By their presents ye shall know them. Shoot the man who said we were to have a mild winter.

The moonshine Christmas increases the grave digger's income. Some of our profiteers must have taken Santa Claus for a sucker.

Many a shabby coat covers an honest quart of moonshine these days. The boys are enjoying the coasting down high school hill of an evening.

Do your New Year's resolutions early. You'll break 'em the same way. Make a resolution now that you will try to have more money to spend next Christmas.

The Yanks would like to wind up that watch on the Rhine. It is getting monotonous. Wouldn't it be fine if the average boy could learn other things as easily as he learns cuss words?

The Irish leaders in this country keep on finding out new ways of losing friends for the cause. It is high time for the retailer to hurry along that great slump in agricultural prices to the consumer.

Murders are so common nowadays that the best they can hope for is one-line heads in the newspapers. A Pullman porter restored $1500 he found in a berth. Six months ago he would have thought it was a tip.

It has reached the point where Plattsmouth needs more housing facilities and fewer joy riding facilities. Lady Astor says that her fellow members in the House of Commons are a lot of old women. You tell 'em, sister.

Lemons and peanut oil are to be protected by a high tariff but we fail to see how that is going to make things better. The sincerity of congress in its declared desire to do something is equalled only by its ignorance of what to do.

Somewhat or other we suspect that the North Carolina man who is the father of 37 children does not believe in race suicide. Congress will do well to adopt the famous French motto. "They Shall Not Pass," and put it up at all immigration stations.

British troops captured Mad Mullah's five wives. Perhaps Mullah is no longer mad. The delusion still lingers that Santa Claus is an easy mark who made a lot of money out of the war.

Dad can go to the store and exchange his Christmas necktie if he wants to, but if he does, he's no sport. Listen, girls: One way to lose a husband's love is to leave your old corset draped over the back of a chair.

Having read Walter Camp's All-American team, we look forward now to Harding's All-American cabinet selections. The grimmest of blue law zealots of colonial days never sought to take the flavor out of mince pie and Christmas fruit cake.

Princess Christopher has a coronation gown with nine-foot train. Let's hope the Greek palace has switching facilities. In ancient days the gallant knight used to sing beneath his sweetheart's window. Now he simply toots the auto horn.

Our idea of an optimist is a woman who won't sell a second-hand baby carriage after it has been in the family several years. Just when it looked like clear sailing for the league of nations, a woman's organization asked for a ruling on international marriages.

A young chap in this town whose income is $50 per month took unto himself a bride the other day. They must expect to live on love. Unemployment is the greatest breeder of crime, and that is the chief reason of the great crime wave now sweeping over the country.

It is evidently from some trade superstition that the New York burglars have refrained from carrying off the Statue of Liberty up to this time. More than 27,000,000 persons voted in the recent presidential election. And a big majority of them didn't have sense enough to vote right.

Mr. Thomas A. Edison wants to do something that will bring him everlasting fame. He ought to invent a silk stocking with a seam that will set straight. Lenine says he is building a civilization that will be fully developed 100 years hence. But the starving millions in Russia can't afford to wait that long.

"Prince of Wales May Wed a Commoner," says a London cable. Well, it would be rather hard to find a commoner looking chap than the aforesaid Prince. There is not a man in America who does not break some law almost every day of the year. If the reformers have their way about it, all of us will soon be in jail.

What's this? The American army on the Rhine providing Christmas goodies for the children of the enemy? Well, what can be expected that that's just like an American army. In fond memory we go back to the days when the average girl's idea of daring was to wear a pair of red slippers. But nowadays the girls leave nothing whatever to the imagination.

Both Germany and China are complaining of hunger, but the reports say that there are plenty of things to drink in both countries. Some folks simply don't know when they are well off. Even if it wasn't the whitest Christmas in the world outside, one could wade to his knees in white, red and pink wrapping tissue by staying in the house.

The emperor of Japan once had a funeral that cost $100,000. But that's nothing. We have spent more than a billion dollars trying to funeralize John Barleycorn and he isn't dead yet. A London cable says that the looters in Belfast stood ankle deep in whisky and champagne during the great fire in Cork. Despite the imminent physical danger, it must have been a pleasant night.

