

NOTES

from Retail Clothiers Convention, Omaha, Feb. 3:—

Ward Burgess says:

"We've reached the turning point. Even at these low prices Nebraska has 500 million dollars worth of products to dispose of. I see no reason for us to get the glooms. We received more orders one day this week than for any whole week between Oct. 10 and Jan. 15th."

Gerson L. Levi, of Philadelphia, says:

"There will be a scarcity of desirable merchandise. Deliveries for Spring will be slow and uncertain."

Jno. L. Cain, Prominent Banker, says:

"The money situation is much better. By the second quarter of 1921, we shall enter a substantial era of prosperity."

Henry R. Rissmen, of Chicago, says:

"Clothing is now selling at retail for less than it can be manufactured."

Henry P. Williams, of Chicago, says:

"The time has come for us to think prosperity, talk prosperity and work for it."

"You Can't Beat That Route for Scenery" said a much-traveled man, referring to the Burlington, Denver & Rio Grande and Western Pacific—that great central, scenic highway through Colorado and Salt Lake to California.

Folks just naturally want to see all they can when they travel. This service offers the biggest possible travel treat. The schedule was planned so that all the best scenery is passed in daylight.

It takes a little longer, but it costs no more. It is an ideal route — going, returning or both.

The wedding ceremony occurred at the early morning service and the nuptial mass was celebrated by Rev. Father M. A. LeRoy. The bride was attended by a number of relatives and close friends of the estimable young people.

The bride couple were attended by Mr. and Mrs. Louis Ezenberger, Jr., and the bride wore a very handsome costume of blue accented with white. Her hair was styled in a picture hat of brown and wearing a corsage bouquet of red roses, while the groom was attired in the conventional dark traveling suit.

Following the wedding the bridal party were entertained at a wedding breakfast at the home of the bride's mother, Mrs. Louis Spies in the west portion of the city, who was assisted by her daughter, Mrs. LeRoy Clinch of Havelock. The bridal couple departed on the early morning Burlington train for Omaha and from there they will go to Des Moines Iowa, for a short visit with friends and will return later to this city where they will be at home to their friends for the present at least.

The newly wedded young people are too well known to the residents of the city to require an extensive record of their wedding and they are being esteemed by a very large circle of warm friends who have, in the years gone by learned the true value of the splendid attributes of these two worthy young people. The bride is the eldest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Herman Spies and has lived in this city for her entire lifetime and graduated from the Plattsmouth schools and has since been very active in the circle of friends in which she moved. During the war Mr. Schuldice was in service in the engineering branch of the army and spent a year in service in France and since his return home has been in the employ of the Union Pacific at Omaha in the shops in that city.
