MARRIED IN LOS ANGELES THURSDAY

PLATTSMOUTH YOUNG MAN AND OMAHA YOUNG LADY REPEAT LIFE VOWS.

HENRY A. EGENBERGER WEDS

Message to Mother Here Supplemented by Letter—At Home in the Metropolis Nov. 15th.

From Monday's Daily.

Henry A. Egenberger, who was born in Plattsmouth and lived here most of his life, being away only while at school and during the past four years, when he has been employed by the Nebraska Telephone company as draftsman in their Omaha office, is married.

Telegraphic announcement of the wedding of this popular young man has been received by his mother, Mrs. L. B. Egenberger.

The wedding occurred at St. Patrick's Roman Catholic church in Los Angeles, California, last Thursday, September 10th.

The bride is Miss Catherine Dorsey, of Omaha, who has been visiting in the west for some time and was joined there by the groom.

Since the arrival of the telegram, Mrs. Egenberger has also received a letter from the happy couple giving particulars of the wedding and stating they were having an excellent time sightseeing.

The newlyweds will remain in the west for a month or more, and upon their return will be at home to their friends in Omaha after November 15th.

The groom has a responsible position, with some half dozen assistants, and his work is most pleasing to his employees of the past four years. The bride is known to a few Plattsmouth people as being a most charming young woman, and one well qualified to preside over a home of her own.

The Journal joins with friends of this popular young couple in extending congratulations and trusts that their journey through life may be one of health, happiness and prosperity, as well as useful service to mankind.

SAD DEATH OF MRS. WAYNE DICKSON

Mrs. Wayne Dickson, Formerly Miss Cleo Applegate Dies at Home of Mother Last Saturday

Mrs. Wayne Dickson, nee Miss Cleo Applegate of Lincoln, died at the home which she and her mother, Mrs. Ida Applegate have maintained at Lincoln during the summer, she having with her the little daughter, Louise, five years of age, have maintained since last spring. Mrs. Dickson will be remembered as the wife of Wayne Dickson, who died in Omaha on January 27th and whose remains rest in the Oak Hill cemetery west of town. Mrs. Dickson has not been in the best of health for some time, but the immediate cause of death was due to the rupture of a blood vessel, she departing life at Lincoln last Saturday evening about seven o'clock. Mrs. Dickson had many friends in this city and throughout the county who mourn her death, she having lived during her youth at Union and was a teacher of much ability in the public schools in Plattsmouth before her marriage to Wayne Dickson, and lived in this city for some time before the business which was demanding the energies of her husband called them to Omaha to make their home. The funeral will be in Plattsmouth and the last resting place of all that is mortal of this excellent woman will be beside her husband in Oak Hill cemetery.

As to the time of the funeral services nothing is known but will be published later.

MEETS WITH SERIOUS ACCIDENT

From Monday's Daily.

Uncle Simon Grueber, who makes his home between Union and Nebraska and who has been in a hospital at Nebraska City for several weeks where he has been receiving treatment, was being brought to his home in a taxi yesterday morning, when from some cause the car went into the ditch, precipitating the driver and Mr. Grueber into the depression with the wreckage of the car and mangled him badly. The right ear was severed while a very severe gash was cut in his right thigh. He was taken to the home of Chris Madison, which is near Wyoming and a physician called immediately, who dressed the injuries of the pioneer citizen, who is feeling very much broken up and suffering much pain. He was later taken to his home which is some seven or eight miles away. Mr. Grueber is still suffering much from the effects of the accident.

ATTEND FUNERAL OF RELATIVE

This morning Charles McGuire and wife departed on the early train for Omaha, where they were called by the death of Henry Schlitz of that place who was stricken with paralysis, a few days ago and after a short time died. Mr. Schlitz is uncle to Wm. Becker, a prominent dentist of that place, and husband of the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. McGuire, formerly being Miss Mary McGuire. They will be away for a number of days.

CASS COUNTY FAMILIES VISIT IN NORTH

John Wehrlein and Will Rummell Families Motor to Northern Nebraska Last Week.

From Monday's Daily.

Having the bulk of their farm work well along, John F. Wehrlein and wife and Will Rummell and wife started a week ago Saturday for the northern part of the state, where a large number of former Plattsmouth and Cass county people reside. They could not have selected a better time for the trip, as the country all the way from here to the South Dakota line was a veritable garden filled with bountiful crops such as only Nebraska can produce.

