Mrs. V. A. Kennedy, who has been confined to her home for several weeks, is reported to be in a serious condition yet, but it is hoped that she will soon be on the road to recovery. Here They Are, Americans.

At the home of Ray Henry and wife there is happiness on account of the arrival of a son, who declares that he has found just the right place to live, as the parents are so rejoiced over his arrival that they say that if he had known that he would have been received with so much joy, he would have hurried his arrival. The other and son are doing nicely.

Sunday, February 20th, marked the arrival of one of the daintiest little blue-eyed girls that one might wish to see, at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Eugene Fitch. The father is in ecstasy of joy and the mother is very well pleased. We are hoping that these three little Americans may be blessings to their parents in the years to come and that they may also be of service to the world into which they have come so suddenly, and bless all who they may know, as well as having prosperity themselves.

Ladies Aid Held Meeting.

The ladies of the Lutheran church were held last Tuesday at the home of Mrs. L. H. Puls, where they enjoyed the day in a very fine manner. It being Washington's birthday, a program of a patriotic nature was given which all present enjoyed greatly. The hostess served a very delightful luncheon and all declared Mrs. Puls a charming entertainer, and look for the time when they can meet at her hospitable home again.

Opel Homan of the third grade, and Kathleen of the second grade, received prizes last week for having the most headmarks.

Hazel Davis came to school Monday morning with sixty examples in algebra worked for future lessons. She believes in preparing for the future.

Dick and Bud March and Carl Henry and Joe Dietl, went to the woods Sunday and took their dinner with them. They were hunting, and had good luck—no one was hurt.

Several of the pupils of the Murray school have been favored with letters from Nellie and Viola Tucker. They were formerly pupils of this school, but are now living at Oconto, Nebraska.

We have planted lettuce and radishes in the hot bed which we made last week and are watching to see if they have reached their full growth. When they do, we may try our hand at making lettuce sandwiches.

If some good fairy was to visit the Murray school and promise to grant each one with a wish, I think she would not have a very hard task, for every one at our school agrees beautifully. We only ask for more time.

Margaret Dietl and Marie Puls have finished reading "The Prospector" and gave a joint book review of this interesting book during the English period. Hazel Davis gave a review of "Uncle Tom's Cabin."

A specimen of each high school pupil's writing was taken Monday morning and after about six weeks practice they are to be compared with a specimen taken then, so we can see how much we have improved. "Ignorance is the only unpardonable sin" is the sentence which we wrote this morning.

Since we have started the study of science, Lloyd Leyda decided to be a scientist at home. The result was a broken window and magnet. Blanche Scotten has been attempting to be an astronomer. While studying the stars, she grew suddenly frightened at the dark and made a dive for the door, with the result of narrowly escaping a serious injury from falling on the steps.

Lloyd Leyda usually rides to school and keeps his horse in Minford's barn. Will decided to join the "Kindness to dumb animals club" last week and stopped on his way to school to feed Lloyd's horse. With a face full of benevolence and his arms full of good oats, he rushed into the barn to bestow this feast upon the patient animal. But "Tip" had fallen to come to school that morning. Will threw the feed down in disgust and said, "What's the use of trying to be kind."

PIONEER RESIDENT SHOWS NO CHANGE

George W. Shrader, Who Was Visited With Stroke of Paralysis Two Weeks Ago is Still Quite Ill.

The condition of George W. Shrader, one of the pioneer residents of Cass county, and who was stricken two weeks ago with paralysis, continues quite serious and but little change in the condition of the patient is to be noticed. Mr. Shrader has, since the accident, been staying at the home of his son, Homer Shrader near Murray, and has been receiving the care of the children, who have been taking turns in caring for the aged father and doing all possible to bring about his recovery.

The many friends over the county of this splendid old neighbor and friend have been anxiously awaiting word from his bedside and hoping that he might be able to shake off the effects of the stroke, although the advanced years of Mr. Shrader makes this extremely difficult.

There are twenty-two fine young men in the Wesleyan Glee Club in the entertainment which will be given at the M. W. A. Hall next Friday, February 25th. It is worth your while to see this.
