It can't be done. Nor do we promise it. The man who responds to such a promise usually gets it the other way—NOTHING for something. That's expensive—also embarrassing.

We are willing to give you this something—in the way of suits, overcoats, and mackinaws—at REDUCED PRICES, however, and we will stand back of them as we do everything we sell.

Your fall suit is here waiting for you. Figure 20% off from the original ticket. This applies to every men's suit, mackinaw and overcoat in the house.

Many other items reduced, and as fast as the market warrants it, we will pass further reductions on to you.

STRONG FOR LEAGUE

Attorney D. O. Dwyer has a very reasonable and justified complaint to make of our great family and religious organ, in that last evening it was stated that Mr. Dwyer had spoken at the Methodist bible class against the league of nations. Now the real facts of the case is that Mr. Dwyer, far from being against the league is strong for it and as the great percentage of the believers in the theory of universal peace, he is advocating the league as it is at present with such reservations as may become necessary.

Mr. Dwyer certainly has the regrets of the Journal that the misrepresentation was made as he is strictly with the heart of humanity in the struggle for world freedom from the menace of war.

CASE PROVES A MOST INTERESTING ONE

TWO MEN ARRESTED HERE, HAD STRENUOUS TIME IN OMAHA UNDERWORLD.

The Omaha underworld has had for a short time a portion of their activities transferred to our little city and the authorities here have been hosts to several of the well known figures of the under half of the metropolis.

When the arrest was made here Saturday of James Allen for possession of liquor and also the apprehension of Tom Frost for passing a bad check the story of the Omaha underworld began to be revealed by the parties. Allen was fined $100 and costs and given until Thursday to cash in on his fine while Frost made good the amount of the check but was held here by Sheriff Quinton to await word from the Omaha authorities as to his activities there.

From the story told by Frost it seems that he and Allen as well as a man named Lee Harrower, were the participants in the well known game of "double cross" with a taxi driver named McCoy in Omaha as the goat of the affair. It seems that Harrower and McCoy had arranged to do a little liquor dispensing and drove in the car of Mr. McCoy who was working for the Drive-It-Yourself company, to South Omaha where a small quantity of liquor was produced and the parties decided to go to Blair and peddle the booze on Friday evening. In the meantime Harrower, Allen and Frost had arranged to stick up McCoy and secure the small amount of money that he had as well as the booze and the car. All went as per schedule and when Harrower and McCoy were driving near Fort Calhoun, Allen and Frost appeared and held up the party and relieved McCoy of $30 as well as taking over the booze and inviting him to alight from the car. They then pulled the gun on Harrower and ordered him to drive them back to Omaha.

Having disposed of McCoy the trio then secured a Studebaker car and abandoned the Drive-It-Yourself machine and decided to come to Plattsmouth for a little outing as the place looked good to the young men and they anticipated a real time with the car and the liquor they possessed. The party arrived here late Friday evening and enjoyed themselves "stepping" and joyriding for several hours and incidentally driving out into the country where the car ran out of gasoline and necessitated some of the party walking in to secure additional supplies.

Later in the game it was decided to replenish the funds of the party with the sale of the booze and it was in this act that Allen ran into Officer Alvin Jones with sad consequences to himself and Frost got in bad with a check given to the Pollock garage, but this was later settled to the satisfaction of all parties.

Harrower, who is apparently one of the leading figures in the mix up, returned to Omaha and is now being sought by the Omaha police as he is out on a $2,500 bail for burglary. Frost is still in jail here and members of the Omaha detective force will arrive today to take him back to Omaha. He has stated to the local authorities that he was approached on taking part in the robbery that was pulled off at the Empress theater on Sunday night but refused to aid in the affair and his knowledge may prove valuable in getting the matter sifted out.

It is stated that the three men were in the city last Wednesday, driving down in a Cadillac car they had picked up for the occasion and later returned.
