HOUSE KILLS COURT BILL BY 46 TO 43 VOTE

CONTINUANCE OF COMMISSION TO AID SUPREME TRIBUNAL IS PUT TO SLEEP.

Lincoln, April 8.—Lawyers and state administration members of the lower house went down to the most disastrous defeat of the session today when the supreme court commission bill was killed by vote of 46 to 43. This, in the face of a message from Governor McKelvie asking for the continuance of the commission for two more years.

Charges that by killing the commission and putting a heavy burden of work on the supreme court proper would be the only means of ever getting Nebraska judicial districts re-districted in compliance with the new constitution were made by Representatives Lynn, Snow and others fighting the bill. It also was charged that at the time the supreme court commission was created a solemn promise was made that it would be discontinued in two years and that this promise has been broken.

Will Delay Work

Friends of the commission declared that if it were put out of business the supreme court would run months behind in its work and litigants and lawyers would suffer.

A bill recreating the commission was killed by the senate several weeks ago and a similar bill was killed in a standing committee of the lower house a short time later. Then lawyer members of the house and senate petitioned Governor McKelvie to throw his influence behind an attempt to keep the commission in existence. A message from the governor outlining the desire of the lawyer members and a new bill recreating the commission resulted.

Meantime a bill re-districting Nebraska judicial districts appeared on the lower house calendar. Nebraska, under the terms of this bill, was divided into nine districts, three judges to each district, excepting the Omaha and Lancaster county districts.

This was in accordance with the new constitutional requirements calling for re-districting and providing that the district judges should be called in to sit on supreme court cases when that court was crowded and thus do away with the heavy expense of a supreme court commission. The bill was killed in committee of the whole through the efforts of Representatives Rodman, Jeary and other lawyer members who today fought for the recreation of the supreme court commission.

Lawyer Opposes Bill

There was one attorney in the lower house who refused to join forces with other members of his profession and fought the bill bitterly. That was Representative Epperson of Clay, author of the re-districting bill, which was killed. The final vote follows:

For: Armstrong, Barbour, Beans, Bock, Byrum, Clizbe, Davis, Druess-dow, Dysart, Foster, Franklin, Prantz, Frazier, Fould, Green, Has-call, Hoare, Jacobs, Jeary, Kendall, McFarland, McLellan, Mears, Med-lar, Moseley, Murphy, Nutzman, Perkins, Randall, Rank, Reed, Rodman, Ruddy, Smith, Staats, Sturdevant, Votaw, Wallace, Westerhoff, Wright, Williams, Wood, Yeiser.

BOYS ACT AS HOSTESSES TO LADIES

Class of G. L. Farley Entertain Class of Miss Clara Weyrich at Presbyterian Church Parlor.

The young men's class of the Presbyterian Sunday school of which George L. Farley is the teacher, entertained the young ladies of Miss Clara Weyrich's class very pleasantly Thursday evening at the church parlors.

The young ladies have on several occasions served as hostesses to the young men and the class of Mr. Farley's decided that it was time to return the favor and they pulled a most delightful evening for the members of the ladies class.

During the evening games of all kinds were enjoyed to the utmost and it was with great regret that the members of the jolly party saw the home-going hour draw near that brought to a close the very pleasant event.

The young men served very delicate refreshments of ice cream and cake during the evening that served to heighten the pleasures of the evening.

ATTENDED ORGAN RECITAL

Mrs. L. H. Cushman and daughter Helen, attended the organ recital given Thursday by the Omaha Wesley club. Prof. H. C. McDougall, organist and choir master at Wesley college, played a Past orale by Catherine K. Davis (Wells) by 1914. This showed what a college girl can do with her music. The Lutheran section brought back pleasant memories of vesper in Houghton Memorial Chapel. After the four-course dinner at the university with Prof. McDougall in the Wesley society and the high band to give a concert to the Wesley club, a substantial fund that the desired $2,000.00 can be raised before commencement in June, is the earnest wish of her estimable president Ellen Fitz-Pedgley.

PINOCHLE CLUB FEASTS

During the winter months a number of the young married people of the city have been enjoying frequent meetings at which the game of pinochle was the chief diversion and as the interest in the game grew it was decided that the members of the party would play a series and the losers would be forced to treat the winners at the close of the series of games. The final result was held at the home of Mayor and Mrs. H. A. Schneider, Thursday evening when the losers, composed of Mrs. Schneider, J. F. Waga and Mr. and Mrs. E. C. Harris entertained the winners, Mr. Schneider, Mrs. Waga and Mr. and Mrs. R. W. Knorr at dinner.

The losers proved that while they might not fully understand the mysteries of "melting" or "buying the bid", they were experts in the art of arranging a first class feed and the winners feel that they were amply repaid for their skill in winning the majority of the points during the series of games.

SHERIFFS DISCUSS GROWING CRIME WAVE

ALL AGREED THAT LAWLESSNESS IS ON THE INCREASE AT PRESENT TIME

That crime conditions over the state are the worst in years is the opinion of the sheriffs of the various counties who have gathered at Lincoln during the past few days. Instead of improving, it is said conditions seemingly are getting worse in all the counties.

The authorities report that the increase in lawlessness has been from 1917 to seventy-five per cent since 1917 and the greater part of the violations are traceable to prohibition law breaking and other crimes that have sprung from efforts to evade the prohibitory law of the state.

Sheriff Michael Clark, of Omaha, blames the unsettled condition following the war as well as the growing use of automobiles for the carrying out of criminal acts.

Sheriff J. W. McLaughlin of Clay county says: "The manufacture of poisonous liquor, denouncing the minds of the drinkers" is the cause of a great deal of the crime wave activity.

Sheriff Iva Miller, of Lancaster, C. D. Quinton, of Cass, C. W. Hall, of Phelps, of Thurston, A. H. Spadeker, of Platte, W. H. Arnold, of Howard, E. E. Whitel, of Boone, E. H. Potter, of Logan and G. H. Anderson, of Phelps, are among the officials who report the violation of prohibition laws as being the cause of the increasing crime waves in their various counties.

The violation of the prohibition laws seem to be about equally divided among the American and foreign population of the state.

Another of the increasing crimes is that of passing worthless checks and all over the state the authorities are finding this to be a growing form of law violation and one which is proving hard to stamp out.

One of the most alarming conditions revealed by the sheriffs is the fact that the age of the prisoners as a rule runs from eighteen to twenty-two and indicates that the younger generation is drifting very dangerously toward a bad future. Sheriff Clark of Douglas has found the great majority of his prisoners to be within these two ages and reports from other sections of the state show this to be a fact in the rural sections as well as the cities.

WEeping WATER HAS VERY QUIET ELECTION

Only One Ticket in the Field—Lack of Spirit Shown by the Voters

There in Years Past.

The city election at Weeping Water this year was one of the tamest that has been held there for some years and the fact that only one ticket was in the field accounts for the small vote cast. The first ward registered fifty votes while the second only polled thirty-five votes.

A number of scattering votes were cast for various persons but the regular ticket placed on the ballot received a great majority of the votes cast.

The officers selected were: Troy L. Davis, mayor; C. E. Butler, treasurer; George H. Olive, clerk; F. H. Gorder, councilman first ward; C. S. Murfin, councilman second ward; J. M. Teegarden and L. R. Sulphes members board of education; Eugene Colbert, member board of education for short term.