Even the Cass county spring chickens could not excel those of the north in deliciousness.

Their first stop was at Plainview, where they saw many former Cass county people and were so surrounded by friends that they could scarcely realize they were out of their home vicinity. They found Fred Ebingler, Fred Weidman and Hans Goos all engaged in business in the promising little city of Plainview, and each doing well. They also met and visited at the homes of Henry Fetter, Jacob Horn, Mitchell, Henry and Louis Hoffard, John Weber and John and Phillip Schaefer, as well as Emil Hartscock of that vicinity and John Hooper, of Arcadia. They describe the homes of these men as being the best, and say that they have prospered beyond measure.

They found the country very productive this year, with bountiful crops everywhere en route. The cool evenings made the trip a pleasure, although on one or two occasions the nights were a bit too cool and a fear of frost was expressed. Luckily it has not yet materialized and all hope the crops will get to a safety point before a freeze comes.

ARE RETURNING HOME

From Tuesday's Daily.

This morning Henry Kauble and wife, a bride of some two weeks, departed for their home at Scottsbluffs, where Mr. Kauble is engaged in the laundry business.

About a week ago Mr. Henry Kauble, formerly of Plattsmouth but more recently of Scottsbluffs, who is well known by a host of friends in this city, was united in marriage with Miss Carl Spurgin of Scottsbluffs. They came in an auto from that city to Plattsmouth on their wedding trip and were for a few days the guests of friends in this city. It was not until their departure that the fact of their marriage became known to the public. They departed this morning for their home in the west. The Journal, with the host of friends of this most excellent young couple, extend their greetings and best wishes, hoping that in the battle of life that this new wedded young man and woman, may be blessed with happiness and prosperity and that their's may be the privilege of being of service in a genuine and best manner to all with whom they may meet.

EX-SANDLOTTER HERE PITCHES IN OMAHA

Stimpson Hurler Part of Game for Armours Yesterday—Defeated by a 9 to 0 Score.

From Monday's Daily.

The Monarchs, crack negro team of Kansas City, had little trouble in winning a double header in Omaha yesterday afternoon from the Armours, taking the first game 9 to 0, and the second 11 to 5.

Part of the first contest was pitched by Stimpson, former Plattsmouth sandlotter who migrated to South Dakota early this season, but was released several weeks ago. Stimpson went in to relieve Babe, but was unable to effectively check the onslaught of the "smokes." In the second game, Madden, a former Murphy-Did-It hurler was opposed by Donaldson, famous colored twirler of big league ability. The Monarchs also won the Saturday afternoon game against Andy Graves, by a score of 6 to 1, after it had remained 1 to 1 up to the first half of the ninth, thus winning the series in three straight.

NARROWNESS OF ROAD CAUSE OF COLLISION

CARS OF CARL OHLSCHLAGER AND W. F. NOLTING COME TOGETHER SUNDAY.

BOTH CARS BADLY WRECKED

Inability to See Narrow Place at Bottom of Hill Responsible—No One Injured.

From Monday's Daily.

Yesterday morning while Carl Ohlschlager, make-up man in the Journal composing rooms, while out riding in his Cadillac roadster, accompanied by a Mr. Henderson, met with an accident at the foot of the hill just west of the L. L. Wiles farm, which although it was the cause of damaging two perfectly good cars, was lucky inasmuch as it was not attendant by loss of life or personal injuries.

Mr. Ohlschlager and companion had been viewing the country and were driving at a moderate rate of speed, and as they were descending the hill, hidden from vision by the overhanging branches of trees along the roadway, a culvert and narrow place in the road could not be seen until they were right up to it. It so happened that at the same time, coming from the east was the car of W. F. Nolting, occupied by himself and family.

When the drivers were able to get an unobstructed view of the road and note its impassability, the cars were but a short distance apart and to stop short of a collision was impossible. On the other hand, the narrowness of the highway precluded possibility of passing without one or the other of the cars going into the deep ditch. The lesser danger seemed to be in a head-on collision, and although the brakes were used effectively the cars came together with considerable impact.

Both cars were large ones, the one driven by Mr. Ohlschlager being a Cadillac roadster and that of Mr. Nolting a Willys-Knight. Both cars were both badly wrecked and will require the expenditure of many dollars to place them in serviceable condition again. Had either or both drivers been traveling at a high rate of speed, the inevitable result would have been a terrific pile-up, resulting undoubtedly in loss of life, and in view of the circumstances, the occupants of both machines can consider themselves lucky in this respect.

