One reason the Mexican election was quiet seems to have been that General Obregon had no opposition. There was another candidate, to be sure, but he seems to have been put up merely to make the election legal.

Labor day was also notable in the fact that no word was received from Babe Ruth denouncing the international fuss. The circumstance that Babe fanned out three times in the morning game may have had something to do with this curious situation, however.

"When will high prices let up?" Which is a very common salutation every day. Our reply is—some day. We remember after the civil war, prices were extremely high and gradually disappeared as the prices became lower. Don't worry—the consumer will get his lining after while.

NEWBERRYIZED

When Governor Cox accused the republican bosses of a purpose to "Newberryize the country" he coined a phrase not soon to be forgotten. How Michigan was Newberryized is a matter of political, financial, judicial and criminal record.

In 1918 the task set for the gold-diggers was the election of a congress opposed to the president of the United States. Michigan was a weak spot in the line, owing to the candidacy of Henry Ford. To gain control of the senate all republican seats had to be kept and several democrats displaced. A supreme effort in behalf of Truman H. Newberry was therefore necessary in Michigan, and as it turned out, his purchased election was what gave the republicans a majority, enabled them to pack the committee on foreign relations against the league of nations and made it possible for Mr. Lodge to kill the treaty of peace.

Persons whose memory is good will recall the fact that when Mr. Ford complained that the election had been bought, Mr. Newberry and all his agents were as vigorous in their denials as Chairman Hays and Treasurer Upham now are. They said the charges were preposterous. They threatened counter-exposure. They made light of indictments and sneered at the law. Yet Senator Newberry and sixteen others were found guilty of criminal conspiracy, and the judge who sentenced them said: "If such conditions are to be endured the hopes and aspirations of every man for political preferment must be measured by the size of his pocketbook."

At the trial it was shown that to Newberryize Michigan, money was distributed lavishly not only in regular party channels but through private organizations, churches and class publication. Fifty-dollar bills were placed in books which were given to the judges and jury members, and those who asked for them. In one instance a litigant was coerced by the threat of an adverse court decision. Money was spent to develop regular democratic opposition to Ford. The defense finally admitted the expenditure of $175,000, but good judges estimated the cost of Newberry's campaign at from $500,000 to $1,000,000.

When Michigan was Newberryized the state was divided at party headquarters and funds apportioned according to the assumed needs of each locality. This corresponds with the quota system now practiced by the republican national committee for the collection of the millions to be spent for the election of Senator Harding. In 1918 the county and district committees of Michigan were asked by Newberry's managers to make their official reports of receipts and expenditures one-tenth of the actual amounts. That is about the proportion of their quotas which in some cases young Mr. Hays' agents are willing to admit this year.

The United States senate has been Newberryized. The league of nations has been Newberryized. The treaty of peace has been Newberryized. By reason of our continuance in a state of war, with most of the war laws still in force, the industrial, economic and judicial systems of the country have been Newberryized. The presidency only remains, is that also to be Newberryized?—New York World.

THE LEAGUE AT WORK

Senator Harding pronounces the league of nations "a failure and a wreck beyond the possibility of repair," and Senator Lodge characterizes it as "a battered hulk."

What are the facts? 1. The league of nations is now composed of thirty-nine member nations, representing seven-eighths of the people of the globe. Practically all the nations of the world have joined except United States, Russia, Mexico and the ex-enemy countries. It seems probable that Germany and Austria will be admitted at the meeting of the assembly of the league to be held at Geneva in November. It is significant that the Germans participated fully at the International Seamen's Conference of the league at Genoa, and not only the Germans but the Austrians, Hungarians and Bulgarians have been invited to the International Financial Conference of the league at Brussels on September 24.

2. The range of the league's work may be indicated by the following schedule of its meetings: Parenthetically, it should be noted that the league's policy is to hold its meetings in as many different countries as possible. The council of the league has held sessions in London, Paris, Rome, and San Sebastian; the International Labor conference of the league met at Washington; the International Seamen's conference at Genoa, the Jurist's Advisory committee at The Hague, the International Health conference at London, the International Paris and Waterways conference at Paris, the Armaments commission at San Sebastian. The financial conference will soon meet at Brussels and the Transit conference at Barcelona.

3. The Armaments commission of the league (provided for by Article IX of the covenant) has been organized and is now at work on the beginnings of a plan of universal disarmament for submission to the nations of the world. Obviously, the United States is not represented on this commission.

4. A permanent Mandates commission has been appointed, as provided for in article XXII of the covenant, to supervise the administration of the territories and peoples freed from German and Turkish rule. The application of this new principle is vitally important to us, not only from the standpoint of freedom of trade for American commerce, but still more from the standpoint of establishing a system of justice which will prevent backward countries from being the tinderbox of future wars.

5. The plans for a permanent Court of International Justice have been completed and are ready for submission to the assembly of the league at its meeting in November. Mr. Root served as a member of this particular subdivision of the league's activity.

6. The council will place before the assembly in November the proposal for a joint committee to work out the plans and principles of economic blockade, financial, judicial guarantee of world peace and the greatest restraint on a bandit nation that the countries of the world have ever agreed to put into effect. Unless the United States is a member of the league it cannot join in forging this powerful weapon.

7. The Financial conference called the league of nations for the last of this month is the most important international gathering since the conference of Versailles. The league has brought together a mass of information on world economic matters such as has never been available before, covering such subjects as international finance, credits, currency, exchange, etc. At this conference, which touches the interest and well-being of every nation of the world, the United States will not be officially represented.

