The early spring is having a hard time dodging a late frost.

The more deserving a man is of criticism, the less he likes it.

Cheer up! Prospects are fine for a large blackberry crop this year.

It's a rare congressman who remembers speeches he made last summer.

A Lakewood, O., man has an egg 61 years old. You are apt to run across its brother any day.

It is paradoxical, but true, that when rulers become drunk with power the world does the staggering.

The Washington Post remarks that Clara Smith Hamon ought to be behind the screen instead of on it.

It is an old adage that "sugar will catch more flies than vinegar." Yes, and baldheaded men will attract more than either.

Spanish protection is well enough for the former emperor of Austria. Castles in Spain are probably the best he can do.

General Coxe, after 27 years, may reflect that he accomplished about as much as anyone who takes a problem to Washington.

First Constantine, now Carl, and in no time at all, unless the allied attitude toward Germany is stiffened, it will be Wilhelm.

If the early garden suffered any damage from low temperatures the home owner can now have the fun of making another garden.

Price of baseball bats mounts. Ringling, Barnum & Bailey circus will have no more parades. Going to be a tough year on us, boys!

Prohibition raiding is not originally considered a dangerous job in Nebraska, but occasionally the officers come into contact with the desperate and dangerous type of moonshiners and bloodshed is the inevitable result.

Miss Belle Kearney of Mississippi, says that nothing but death can cause her to quit the race for the senate. Well, that's a prerogative of women—refusing to change their minds. However the sex generally has a whole lot yet to learn about politics.

Swindlers are seeking to extort $5 from ex-service men in return for obtaining for them articles of uniform to which they are entitled from the government, according to information received by the American Legion. The Adjutant General has appealed to the legion to aid in frustrating the plans of the bunco men.

THE PRICE

OF CLOTHES

The price of our dry cleaning cuts down the price of clothes. Dainty Dorothy says that she has found out that we take most excellent care of the garments entrusted to us and that our charges should make friends for this house. Our dyeing proves satisfactory, as we use the latest approved methods and the best dyes.

The nearer some neighbors the dearer they are not.

Silent watches of the night are those we forget to wind.

More than 5,600,000 firms and individuals were income tax payers in 1920.

The first state federation of women's clubs was organized in Maine in 1892.

More than a million patients pass through the hospitals of New York every year.

The first labor college in the United States opened in 1920 at Springfield, Mass.

Airplane flight to 14,000 feet almost restored speech to a mute. It'd make most of us lose our voices.

When a woman tries to capture a wealthy husband she evidently believes that his means will justify her ends.

Some men would get along much faster if they didn't lose so much time telling other people how smart they are.

If you envy the Hardings, just think of the mud that's tracked into their White House by the flood of sight-seers.

No doubt those Oklahoma and Missouri farmers wish there was some way to collect an indemnity from Jack Frost.

A lot of folks who know Speaker of the American League, have no idea who'll be speaker in congress—and care less.

When a man begins to shout his good deeds from the housetop it is your cue to look into the cellar for his evil ones.

The man who wrote, "There is no place like home," probably stayed down town for dinner during housecleaning time.

Russia admits that she needs her intellectuals who fled the country. But can the intellectuals be persuaded that they need Russia?

"Eat onions," advises the department of agriculture. All right, but we will first have to get a ladies' and gentlemen's agreement on the subject.

No wife thinks it is a compliment of her financial ability when her husband insists that she ought to be able to run the house on about seven dollars per week.

The average American drank 44 gallons of milk last year, twice as much as a few generations ago. The farther we get from the cow, the more milk we want.

When considering notable human achievements we ought to say something for the man who can carry on an intelligent telephone conversation with a cigar in his mouth.

The first German note to the league of nations, protesting against the allied occupation of German territory must have been entrusted to one of the messenger boys who signed the peace treaty.

The Nebraska farmer who continues to pin his faith in live stock will win in the end. This is a meat-eating world, and, while folks may strumble at the prices, they will always buy meat.

The automobile habit will shorten a man's legs and make his head bigger in time, says Levi S. Gardner, Detroit scientist. You have noticed that enlarged-head tendency by some owners of expensive cars.

Gen. Charley Dawes has been placed at the head of a commission to look after disabled soldiers. If he can relieve the ex-service men as effectively as he revealed his feelings before congress, all will be well.

A cheerful doctor in Chicago is predicting that we will have a nation wide epidemic of influenza during the coming month, and a scientist tells us that we are liable to be hit by a comet in June. Aside from these, and a million or so other things, we have nothing to worry about.

Explorer Stefanson says the North Pole is warm—never colder than 60 below zero. Get in line, don't shove.

The aviator who dropped 24,000 feet with a parachute probably isn't worried about anyone trying to steal his job.

Quebec limits an individual's liquor to a quart a day. Now we know why the geese went north early this spring.

Even the engagement ring is the outcome of a trust, and the wedding ring is the natural result of a combination.

A Chicago industrial concern went busted not long ago, in spite of the fact that it had a "modern business woman" at the head of it.

