

DEATH OF PIONEER RAILROAD OFFICER

Was for Many Years a Resident of Plattsmouth and in Service of Burlington Company.

Thomas H. Marsland, formerly general baggage master for the western division of the Burlington, died at his home in Olympia, Wash., October 1. Mr. Marsland celebrated his eighty-eighth birthday not long ago. He leaves a widow, five children and six grandchildren. His wife and two of the daughters, Miss Gertrude Marsland and Mrs. Chandler Sloan, were known to have been with him at the time of his death.

Mr. Marsland was in the employ of the Burlington for thirty-six years. Both he and his wife were born in England. His headquarters were in Plattsmouth for some years. About thirty years ago the family located their home in Lincoln at the corner of L and Twenty-eighth street, where the beauty of the grounds were a joy to other people long before the family moved to the Lincoln homes. The fine elms which now shade that corner were planted by Mr. Marsland.

Twelve or fifteen years ago Mr. Marsland resigned from the Burlington in order to carry out a cherished plan of making a home in a climate where the perfection of vegetation could be enjoyed. He bought ten acres of land on the shores of a small lake seven miles from Olympia, Wash., where he spent the years of his retirement in raising wonderful fruits. One daughter, Gertrude, remained at home unmarried. The other children are as follows:

Ethel, now Mrs. James Drain of Washington, D. C.; Herbert, who married Ruby Jones of Lincoln many years ago and now lives at Boston; Frances, the wife of James Huestes of Seattle; and Elma, wife of Chandler Sloan of New York city. Elma Marsland will be remembered as an accomplished musician and possessor of a soprano voice of beauty and power in her early married life at Portland, Ore., and later in the east, she attained musical prominence.

The grandchildren are the four daughters and one son of Mr. and Mrs. Drain and the daughter Judith, of Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Marsland. One of the granddaughters, Doris Drain, married in France during the war.

Mr. Marsland was the first general baggage agent for the Burlington & Missouri river railroad in Nebraska, and held the place for a number of years after the B. & M. had become the "lines west" of the C. B. & Q. system. He was one of the very early employees of the road in Nebraska, and for years had his headquarters in the depot building of the Burlington in Lincoln. After retiring from the service of the road he moved to the west.

Mr. Marsland made his home in Plattsmouth in the early seventies and while here was the station agent of the Burlington. He erected the residence on South Sixth street that was later occupied by Benjamin Elson and which at the time was one of the finest homes in the city. Mr. Marsland removed from this city to Lincoln where he made his home prior to moving west.

FUNERAL OF LOREN M'CRARY YESTERDAY

One of the Largest Ever Held in the City—Friends Gather to Pay
Respects to Departed.

The funeral of Loren McCrary was held yesterday afternoon from the late home on South Sixth street, and was one of the most largely attended that has been held in this city in many months. The deceased young man was very popular among his young associates in the city and they were present in large numbers at the funeral to pay their tribute to the memory of this splendid young man.

The wreath of floral remembrances spoke silently of the affection in which Loren had been held in this city where he had resided for the greater part of his lifetime.

Rev. A. V. Hunter, pastor of the First Methodist church, conducted the services giving to those who are left to mourn a sense of comfort in their hour of sorrow. A quartette composed of Rev. Hunter, Don C. York, Mrs. E. H. Westcott and Mrs. Mae S. Morgan sang "Jesus, Savior, Pilot Me" and "The Sweet Bye and Bye" during the services.

At the close of the services at the home, the cortege wended its way to Oak Hill cemetery, where the body was laid to rest in the family lot in that beautiful city of the silent.

CELEBRATES BIRTHDAY

Last evening the class mates of Miss Donice Vroman decided to assist that young lady in the proper observance of the 15th birthday anniversary and accordingly they visited the Vroman home and carried out a very successful surprise on their young friend. The time was passed very delightfully in games interspersed with music and which made the hours go on wings. During the evening the guests were treated to a very tempting luncheon, the table being very prettily arranged for the occasion with the large birthday cake and the glowing candles representing the years of life of the guest of honor occupying the center. Mrs. L. E. Vroman was assisted in serving by her daughter, Mrs. Winnie Grebe of Portland, Oregon, who is enjoying a visit here with home folks. Those who were present were: Misses Marie Stokes, Jennie Pritch, Norine Wynn, Anna Harris, Leona Rummelfeld, Mary Warren, Catherine Harris, Helen Libershal and the guest of honor, Donice Vroman.

The session of the United States district court at Lincoln, Monday, was the scene of the fining of William Ossenkop, a merchant of Louisville, who had been indicted together with Marion Ray Murrill, H.