It looks as though there might be a damage claim filed against the county for recovery for permitting such a place to remain in the public highway. The losers in this accident both feel that they were in no way to blame for the collision and attendant losses which they sustained.

The cars have been taken to the garage for repairs, but just what steps will be taken in this direction has not been determined.

GOES SOUTH TO ENJOY RECREATION

Frank Smith, Journal Reporter, Departed Saturday Night to Visit Mother in Missouri.

From Monday's Daily.

Frank H. Smith, reporter for the daily Journal, departed on Saturday night for Pittsburg, Mo., where he will spend a week at the home of his mother, Mrs. Claude Everett, in the pleasant hills of the Ozarks, there to eat of the peaches and other fine fruits and enjoy life in its closeness to nature.

Mr. Smith has labored unceasingly since his return from the army more than a year ago, and the brief respite from his work will be most heartily enjoyed. Upon his return a fortnight later he will again take up his work as city editor of the Daily Journal.

During the absence of Mr. Smith from the staff, Mr. B. Briggs, manager for the Semi-Weekly Journal is looking after the gathering of news, a position he is eminently qualified to fill through long years of service in this line of work.

RAY RUMMELL VISITING HERE

From Monday's Daily.

Mr. Ray Rummell of Beaver City, and a son of Mr. and Mrs. Jacob Rummell, formerly of this place, having moved to the west when about six years of age, is visiting in Plattsmouth and vicinity and the guest at the home of Emil Rummell west of town. Mr. Rummell likes this country fine and also has much to say of the land of his adoption the western portion of Nebraska, while like the east, has an abundant crop of everything which grows this year. Mr. Rummell will remain for some time yet. He drove his car through in order to get the utmost pleasure out of the trip and to see the country.

LOUISVILLE WINS A CLOSE BALL GAME

TOOK OUR NOBLE RED SOX INTO CAMP BY A SCORE OF ONE TO NOTHING SUNDAY

ENJOYED BY A LARGE CROWD

Who Were Satisfied and Thought They Had the Worth of Their Money and Then Some.

From Monday's Daily.

At the appointed hour yesterday afternoon the game between Louisville and the Plattsmouth Red Sox was called, with both teams confident of victory. The weather was such that no one could complain the grounds were in perfect condition.

At the opening of the game it was difficult to find an ump, and some one who had accompanied the visitors was placed in the judge's position, but his knowledge like our own, was meagre, and when in doubt like Sancho Pansa, he leaned. The general opinion of all the crowd was so pronouncedly adverse to his rendition that his services were dispensed with and "Jack" was asked to officiate. He made an excellent umpire, both for the visitors and for the home team.

Gobelman, who was first to bat, swatted the ball on his third strike, and got as far as second, but Salsburg, Koop and Ossenkop all failed on first bag, and he got no further. For the Red Sox Christie got as far as first, while Herold, Fenwick and Smith failed.

Nothing was accomplished until the sixth inning, when Wagener, of the visiting team from up the river, was able to record the only run of the game. Koop was at third, but otherwise the record of the visitors was like that of a poultryman going to market with his basket.

With our team Herold and Connors saw third once, and Christie was swatted a couple of times. But seven of the visitors were able to get to first while eleven home team men were accorded the privilege.

A couple of times it looked like there was a sure winning in store for the home team, but the "human element" was not equal to the occasion and the game ended with the score 1 to 0.

The line up of the respective teams was as follows: Red Sox—Herold, 3b; Fenwick, 1b; Christie, 2b; Smith, 1b; Rockwell, ss; O'Donnell, cf; Grassman, rf; John Wolfe, c; Connors, pitch. Louisville—Gobelman, 2b; Salsburg, ss; Koop, 1b; Ossenkop, c; Meisinger, p; Noyes, rf; Snyder, 2b; Drake, 1b; Wagener, cf.

MEETS WITH SERIOUS ACCIDENT

From Monday's Daily.

