DEFENSE!

— Defense used in any sense means preparedness against loss. The strongest financial defense is a checking account in this bank.

— It is sure to pay in good times or bad; in times of world war or business depression.

— A check book, and the attached stubs properly made out, is your best defense against having to pay the same bill twice.

Had a Hunch. T. E. Hatheway, who was never before known to miss a game where the team from Union was engaged, refrained from going to Syracuse last Monday where a game had been scheduled between the Union "Sammys" and the Eagles of Nebraska City. Just how he had a hunch that the game was to be "faked" by Syracuse, no one knows, but he remained home wearing one of his pleasant smiles, and was right at that.

Wm. Ost Purchased 80 Acres. Wm. Ost, living southwest of Union, recently purchased an eighty acre parcel of land, a portion of the former estate of J. W. Pitman, and is known as the north half of the northwest quarter of section fifteen township ten, range thirteen. The land is an excellent piece of Cass county's productive soil and will make an excellent home for Mr. Ost and family.

Laid to Rest on Fourth. Clyde Wells True, the twelve-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. S. W. True, formerly of Union, but for some years making their home near Bloomfield, died at the home of his parents July 2nd, after a short illness of diphtheria, and was buried at Mt. Hope cemetery a few miles from Union Sunday, July 4th, Rev. W. A.

Taylor delivering the funeral sermon. Clyde was the only son of Mr. and Mrs. True, there being one other child—a daughter—who with the parents are left to mourn the departure of the son and brother.

Clyde was born January 3, 1908, near Union, not far from the place where his mortal remains rest in the hope of a resurrection, when he will be reunited with the relatives and friends who are made sad by his departure from them now.

A large number of former neighbors and friends paid honor to his memory by attendance at the burial exercises.

Resigns Position Here. H. G. Griffin, who has been the manager of the Standard Oil company station in Union for some time has offered his resignation and will in the future engage in farm work, though just for the present will work about town. Mrs. Mable Reynolds, who has been employed in the Union market for some time, and who resigned recently to secure a season of rest, expecting later to accept a position as traveling saleswoman, has been secured as saleslady by the Farmers store. Is Having Home Decorated. Mrs. Clara Davis is having her home in Union repainted and refinished inside, which when completed will add greatly to the place, and will make an excellent place of abode for her. The work is being done by Earl Merritt. Mr. Merritt is pretty well crowded with work at present and hopes soon to be able to enjoy a brief letup, during which he plans to go out west and file on some land under the homestead act favorable to soldiers. Mr. Merritt served overseas for several months and like all the boys who went to the service is entitled to the best when it comes to receiving lands or anything else Uncle Sam can give them.

Social Meeting Well Enjoyed. The members of the Epworth League here gave a social entertainment at the home of W. H. Poirer last Thursday evening to the members of the League at Plattsmouth, some forty of whom were present. The Plattsmouth merry-makers came in autos and enjoyed the hospitality afforded them by the Union young people. No formal program was given, but the time was devoted to social enjoyment and all present pronounced the reception a most delightful affair.

Were Recently Married. Announcements have been received of the recent marriage of Miss Menna Tuckenhager, formerly a teacher in the Union public schools, to Mr. Joy Fairhead of Martin, So. Dakota. For some time the bride has been making her home in Gordon, where she has been engaged in teaching. Her many friends here will remember her as one of Union's best and most popular teachers, a lady described as having many winning qualities which endeared her to a large circle of friends.

Took the Joy Out of the Fourth. According to previous arrangements and in response to an urgent telephone call from the committee having in hand the 4th of July celebration at Syracuse, the Union ball team traveled overland to Syracuse, where they were to play the Eagle team of Nebraska City for a purse of $20 which the Syracuse committee claimed to have hung up for the occasion, the teams to arrange between themselves how it was to be divided.

When the teams arrived at Syracuse, the weather looked rather ominous, and the committee would not have the game pulled off. Neither would the members consent to pay even the transportation expense incurred by the teams in coming to Syracuse to play. There was considerable bitterness felt by the members of both teams on account of the treatment they received. No one could blame the players for feeling sore under the circumstances and in our opinion it will be a good long time before the town of Syracuse will be able to get either of these teams there on any pretense they may have to offer.