Thirty-nine railroads, comprising 4 per cent of the total rail mileage of the United States, have their terminals in Chicago.

Probably before the ruling permitting the medicine use of beer gets into general operation there'll be a new clause specifying homeopathic doses only.

There's no use denying that some of this 1921 bootleg liquor would make ideal snakebite medicine if it could be applied to the snake in time.

A Confederate veteran in Alabama recently coughed up a bullet which entered his eye July 1, 1863. Now let this be the last shot fired in the Civil War.

Canada is going to economize by refusing to import luxuries from the United States. Isn't it a little unneighborly of her to expect us to buy our own luxuries?

Judging from the cartoons showing what a terrible nuisance a golfer becomes after making a hole in one, we're glad the possibility in our case is so generally remote.

Some skeptical person thinks Emperor Charles is shamming illness, but really he has reason to feel sick and also has all the fanes of a sick man. For instance he thinks Hungary wants him.

The tightwad doesn't waste his money having a good time or building a new addition upon his house. He frequently saves it all up in a lump for some nice smooth-tongued stranger with a scheme.

The labor party in Britain is confident it can bring about Premier Lloyd George's downfall. But if its leaders want to avoid over confidence probably they would be wise to seek counsel from Mr. Ansquith.

Whatever may be the purposes or motives of the Ku-Klux-Klan, the first best guess is that none of them are worthy, and the organization deserves nothing but discouragement and uncompromising opposition.

Germany hints pretty plainly that she would rather have the United States for a creditor than the allies, but knowing the value of her security the United States probably will continue to be a little deaf in that ear.

A letter mailed in New York in 1917 has reached its destination in an Alabama town. Mr. Hays will, of course, be generous and award the bulk of the credit for this delivery to the man he succeeded a month ago.

The home of Mr. and Mrs. William Gobelman was made happy by the arrival of a little daughter on Saturday April 2, 1921. This is their second daughter and their first in town. The Courier extends congratulations.

Mr. and Mrs. C. M. Seybert and daughter, Miss Margaret, drove down from Havelock last Sunday to take dinner with Mr. and Mrs. Paul Phelps and family and to spend the afternoon visiting other old friends. Their eldest daughter, Miss Iva, could not come as she has entered St. Elizabeth's hospital in Lincoln to take a training course as a nurse. She likes the work very much and her many friends in this vicinity will be pleased to learn of her undertaking and will wish her the best of success.

Raymond Teodorski, of Omaha was attending to business matters in Louisville last week and paid this office a pleasant call on press day. He informs us that his mother has decided to remain in California, where she went last year to spend the winter. She is accompanied by her daughter, the former Mrs. John Kahler, and two sons, Barak Teodorski and wife of Manville, Wyoming. He also moved to Los Angeles to be with his mother and they are all delighted with the climatic change. Barak is busy all the time as contractor and builder and gets good wages.

Wendel Heil, a prominent farmer of Cass county, has purchased the home of the Courier editor and will move to town this week. The Courier family will move into a newly remodeled home next door and are

Wendel Heil, a prominent farmer of Cass county, has purchased the home of the Courier editor and will move to town this week. The Courier family will move into a newly remodeled home next door and are congratulating themselves upon having Mr. and Mrs. Heil as neighbors. Mr. Heil and wife are pioneer citizens of this community, and have pent all their married life upon their beautiful farm east of Louisville, but with the advancing years they have felt the burden of keeping up their large country home and they surely have earned the right to retire and enjoy freedom from the many activities of farm life. Their youngest son, Walter, whose wedding occurred this week, will manage the farm and his brother Fred will live with him and will farm for himself.

H. H. Stoll, of Nebraska, was a visitor in the city yesterday for a few hours, looking after some matters of business connected with a claim that he has in regard to an estate located in New York.

Ed E. Leech of Union, motored up this afternoon to spend a few hours here looking after some matters of business.

Peter Meisinger came in this morning from his home near Cedar Creek to spend a short time here looking after some matters of importance with the merchants.

Clarence Earhart of Manley, was White has since the first of the year coming in to have Dr. H. C. Leopold operate on him for the removal of his tonsils and adenoids and returned home feeling much improved.

Miss Jessie M. Robertson, who is teaching in the Louisville schools, came in last evening for an over Sunday visit with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. James Robertson. The eighth grade examinations in the Louisville schools gave a holiday to the members of the teaching force.

Music's Perfect Mirror

The NEW EDISON
"The Phonograph with a Soul"

The New Edison is like the perfect mirror that reflects form and feature, true to every line and subtlety of coloring. It gives you an exact RE-CREATION of the singing or playing of the living artist or artists.

Mr. Edison spent 7 years of his time and 3 millions of his dollars to develop the perfect realism of the New Edison. He has proved this perfect realism by comparing the New Edison with living artists 5,000 times before more than 5 million people. The New Edison is positively the only phonograph which can sustain this test.

We have, for you, a proof on offset paper of the famous Franklin Booth Etching of Mr. Edison, as he looks today. Size 12 x 19 inches. Bears no advertising matter; suitable for framing. Just fill out the ballot,—and bring or mail it to us.