Yesterday when J. H. Burton went to the elevator at Murray, where he is employed, to wind the clock, the driveway being closed making the place in semi darkness, Mr. Burton, while knowing the existence of a hole which led into the dump, stepped therein, breaking his leg below the knee. Mr. Burton while in extreme pain crawled out of the hole and dragged himself out of the elevator, so that his cries for assistance were heard. Mr. C. J. Tilson hearing his calls for help hastened to his assistance and securing help and a means of conveyance, had the unfortunate man taken to the office of Dr. G. H. Gilmore, where the fracture was reduced and while the patient was excruciating, Mr. Burton bore it manfully and after the ordeal of replacing the fractured parts and the dressing was done, the pain subsided somewhat but still gave much grief. It is very unfortunate that he should meet this accident as he is compelled to work every day and can ill afford the idleness as well as the attendant suffering.

GAVE EXTRA-ORDINARY COMPARISON HERE

MESSRS. COLLINS AND HARLAN SANG IN UNISON WITH A "NEW EDISON."

A VERY INTERESTING RECITAL

Replete with Sensations—Climax of Which Came with Darkening of the Theatre.

From Tuesday's Daily.

"A miracle concert" was the recital at the Parmele theatre last evening by Collins and Harlan, the well known Metropolitan favorite entertainers. Not two voices, but four sang to the spellbound audience. This phenomenon was accomplished by means of a graceful cabinet which stood on the stage beside the artists and matched their performances, note by note, and tone for tone.

Mr. Harlan sang the initial number on the program. In the midst of the number, his lips ceased to move, but the song went on. Slowly it dawned on the astonished audience that the artist was no longer singing, though his voice came forth to them as clear and sweet as before.

Again he sang, and the audience once again knew it was the living Mr. Harlan, because of the motion of his lips. His lips ceased—but his voice continued. The same magical effect was obtained when Mr. Collins sang and also in the duets which the artists sang together. The tones which came from the New Edison matched those from the living artists so perfectly that it was impossible to detect any tonal difference. The instrument produced not an echo or copy but the real thing—Collins' and Harlan's voices, unaided by any mechanical transformation; unspoiled by any metallic ring.

The instrumental recreation was as perfect as that of Collins' and Harlan's delightful voices. The recreation was absolutely identical with the original in every particular. Further numbers, in which Collins and Harlan performed with themselves impressed the conviction of one's inability to distinguish between recreated art and its original.

The climax of the "Miracle concert" came with the darkening of the room during one of Mr. Collins' selections. The audience depended upon its powers of hearing alone in determining whether his voice came in double volume or only from the New Edison.

At first every one doubted his own ability to judge, but as their previous proofs were forgotten in the spell of the song, they became more and more convinced that no instrument could sing as this voice sang, and that Mr. Collins was making no more pauses in his singing. Suddenly the lights were snapped on. The audience was astonished to discover that Mr. Collins was not on the stage and that the New Edison had furnished the song alone.

It was as though two voices with the same tone-quality, the same expression, the same timbre, were singing together. The effect was somehow unreal and weird, as though one artist had been bearded into two by some magician's art.

Through the efforts of the firm of Weyrich & Hadraba, local representatives of the Edison phonograph, this musical treat was made possible for the residents of the community and the result speaks wonders for the instrument they have placed within the reach of all, and which affords a concert of the world's best music, rendered by the world's best artists, every hour.

VISITING RELATIVES HERE AFTER A LONG ABSENCE

From Thursday's Daily.

This morning Mrs. Charles Hassman and her daughter, Miss Ellen of Yaquina, Oregon, where they have made their home since leaving Plattsmouth a number of years ago, arrived in this city via the Missouri Pacific this morning and are the guests at the home of Mr. Hassman's sister, Mrs. J. W. Swanson, living on south 10th street.

It will be remembered that Mr. Hassman was a salesman in the Dovey Department stores in this city for a number of years and with the family departed for the west years ago. Mrs. Hassman and daughter in conversation with a representative of this paper had to say that they were making their home on a farm near the city of Yaquina, where they have abundant crops and that their wheat and potatoes are something great in the production and character of the crops. They are making their home next to Chris Christensen, who is also well known in this city, having been an employe of the Burlington for many years and worked in the blacksmith department. Mr. Christensen has an elegant farm and one of the finest dairy herds on the Pacific Coast. Mr. Christensen and wife will be remembered as an excellent couple and have many friends here. It is with pleasure that the Journal has to record the successes of these former estimable citizens of Plattsmouth.

PURCHASE NEW CARS

From Tuesday's Daily.

