LABOR SECRETARY TODAY
Washington, D. C., Nov. 23.—The sub-committee of the United Mine Workers attempting to negotiate a new anthracite wage scale will confer with Secretary of Labor Wilson tomorrow. Thomas Kennedy of Hazleton, Pa., chairman of the miners' delegation, announced tonight.

The miners' representatives, he said, will ask the secretary to define the government's attitude toward the opening of the award of the anthracite commission, and state whether it was intended that the operators should consider demands from the hard coal diggers for wages equal to the 27 per cent advance recently granted the bituminous miners.

Until the government makes clear its position, Mr. Kennedy said, the present deadlock in negotiations could not be broken.

Our friend, James Murphy, is reported as being on the sick list, having been kept to his bed for a number of days past. We are in hopes that "Uncle James" will soon be able to be out again.

W. H. Frost recently purchased a Ford car from E. W. Thimman which he is using for service in connection with the lumber yard and also for service when he does not care to get the large out.

The large cottonwood trees which have graced the line along the lumber yard have been felled, and a different appearance has been given the place. Daniel Bourke was the workman who laid the ax at the foot of the giant cottonwoods.

Need Electric Lights Here.
Both robbers and lightning seem to seek the course of least resistance when they have an object to accomplish. Robbers entered and looted the business house of Theo Harms about a week ago, with the result of getting about $300 worth of goods. They backed their truck up to the store and loaded the goods in and then away. Electric lights burning over night would scare the culprits away or make it easier for them to accomplish their designs so that they might not miss things up like they have to do in the dark.

An Efficient Bunch.
The team of the Royal Neighbors of America, of Manley, are in excellent trim at this time, having been putting in a number of evenings in their drills, and will have some work to do in their own lodge as well as assisting other lodges in the neighborhood in putting on the work in a most exemplary manner.

Rev. Higgins and mother departed for the east to be present at the funeral of their cousin and niece, returning home last Friday evening. A complete account of the death will be given in a later issue.

Not the Same Bull.
The story goes that when the railroads were young and the motive power not so forceful, that a dinky engine of an eastern road tried to butt a bull off the track with disastrous results. Not knowing this, Lawrence Krecklow got into trouble in the same way the other night. He was sitting along the state highway going west, when he came over the top of a hill in his Ford. He encountered a herd of cattle belonging to Henry Rueter and one particularly obstreperous bull, roan in color and weighing a little less than a ton, who gave a sidelong glance and sauntered in front of the "dinky" engine. The result was that there was a collision in which the fenders of the car were crumpled up and the bull was a mass of belching beef in the road. The bull immediately arose and switching his tail over his back, let out a roar like the tracking of the day of doom, started home and never stopped until he had gotten into his own stall as the barn. Not so with the Ford. It was plitulent, and had to be coaxed some before it would run.

Frank Hiber, of Osceola, Nebraska, who was here over Thanksgiving visiting at the home of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. John Hiber, and with other relatives and friends, departed on the early Burlington train for Osceola to resume his work there in the drug store of Earl Hassler.

Attorneys C. H. Taylor and Harry O. Palmer of the law firm of Palmer, Taylor & Palmer, of Omaha, arrived in Plattsmouth this morning and are looking after some business matters at the court house, connected with a case in which they are interested as counsel.

L. F. Langhorst is home from the state of Colorado, where he has been enjoying ranch life. He will return again soon.

Quite a little interest was taken in the work of grading up the bad place in the road on Main street. The work was done by Harry Williams and Oscar Miller, using Harry's large Huber tractor.

Mr. and Mrs. C. C. Jackman went to University Place Friday to attend the services of the official recognition of the Senior class. Their son, Everett, is president of this class, composed of 49 members.

Rev. Scott is now home. The injuries to his face are very serious and ten stitches were required to close the wound. The accident will leave him in bad shape for some time. Mr. Scott's car was a total wreck. The owner of the car that hit Mr. Scott's lives near Dunbar.

Mrs. E. E. Thurman returned this week from a long trip to the Pacific coast and intermediate states. She visited many places of interest such as Cascade Pass, Mt. Baker, Camp of Clouds on Mt. Rainier, also in Idaho, Morton, Oregon, South Dakota and at York, Nebraska, now, Mrs. Thurman is visiting with her daughter, Mrs. Lemuel Parish and family, before coming home.

FARM BUREAU CAMPAIGN IN CASS COUNTY

KICKOFF MEETING AT WEEPING WATER MONDAY, DEC. 13—BIG GUNS THERE.

2,392 FARMERS IN COUNTY

Every Man will be Seen by Farm Bureau Organizers—Over One Million Members Now.

With farm products tumbling every day; with many farmers in the country getting in almost desperate circumstances, as a result of the rapid decline in farm products, thousands of farmers in Nebraska are coming to the aid of their more unfortunate brethren by joining in one big organization to work out a solution to the many problems that are now confronting them.

With these things in view, over ten thousand farmers have united themselves with the Nebraska Farm Bureau Federation during the past month. Never in the history of the organization increased in membership over the entire country, as it has during the past few months. To date there are over one million members in the United States, thirty-five states being organized and what the membership will be by the first of March is only guess work.

Cass County to Organize

Cass county is getting into line for the membership campaign which will be put on the week of December 13, according to County Agent L. R. Snipes, who has just returned from a trip over the country with K. F. Wilson, assistant secretary of the Nebraska Farm Bureau Federation, Lincoln.

Mr. Snipes is highly elated over the prospects and feels as though at least 85 per cent of the farmers of the county will come into the federation. The kickoff meeting will be held in Philpot hall, Weeping Water, on Monday. A meeting is called for nine o'clock in the morning for the captains and drivers in the seventeen precincts of the county, six drivers to each precinct. This meeting will be in charge of A. J. DeWald, who will have charge of the campaign in the county, and who will instruct the men as to their duties during the membership week.

Big Meeting in Afternoon
At noon a dinner will be served by the ladies of the Congregational church, after which the meeting will convene at the hall, at which time addresses will be made by W. K. Brokaw, of the Extension department of the State college; H. D. Lunte, secretary of the Nebraska Farm Bureau Federation, and others.

The Nebraska Farm Bureau is not the tool of any clique or party. It is not the puppet of any political organization. There is neither desire nor intent to antagonize or in any way interfere with the work or act of other organizations. It is a wonderful vision, hoping to establish farming on an equal basis with other lines of human endeavor and striving for a square deal for all.

The following well known farmers will have charge of the campaign as county captains in their respective precincts:

DRASTIC CHANGES IN ARMY CORRESPONDENCE

Washington, Nov. 25.—Changes described as "drastic" in the corresponding work of the army designed to save paper and eliminate unnecessary labor were announced today by Adjutant General Harris as having been approved by Secretary Baker.

Present army regulations require that all communications relative to personnel must be transmitted thru all intermediate officers to the officer who takes final action, and after such action is taken must go down the long line again.

The changes approved by Mr. Baker eliminate many of the intermediate officers and permit the use of stamped endorsements.
