MRS. J. W. JOHNSON CALL- ED TO REWARD

FOR MANY YEARS A RESIDENT OF THIS CITY AND UNIVERSAL-
LY LOVED AND RESPECTED

SEVENTY-FOUR YEARS OF AGE

Married in This City June 8, 1846, to Joseph W. Johnson Who Preceded
Her in Death April 14, 1918.

From Wednesday's Daily.

This morning at 9:18 another of the old time residents of this city was called to the last long rest which knows no more the troubled care of earth, when Mrs. Mary Jane Johnson, widow of the late Joseph W. Johnson, sank peacefully into untroubled sleep to awaken on the brighter shores where her Christian life will be glorified in the sight of the Master.

For several days past the condition of Mrs. Johnson has been very serious and the children had been called to the home to be with the mother in the last brief hours of earthly life. On last Wednesday the first signs of a serious breakdown occurred and Mrs. Johnson bore the ordeal with fortitude, until the last maintaining an attempt to carry on her usual activities until her failing strength made it necessary to have her removed to the home of her sister, Mrs. W. F. Gillespie, where she remained until the arrival of the children who had been hurriedly summoned from their homes in different portions of the west and in response to the desire of the mother she was taken to the old home where she passed peacefully away this morning. Yesterday was the 55th wedding anniversary of Mrs. Johnson and she was permitted to live through the hours that marked the event that had brought to her so much of happiness and joy as well as the sorrows and griefs that come to all in completing the wonderful story of life.

Mary Jane Henton was born November 22, 1846, at Logansport, Cass county, Indiana, and there spent her girlhood days, and in 1859 when thirteen years of age with her family came west, traveling through the then comparatively unsettled western country, until the family came to the territory of Nebraska and settled at the tiny settlement of St. Mary's, seven miles north of Plattsmouth where the two rivers, the Platte and the Missouri joined and there she spent her youthful days and lived to see her childhood home swept away by the river and today over the spot where Mrs. Johnson lived only the silent waters of the river flow. It was while living at St. Mary's that the deceased first met the young man who was later to share with her the joys and sorrows of life and at the close of the great civil war Mr. Johnson came back to Nebraska to claim his bride on June 8, 1865, at Plattsmouth. Mary Jane Henton and Joseph W. Johnson were united in marriage by Rev. George C. Betts. In the years that have passed the family have made their home in Plattsmouth and vicinity, as for a number of years Mr. Johnson was engaged in farming near this city and later on being elected to public office came to Plattsmouth to reside and here the family was reared to manhood and womanhood. To bless the union of Mr. and Mrs. Johnson, six children were born, two of whom have passed away and four remain to share the grief of the mother's death. The deceased children are Miss Emma Johnson who died in 1890 and J. Edgar Johnson who was killed in an accident on the Burlington near Lincoln in 1919. The living children are: J. Jay Johnson, St. Joseph, Mo.; Frank H. Johnson, Weeping Water; Alge Johnson, Lincoln, and Mrs. Ruth Chapman of Willard, Montana. The husband died in this city April 14, 1918.

In the death of Mrs. Johnson the community has lost one whom they can but poorly spare as in her years of life the departed has been a most loving friend and neighbor and her death brings to the friends a sense of personal loss that only the soothing hand of time can ease. Her life, peaceful and calm is a striking monument to her worth in the world that words cannot add to or detract from, and to her family she leaves the precious heritage of a well spent life.

The funeral services will be held on Friday morning at 11 o'clock from the late home at Seventh and Locust street and the body will be laid to rest beside that of the husband who had preceded her in death.

WOMAN'S HOME MIS- SIONARY SOCIETY

Holds Very Pleasant Picnic at Home of Mrs. R. B. Hayes to Observe
Fortieth Anniversary

From Wednesday's Daily.

Once a year the Woman's Home Missionary society of the Methodist church take occasion to lay aside the tasks of the work and give themselves up to an afternoon of general enjoyment. So at this time on June 5th, they celebrated the fortieth anniversary of the organization of their national work, by a one o'clock picnic luncheon on the lawn of the R. B. Hayes home.

This year has been a special effort for "more facts, more funds, and more folks", and with the study course of Christian Americanization, several hundred dollars raised by the local auxiliary, and a campaign for at least forty members before the birthday party, the society felt they could truly celebrate. All too swiftly passed the hours from one to five-thirty p. m., in reminiscences of past missionary meetings, missionary songs sung to popular tunes of today, and the ever interesting mission game "who's who and what's where", which also belied the idea that missionary societies are composed of long faced, sad eyed women studying dry, uninteresting subjects and proved that the spirit of youth and fun is ever alive when fitting occasion is given for its expression. The only regret to mar the occasion was the absence of so many of the forty-one members who suffered a few to over-partake of a dinner prepared for so many and denied them the benefit of their wit and laughter so appreciated at such a time. "But here's the work of the home missions, and here's to her members most loyal; may her interests ever increase and prosper, and her members never shrink from hard toil."
