SUPERINTENDENT TO GIVE DECISION

State School Head, J. L. Matzen, of Lincoln Takes Mt. Pleasant Case Under Advisement

From Wednesday's Daily.

The hearing that was held yesterday at the court house in regard to the changing of the boundary lines of the proposed Mt. Pleasant school district has resulted in the placing of the matter in the hands of State Superintendent J. L. Matzen, who now has it under advisement. Mr. Matzen left this city to attend a meeting at Albion and the last of the week will return to Lincoln and a report of his decision in the Cass county matter is looked for within the next week.

The rural districts near Murdock and Greenwood are awaiting word from the office of the superintendent as to his decision and will then call a special school election for the purpose of consolidation of the districts to give a more compact and higher graded country school that can offer all the advantages of the high schools of the cities.

The three consolidated districts already in force in the county at Eagle, Nehawka and Alvo have given the greatest of satisfaction and the advantages of this system are now being appreciated by the residents of these districts.

It is expected that other sections of the county will probably later take up the matter of consolidation as there is a growing demand for it.

COACH SHOP GRABS OFF THE OPENING GAME

STOREHOUSE TEAM GOES DOWN IN DEFEAT AGAINST THE WM. MASON CREW.

From Wednesday's Daily.

The first game of the Burlington shop league was staged last evening at the Red Sox park and with a large crowd of the base ball lovers of the city on the job to witness the contest. The game was one filled with interest from the time the first ball was heaved until the close of the battle when the score disclosed that the coach shop had won from the storehouse team, the champions of 1919, by the score of 4 to 1, and a costly miss by Howe, the crack ball tosser of the car furnishers, lost him a shut out in the opening contest.

Howe pitched a very steady game and retired thirteen of the employees of Storekeeper Duncan through the strikeout route, while he was nicked for five hits by the store house aggregation. Joe McCarthy was in the box for the store house and succeeded in fooling six of the coach shop batters on strikes, while he allowed four hits to his opponents. Two men drew passes from McCarthy and one from Howe.

The game was strictly according to rules and regulations with Umpire Ed Long handling the indicator in his usual impartial manner and Charley Hanson as the big noise as the base ball cop.

In the opening inning Max Pries was retired, McCarthy to Whitey; Mason drew a walk from Mac and was able to pifer second and later scored when Patrick O'Donnell laid a hot one down the first base line for two sacks. O'Donnell was caught trying to steal third and retired. Shinn closed the half by a strike out. For the storehouse Martin was whiffed by Howe while Brewer had a lease of life on a poor throw to first base; Schubeck jabbed a safe one to right while Whitey fanned and McCarthy closed the inning by retiring, Mason to Pries.

The second act of the little drama was scoreless as the players retired in rapid order. Howe was struck out by Martin; Gradoville was put out on a grounder, Schubeck to Whitey; Glaze was hit by one of the shoots of McCarthy but in trying to get to second was grabbed off by Grassman and Schubeck at second.

For the supply department Hudgins and Grassman struck out and Newman was walked, but died on the base as Brubacker failed to touch any of the hot ones sent over by Howe.

The third gave the coach shop an additional score. Wooster, the first up, was out on a grounder to McCarthy; Hunter was given a base on balls and when Pries rolled out a grounder, Hunter made second safe while Max was able to reach the initial station; Mason struck out and Hunter came home on a wild pitch by McCarthy; O'Donnell retired, McCarthy to Whitey.

The storehouse led off with Martin in the third, he being safe at first on an error by O'Donnell. He was followed by Brewer, who hit to center for two bags; Martin tried for home when a wild peg by Mason gave him a fighting chance to get to the plate, but the fast work of Gradoville in capturing the elusive sphere resulted in his being tagged out. Schubeck struck out and Whitey was out on an easy grounder to Howe.

In the fourth inning Shinn led off for the coach shop and retired, McCarthy to Whitey; Howe struck out; Gradoville jabbed a warm one for a two sack to center garden and later scored on a wild heave by McCarthy; Glaze struck out. McCarthy, for the storehouse, was struck out; Hudgins went out on a grounder to Howe; Grassman hit safe to right field but died on the base as Newman failed to connect with the sphere.

The fifth was again scoreless as neither side could get around the bases. Wooster of the coach whackers retired on a roller to McCarthy and was followed by Hunter, who whiffed while Pries was put out, McCarthy to Whitey. Brubacker for the storehouse secured a clean hit to left field; Martin retired on a pop-up fly to Mason at second and Brewer fanned out.

In the sixth inning Mason leading for the coach shop put a hot one to Martin that he fumbled and Mason was safe at first; O'Donnell was out on a grounder to Martin, but advanced Mason; Shinn flew out to Hudgins in center but scored Mason. Howe then connected with a two-bagger to left and Gradoville hit safe to right field, but both Howe and Gradoville failed to score as Glaze was out on a fly to Newman in left field.

In the seventh and last inning of the game, the storehouse secured their tally after two men had retired, Hudgins and Grassman both fanning out and Newman was given a lease on life by the error of Howe and advanced to second and on the hit of Brubacker scored. Martin closed the game by striking out.