Mrs. Helen Ring Robinson was elected to congress from Denver. She was a state senator when on the Ford Peace Expedition, and was about the ablest member of the party. Then she was registered as a democrat. No, Gwendoline, we believe that when Warren O. Harding said that he intended to confer with the best minds in the country, both democratic and republican, that he did not consider Willyum Jenny Bryan in the former class, regardless of what opinion he may have concerning Bryan's mentality in other respects.

In ancient days the gallant knight used to sing beneath his sweetheart's window. Now he simply toots the auto horn. Our idea of an optimist is a woman who won't sell a second-hand baby carriage after it has been in the family several years.

Just when it looked like clear sailing for the league of nations, a woman's organization asked for a ruling on international marriages. A young chap in this town whose income is $50 per month took unto himself a bride the other day. They must expect to live on love.

Unemployment is the greatest breeder of crime, and that is the chief reason of the great crime wave now sweeping over the country. It is evidently from some trade superstition that the New York burglars have refrained from carrying off the Statue of Liberty up to this time.

Needless Worry. The census bureau is fretting about the cook statistics. There are, according to the 1920 census, but 333,436 female cooks in the United States. Something like one cook for every three hundred persons. The bureau is worrying about the matter.

Indeed, so impressed was one census pessimist that he quotes: "We can live without poetry, music and art; We may live without conscience and live without heart; We may live without friends; we may live without books; But civilized man cannot live without cooks."

Of course he cannot live without cooks! Why should he? But there is no need of such a lot of fretting. What if the employment offices have a dearth of cooks? One may always get a good cook by the matrimonial route. The census bureau is all wrong. Instead of there being 333,436 female cooks in this country, there are several million, usually one in every house.

A Long Way To Drop. The break in prices promises a lower cost of living. This ought to tickle both the pay envelope and the dinner pail. But there's quite a distance between the high cost of living of, say, five years ago. The increase in the cost of food is best illustrated by showing the cost of the navy ration.

This year the ration has averaged 70 cents per man per day. During 1919 it was 55 cents. The year before it was 58 cents. At the beginning of 1915 it was 36 cents. If the cost of eating is to drop to the pre-war level it will have to do more tumbling than grocer's bills have shown the last few weeks.

Our Fire Traps. There were 10,210 persons burned to death in this country last year. There were 17,641 people seriously injured in fires. And of those who did or were injured 82 per cent were mothers and little children. And 92 per cent of all these fires that caused a financial loss of two millions of dollars a day were due to carelessness or neglect.

The facts come from figures just presented at the National Board of Fire Underwriters. And hidden away in the report it is stated $89 homes are being burned every day, at a loss of $289,000, the origin of 65 per cent of the fires being from trivial and preventable causes. dropped matches, lighted cigars and cigarettes, for instance.

Ah, here is a significant statement, worth all the time it takes to read this editorial, if folks will only act upon it: "Over 90 per cent of the school houses in the United States are without fire traps. No member of the board of education has done his duty until he has given every possible protection to the children entrusted to his care."

The National Board of Fire Underwriters, when its officials made that statement, had in mind a horrible school catastrophe. By a careful survey of school buildings throughout the country it is found that the lesson learned in the Collinwood school fire has already been forgotten. Boards of education are elected to take care of, and are made responsible for the educational system of our country, and the welfare of the pupil.

Forty-three people being burned to death each day is too many; 41 being injured through fires each day is also far too many; and if it is that on the 8th day of December, 1920, Harriet E. Wolfe, as plaintiff, filed her petition on the 1st day of February, or Cass County, Nebraska, and that you and each of you be parties defendant, in said matter may be granted to her by the court that she be entitled to and to the Court may seem meet.

Notice to Creditors. The State of Nebraska, Cass county, ss. In the County Court. In the matter of the estate of John Bergmann, deceased. You are hereby notified, that I will sit at the County Court in Plattsmouth, Nebraska, on the 10th day of January, A. D. 1921, and on the 11th day of April, A.
