Saturday went with John Schell to Plattsmouth so as to be there in time for the early services on Sunday morning. Of course he went to see his very dear friend, Miss Bonnie, in the evening and notwithstanding the severe rain had an auto ride and with all enjoyed the occasion of his visit at the county seat greatly. Go again, Alphonse, they will treat you nicely there.

The Electric Light Question.
It was thought that the matter of getting the electric light huddled into Murdock has been solved, but with more recent developments, it has some complications yet, but will be constructed in a short time. The company has taken a shorter route to South Bend and thus put Murdock some three miles farther away. They will now have to get the light from Monday at all and will have a number of the lighting corporation come to Murdock as soon as possible.

Has Most Beautiful Window Display
Our attention was challenged to the fine display, and exquisite taste manifested in the dressing of the windows at the Murdock Mercantile company's store. Not alone has their ability to dress a window becoming, but they have the happy faculty of keeping the entire store by just the proper shape. Their notion of attending to the right thing at the right time, is reflected in this excellent business which this place enjoys. See an announcement in other columns of this paper calling attention to a close and with the ending of the association for the past year it has been thought to celebrate the ending of the years of co-operative school, and of friendship with a celebration and a picnic was arranged by the teachers and scholars, in which all enjoyed the occasion. Frank Rose, who is a public spirited man, volunteered to transport the children to and from the picnic grounds, which he did thus adding to their enjoyment. At the Gakemeier grove they all enjoyed themselves with games which were worth while, and then returned to the school house for their refreshments, which consisted of ice cream and other delicacies which they all enjoyed.

Murdock School Closes.
The school year of Murdock has drawn to a close, and with the ending of the association for the past year it has been thought to celebrate the ending of the years of co-operative school, and of friendship with a celebration and a picnic was arranged by the teachers and scholars, in which all enjoyed the occasion. Frank Rose, who is a public spirited man, volunteered to transport the children to and from the picnic grounds, which he did thus adding to their enjoyment. At the Gakemeier grove they all enjoyed themselves with games which were worth while, and then returned to the school house for their refreshments, which consisted of ice cream and other delicacies which they all enjoyed.

Finishing Planting Corn.
While there are many who are not through planting their corn, some are, and probably some will have to replant. Among those to complete their planting is Louis Schmidt, who with his assistant, Walter Braun, have gotten in 140 acres and it all seems to be coming nicely.

Attended the High School Play
Louis Schmidt and wife, with their little daughter, and Miss Marie Schmidt, and Mr. Walter Braun, visited the closing exercises at the high school at Blairwood. The play which was entitled the "Old New Hampshire Home", was well rendered and well worth going that far to see.