8. Single-handed in Poland, with funds provided by its members, the league is fighting the typhus epidemic, doing its best to keep back from the rest of the world the flood of this fearful scourge. The estimated cost of this work is $15,000,000. The United States has no part in the financing.

9. The league is understanding the task of repatriating the half million prisoners of war—Russians, Germans, Poles, Hungarians, Rumanians, etc.—who, due to lack of transit facilities, are still held in enemy countries. It is estimated that 100,000 of these men will be returned to their homes before Christmas.

10. The league has established an International Health office, a bureau to fight the international exploitation of opium and other drugs, and a division to suppress the international trade in women and girls.

These points represent the main activities of the league in the seven months of its existence. It is far from "er ecund" as they now do. And then, in days of yore, real salesmanship will count and half of the knights of the grip now on the road will be back on grand-dad's farm hoeing potatoes—for that is where they belong. Yes, we saw a couple of their kind in Plattsmouth today. Talk about inspiration, we could write a column in this subject.

A SLIGHT FALL-OFF IN PRICES.

From Thursday's Daily.

Quotations on staple food stuffs have shown considerable break during the past few days, which distinguishes the market from the ultimate consumer, who, like Jones, "pays the freight." Sugar has shown a prolonged and steady decline, and it sure tickles us almost to death to pick up the paper and read which one "sweet stuff" baron stands to lose a few million because of the drop. A decrease of a nickel a pound in the price of coffee also means, we hope, that a few other "get-rich-quick" guys stand to drop a few of their ill-gotten dollars. The only way to force prices down, as this writer has always maintained, and its an economic problem age-old in application, is to lay off buying. Perhaps the time will again come when salesmen from the wholesale centers will vie with each other for orders, instead of walking in, stating the price, and maintaining a "take-it-or-leave-it-alone" attitude as they now do.

And then, in days of yore, real salesmanship will count and half of the knights of the grip now on the road will be back on grand-dad's farm hoeing potatoes—for that is where they belong. Yes, we saw a couple of their kind in Plattsmouth today. Talk about inspiration, we could write a column in this subject.

EMIL BORNEMEIER SLIPS AND BREAKS ONE OF HIS SLATS

From Friday's Daily.

Emil Bornemeier has been holding ground rather slow like for a few days. On Friday he was cleaning the drain pipe in the basement of his fine county home and water had escaped on the cement floor making it rather slick and in the process of his work in some manner he slipped and fell with a lot of force striking on his side a large jar with the result that one of his ribs was broken. The doctor was needed to patch him up and he will be a week or so layed on the shelf so to speak, but he is thanking his lucky star that matters are no worse than they are.—Elmwood Leader-Echo.

PURCHASES HOME IN CITY

From Friday's Daily.

The deal has just been closed by the real estate firm of J. P. Falter & Son whereby the residence of Mrs. Frederick Engelkemier in the north part of the city has been sold to E. Grant Wetkamp of Myard. The consideration of the property was $6,500. This is one of the most pleasant homes in the second ward and was formerly owned by C. W. Baylor, prior to the removal of his family to Colorado. The residence is well situated and thoroughly modern in every respect.

RESIDENCE FOR SALE

The commodious brick residence in Plattsmouth known as the Weckbach-Walker home located at 4th and Oak streets. This property is the last of the best down town properties that are no worse than a reasonable price. Only half block from post office, library, court house and shopping districts. About four fine lots, is high, sunny and sanitary, fine shade and lawn, good well, cistern, city water, has good barn, partly modern, polished oak floor in living room. The place needs some repair, will make splendid home for retiring farmer or any one desiring a substantial investment or high class residence property. Out-of-town owners of this property have requested me to dispose of it at once. I will therefore offer it for about one-fourth of its actual replacement value.

L. C. SHARP MFG. CO., Plattsmouth, Neb.

CHANGING AROUND

From Thursday's Daily.

J. R. Stine has just completed the deal for the purchase of the Lorenz residence coterminous with North 8th street while A. H. Shindelower, who has been living in the property has secured the residence of Mr. Stine on west Main street. The change in ownership will be made at once and the new owners take possession of their property.

A Grateful Letter

It is in trying conditions like that related below by Mrs. George L. North of Naples, N. Y., that proves the worth of Chamberlain's Cough and Diarrhoea Remedy. "Two years ago last summer," she says, "our little boy had dysentery. At that time we were living in the country eight miles from a doctor. Our son was taken ill suddenly and was about the sickest child I ever saw. He was in terrible pain all the time and passed from one convulsion into another. I sent my husband for a doctor and after he was gone thought of a bottle of Chamberlain's Cough and Diarrhoea Remedy in the cupboard. I gave him some of it and he began to improve at once. By the time the doctor arrived he was out of danger."

Victor Sherwood and wife departed this morning for Omaha, where they will visit over Sunday with relatives and friends.

Chronic Catarrh

Our manner of living makes us very susceptible to colds and a succession of colds causes chronic catarrh, a loathsome disease with which it is estimated that ninety-five per cent of our adult population are afflicted. If you would avoid chronic catarrh you must avoid colds or having contracted a cold, get rid of it as quickly as possible. Chamberlain's Cough Remedy is highly recommended as a cure for colds and can be depended upon.

Ben Windham, who is engaged in traveling through South Dakota in the interests of the Henry R. Gering Co., of Omaha, came down last evening for a short visit here with his father and other relatives and friends.
