"EVERYBODY'S STORE"

A SNAKE STORY THIS TIME

From Friday's Daily.

On Monday afternoon while I. J. Fuller and Frances Parish were working in the rear of the store cleaning up some boxes, they heard a squealing noise and proceeded to move some of the boxes from whence came the noise and there they discovered a large bull snake which had captured a large rat and the snake had wrapped itself around the rat several times and had soon squeezed the life out of him. A number witnessed the spectacle and were of the opinion that the snake was death on rats. His snakeship was not disturbed, but he became alarmed at his audience and betook himself to a hole leaving the rat. The dead rat was placed over the hole which the snake entered and so great was his appetite for rat that he soon came and swallowed him. From all appearances the snake had been laying under the boxes catching rats that came about there, as his appetite demanded.—Elmwood Leader-Echo.

Wm. BUSTER VISITING FRIENDS HERE AGAIN

From Friday's Daily.

Wm. Buster is visiting friends in Elmwood again this week. Mr. Buster is past 82 years of age, but is able to get about very well yet and enjoys life in his usual good way. He is just as strong on the democratic side of the fence as usual and says he is getting stronger, but we still think there is room for improvement in his political views.—Elmwood Leader-Echo.

Farming only pays when the man who manages the farm receives at least one half of the net income from the farm.

Grain and stock should be bought by individual buyers who take an interest in keeping posted on the market.

Co-operative associations will never be a success until they sell at least one-half their stock to their managers.

VISITING IN OLD HOME

From Saturday's Daily.

Dr. and Mrs. Edwin W. Cook of Rock Island, Ill., are in the city enjoying a visit at the home of Mrs. Cook's mother, Mrs. D. Hawksworth, and with the many old friends. Dr. Cook found a short vacation from his work as one of the head physicians of the Modern Woodmen of America and decided to spend it in the old home, where he had resided for so many years and it is needless to say that the visit here has been much enjoyed by the host of friends who have long held a warm regard for the genial doctor and Mrs. Cook.

Mrs. Linda Harrod Endorses Chamberlain's Tablets

"I suffered for years with stomach trouble and tried everything I heard of but the only relief I got was temporary until last spring I saw Chamberlain's Tablets advertised and procured a bottle of them from our druggist. I got immediate relief from that dreadful heaviness and pain in the stomach after eating. Since taking two bottles, I can eat anything I want without distress," writes Mrs. Linda Harrod, of Ft. Wayne, Indiana.