Will Play Here Sunday. A game has been arranged for next Sunday between the "Union Sammys" and the local team. This game will be played on the Union grounds, beginning promptly at three o'clock. The "Sammys" are a well matched team and lovers of the great American sport had better keep their eyes open and remember the date.

Dr. P. J. Flynn departed this morning for Omaha and from where he will drive to Norfolk to attend the Elkhorn Valley medical society of which he is a member and expects to be absent for several days.

NAME NAVAL CHIEF TO RUN WITH OHIOAN

ASSISTANT SECRETARY NOMINATED WITHOUT BALLOT AS MATE OF GOVERNOR

TAMMANY CONVERTED TO HIM

Quick Action on Second Place Following Breaking of Deadlock—Other Candidates Withdraw

San Francisco, Cal., July 6.—Franklin D. Roosevelt of New York, assistant secretary of the navy, was nominated for vice president today by the democratic national convention and became their running mate of Governor James M. Cox of Ohio, democracy's choice for the presidential nomination.

The first cries of "Cox and Roosevelt" rang through the convention hall and were mixed with the shouts of the vote of acclamation by which he was nominated without a ballot.

Despite the disinclination of the Tammany organization to accept him Roosevelt's name went over with a band wagon movement during which all other candidates were withdrawn.

James Hamilton Lewis of Illinois was withdrawn early by former Governor Duncay; Governor Stewart of Montana announced his own withdrawal; Edward L. Doherty of California and former Governor Hawley of Idaho were withdrawn, and Major General L. D. Tyson of Tennessee in person announced that he would not be a contender, as did David R. Francis of Missouri. Nomination of W. T. Vaughn of Oregon, who had received state primary endorsement, was changed into a second for the successful nominee.

Bainbridge Colby, secretary of state, who was considered as a candidate and refused to allow his name to be used, finally was urged to consent if he should be "drafted". As it fell out the Tammany crowd decided to accept Roosevelt, who brought to the ticket the participation of an administration man, and Mr. Colby's name was not considered further.

Mr. Roosevelt was placed in nomination by Timothy L. Anshery, a former representative from Ohio, who sat as a Cox delegate in the District of Columbia delegation.

Seconds sprang from all parts of the convention hall and although Roosevelt was not formally received until well after the business of the nomination was taken up, there was never any doubt about it and never at any time was there any opposition. The seconding of his nomination by Governor Smith of New York from the Tammany delegation clinched it.

Senator Robinson of Arkansas, permanent chairman of the convention, was appointed chairman of the committee to notify Governor Cox of his nomination and Chairman Homer S. Cummings of the democratic national committee was appointed chairman of the committee to notify Mr. Roosevelt.

After its tumultuous session of forty-four ballots, when it broke the deadlock by the nomination of Governor Cox for president, the convention reassembled at noon to finish its work. There was at first a delay utilized by the Cox managers to hear from the governor about his wishes on the vice presidential nomination. E. H. Moore of Youngstown, O., who managed the governor's fight let it be known that Cox was willing to leave the selection of his running mate to the convention.

With that the forces easily and quickly coalesced and after Roosevelt's nomination applauded an appreciation of him by his chief, Secretary Josephus Daniels.

During the closing moments of the convention the usual formal resolutions affecting the national committee and the convention organization were adopted with a resolution expressing thanks and appreciation of the convention to the city of San Francisco.

Some of the political managers recalled that today was the second time that political leaders of the state of New York had against their will accepted a man named Roosevelt on the national ticket. The late Thomas C. Platt was reluctant to accept Theodore Roosevelt for the vice presidential place in 1900 and the Tammany organization was reported no more favorably inclined to accept Franklin D. Roosevelt today.

Mr. Roosevelt left the convention hall just before he was nominated, but after his nomination was a certainty to a number of friends he recalled that before the convention he
