That "Saving" Habit

Saving is a matter of habit. And the habit grows, just like the savings.

To acquire the habit when young with small sums is to practice the habit when older with larger sums.

So encourage the little fellows to start a savings account with us at once, and watch the habit grow.

CELEBRATES 1ST ANNIVERSARY

At the home of Mr. and Mrs. Otto Puls, living just northwest of Murray, was celebrated last Sunday at their home the first anniversary of the birth of their son Joseph Puls who was one year old on September 12th.

There were gathered to celebrate the passing of the first milestone, some seventy of the relatives and friends of this young man. A sumptuous dinner was served at the noon hour and one of the very pronouncedly popular features of the occasion was the birthday cake, which contained just one little white candle. Fortunate indeed were those who secured a piece of this delicious cake.

Besides the celebration of the passing of the first milestone of little Joseph Puls, was the friendly sociability of the large circle of friends who gathered for the occasion. Among those who were present were the following: Messrs and Mesdames W. H. Puls and family, L. H. Puls and family, Wm. Gets His Tires After Months

On April first, Robert Good was struck by a Missouri Pacific train near Nebraska City and was badly injured, as well as his truck being demolished. He was taken to Nebraska City for treatment and some miscellaneous work. The tires from the wrecked truck, while Mr. Good knew the tires were gone and that he had an excellent idea where they were it was not until last Tuesday that he was so as to go and get his property.

Mr. Joseph Campbell was well pleased with the present view of the west and their excellent crops. He tells of some places where the crops were injured by hail.

Returns From the West.

Glen Perry and wife, who have been viewing the west by auto, visiting at the many noted places in the mountains of Colorado for the past three weeks, returned home last Saturday, having had a very enjoyable trip.

They spent some time in Estes park, which is one of the noted places for the summer in Colorado, it being deliciously cool there when it is sweltering hot elsewhere. They found an excellent prospect for a corn crop even away out in the state and approaching the Colorado line, but the prospects at some places were marred by streaks where hail had cut the vegetation badly. With all the wonders of the west and the coolness of the mountains the home land looked very inviting as the wheeling of the auto wheels brought them nearer home. In fact the home looked the best of all the places which they visited.

Made Purchase of Car of Feeders

Last Monday W. G. Boedeker of the Murray State bank, and L. Puls of the Murray garage and A. Gansmer of the service store of Murray, and interested in a number of farms in this neighborhood, one of which he is conducting himself, were passengers to South Omaha, where they looked over the stockers with a view of the purchase of a few for feeding on the farm of Mr. Gansmer. After satisfying himself of the quality of the cattle offered Mr. Gansmer made the purchase of the same. He had an excellent car of cattle and had the same shipped to Murray and will put them on feed to be returned to the South Omaha market, at such a time as the prices and the cattle shall justify.

Departs for the West.

Starting today W. H. Puls, Fred Lutz, Cameron Cathey and Fred Meisinger departed for the west by auto and expect to remain for several days, perhaps a week or more. They will go to Imperial and Grant, having friends in both places. They will look over the country, but as to whether they make any purchase of the land depends upon how the country appeals to them.

Visiting in West.

Gust Splitt departed last Sunday from Platts-mouth for Imperial, where he went to look over the country and was accompanied by W. E. Rosen-crans and while there they will visit the home of Wm. Splitt, brother of Gust. Mr. Will Splitt, in the west, has prospered nicely during the past year, his wheat of which he had a large acreage, produced some forty bushels per acre.

D. Reed and family for a while and afterwards will proceed to St. Louis, where he will be the guest of another sister, Mrs. Robert Smith and family before returning home.

Are Getting in the Clear

Many of the farmers are getting ready for the immense crop of corn which is every day maturing and every day is getting nearer to the safety line when the first frost shall come. Searl Davis is having lumber hauled for the construction of additional crib room, and Wm. Seybold is also building him more room, as well as others. This looks like a wise action.

Will Construct a Dwelling

B. M. Chipe, living east of Murray, is the first for some time to get out of the woods and is arranging to have a new home constructed in the near future. He will have 125 acres donated by the competent workmen, J. A. Scott and Ralph Kennedy. The lumber is being purchased from the yard of Banning and Nickels. The dwelling will be one story and of a bungalow pattern and will be 24 by 28 feet in dimensions.

Confined to Their Beds.

J. W. Stones is reported by his physician as being confined to his bed with a case of sciatica, or rheumatism, which is attended with very excruciating pains.
Mrs. Grimes of near Union is also very sick with the same malady.

Son Has Arrived.

At the home of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Hill, near Murray, the stork last Friday brought a little American who is already calling Mr. Hill the "old man" and speaking of his mother in the tenderest terms. The mother, son and the father also are getting along nicely.

RE-CREATION CLAIM ABUNDANTLY PROVED

Artists at Parmele Monday Night Expelled Least Doubt of Impossibility of Test.

Probably a number of people who attended the recital given last Monday night by Collins and Harlan at the Parmele theatre were at first puzzled and disappointed when they discovered a phonograph cabinet occupying the center of the stage. They hardly were reassured when Mr. Reed appeared on the stage and commenced about "Re-Creations." It finally became apparent that the phonograph was at least to receive assistance from the singers, but even then the mental outlook was not exactly bright.

Mr. Reed explained that the purpose of the recital was to illustrate that Thomas A. Edison, after years of work had achieved his ideal of perfecting a musical instrument which would actually re-create music so that the recreation would be indistinguishable from the original.

This was a broad claim, but it was established before the evening was over, for the artists actually stood beside the new Edison phonograph and performed in unison with Mr. Edison's re-creation—so called. Their performances, this would have proved little as the artists might easily have overbalanced the tone of the instrument—swallowed it up—so to speak; but they did more—or, to be accurate, less. They paused from time to time, apparently at random and permitted the state-of-the-art performances to be heard alone.

This gave an opportunity to compare one with the other and it is not more than just to state that there was no discernible difference in tone quality. There must have been a slight difference in volume when the artists stopped singing or playing, but it was not noticeable for the tone which came from the cabinet was round and luscious with all of the vibrant pulsating quality of that which came directly from Collins and Harlan's throats. It was only by watching the singer's lips that one could be sure when they sang or played and when they did not.

This proof was convincing. If it were not, another proof was offered. After Mr. Collins had commenced to sing one number the lights were turned off—ostensibly so that the audience could not watch the singer's lips. It did not seem difficult to determine in the dark when the singer sang and when he did not. The writer was pretty sure about it himself until the lights were turned on again and it was discovered that the New Edison alone had been heard.