We are able to chronicle the purchase of two new Sedan model Fords within the past few days, one going to Miss Mabel E. White and the other being purchased by Elmer E. Taylor. The cars were purchased through the F. H. Pollock Auto company and will undoubtedly give their new owners long and useful service.

RECEIVING BOARD ONLY TO OFFICIATE

If Advance Interest is Any Indication, It Won't Take Long to County the Ballots.

Information given out relative to the coming election of September 21, when amendments to the constitution will be voted on, discloses the fact that only one board will be on duty at each of the polling places, and that the receiving board. This means the members of this board will also be charged with the counting of the ballots, which task may not prove so big as it looks however, on account of the apparent lack of interest in the amendments.

A few nights ago Hon. E. M. Pollard spoke to a mere handful of voters from the court house lawn, when the ends of good government every voter should study and familiarize himself with these amendments and then go to the polls on September 21st and vote for the good ones and against the bad ones.

CORN IS SURE RIPENING

To the one who feels a shiver crawling up his back bone when he thinks of the frost catching the corn before it shall ripen, we have to say that there never was a crop of corn ruined when there was no one who did not fear that something would happen.

Have a little bit of faith, God, who makes the sunshine, the balmy winds, the showers and fits so nicely the elements to the bringing forth the fertile soil, the well matured crops is doing his part, do not fear that all we have to do is to do our portion and the land will blossom and bear fruit like the Valley of the Nile. The corn is going to ripen, do not for a moment fear that a few roasting ears may get nipped, but the great bulk of the crop will be saved.

AMERICAN LEGION TO GIVE A DANCE SATURDAY NIGHT

The dance committee of the American Legion has completed arrangements for the giving of a dance Saturday night at Coates hall to music furnished by the Eagles orchestra. The addition of a new xylophone to the instrumentation of the orchestra has greatly improved the music, and the boys put up a brand of jazz harmony that is hard to beat.

The Legion is slowly collecting funds with which to outfit a new club home, and hopes to increase its balance materially through the medium of frequent dances throughout the fall and winter.

EXCELLENT WOMAN LAID TO REST HERE

MORTAL REMAINS OF LATE MRS. WAYNE DICKSON BURIED THIS AFTERNOON

LAST SERVICE THIS AFTERNOON

Remains Arrive From Lincoln on Burlington Train, Sermon by Rev. H. G. McClusky.

From Tuesday's Daily.

The remains of Mrs. Wayne Dickson, whose death there was a notice in yesterday's paper, arrived at the Burlington station about one o'clock and from there the funeral cortege proceeded to the First Presbyterian church where the last sad rites were celebrated over her mortal remains. The service was conducted by the Rev. H. G. McClusky, pastor of the church here, who in a very pleasing manner told of the excellent qualities of character possessed by this the bravest of women. Mrs. Dickson, who knowing for some time that the last days were rapidly approaching, held with a firm faith to the promise of the Master, that "I will never forsake you", was ready when the call came to come up higher. For some six hours before the end came she and all friends knew of the approach of the death messenger. The sympathizing friends, here with quiet means extended to the bereaved friends their true heartfelt sympathy and it was received with that true friendship which is a genuine and beautiful befitting of the friendship and respect in all its purity extended to the one departed as well as a token to the friends remaining. The remains were placed in the quiet cemetery at Oak Hill besides those of her late husband who has so few short months preceded the wife to the other world.

SCHMADER TO FIGHT LAMSON IN OMAHA

Cass County Heavyweight Signs for Ten Rounds with Indian—To be Staged Monday Night

From Tuesday's Daily.

Andy Schmader, of Louisville, ex-heavyweight champion of the U. S., has signed to meet Lamson at the Omaha auditorium on next Monday night, under the promotion of Jack Lewis. For some reason the bout is not being staged by the Omaha Legion post as was at first contemplated. Schmader lost a decision to Lamson at Walthill on July 4th last, but has won the right to again meet the Indian by defeating Alexander and O'Kellar.

Schmader's Cass county friends believe he can put the Indian out, but admit it will be a fight for the start to finish. Since last meeting Lamson Andy has been undergoing intensive training under tutorage of Kid Graves of Omaha, former lightweight title holder and is considered in much better shape than when he entered the squared ring at Walthill on July 4th, fresh from the corn field.

It is quite probable a number from here will attend, especially if the roads are good.
