PREPARED EXCLUSIVELY FOR THE JOURNAL.

Study The Men Who Succeed!

Look around you and pick out the successful men of your community.

Nine times out of ten, you will find them citizens who have kept eternally at work regardless of crop failures or financial depressions. These men have gone through much more trying times than the present.

Compare the troubles of the '90's with our troubles now. Ask the pioneer about the '70's and you will find that our troubles now are only mole hills compared to the mountains of those days.

The men who work and save and keep their courage will be the well-to-do men of tomorrow.

Our officers are always ready to assist, advise and co-operate with you, so that we may be of benefit to our many friends and patrons.

The Farmers' Grain Prices!

One year with another the farming industry is a prosperous one. Sometimes the prices go unusually low, but those times are usually followed by an advent of higher ones, due to decreased production. The people must eat, and the era of better prices is ahead. Do not slacken production, then, but be prepared to share in the coming prosperity.

To raise the most from you land and get the best returns, improved machinery is essential. We are carrying the best lines and can supply you with what you want. If you wait till prices advance, before you resume production you will have nothing to sell when the reaction comes. Enough others will fall by the wayside to assure a greater demand, and YOU cannot afford to pass up this opportunity. Better get the necessary machinery now and go in for a bumper year. See us for anything you may need and be assured of the best of service.

Finds Everything O. K.

The state fire inspector, D. M. Trumble, of Lincoln, was in Murdock last Friday inspecting the city's fire conditions, and in his report he stated everything to be O. K. with the exception of a few minor matters of carelessness on the part of one or two of our citizens. There were advised to get busy at once and clean up around their premises which will not only reduce fire danger but improve the looks of the town as well.

Mr. Trumble offered a worthwhile suggestion along the line of fire prevention, which was that a Ford chassis could easily be converted into a fire wagon, on which could be mounted a chemical engine and then in case of a fire one man could soon set the apparatus to the scene of the fire.

Sure a Fine Fish

H. V. McDonald accompanied a number of others to Meadow a few days ago on a fishing expedition and on his return home brought with him an extra fine fish which he has provided an aquarium for and has the same on exhibition in his place of business. Mr. McDonald says he thinks the specimen he has in captivity is a distant relative of the one that had the experience with the prophet Jonah. Judging from the looks of it, we would quite agree as to it being a distant relative of the illustrious whale. In fact so distant that it could scarcely be seen a mile away with the naked eye. The fineness of this fish is one of its chief recommendations for it certainly couldn't qualify in a size contest, so small is it.

Undergoes Operation in Omaha

Emanuel Thimgan, of Sutton, a brother of Edward and Matthew of this place, underwent an operation for the removal of a tumor from the bladder at the Clarkson hospital in Omaha last Saturday afternoon. Mr. Thimgan has been suffering greatly for some time and was unable to secure any relief save through the operation. He had just returned from Buffalo, N. Y., where he went to the World's Dispensary and had a thoracic clinic made of his condition. As they do not perform surgical operations, they advised Mr. Thimgan to return to the west and undergo an operation for his trouble. Immediately upon his return he went to the Clarkson hospital where the operation was performed. Edward went up to be with his brother through the ordeal and to render what assistance he could. It is to be hoped Mr. Thimgan will have a speedy recovery as well as a permanent one.

Loses Chickens and Butter

Last week, while J. J. Gustin was busy at the stock yards in Murdock, loading cattle for shipment to Omaha, some miscreants went to his farm home a few miles from town and appropriated two dozen chickens of the Rhode Island Red variety. They also attempted to get away with his auto and did take some six or eight pounds of butter that had been placed in the car to take to town. The marauders had left their Ford at the Callihan church and carried the chickens and butter to the car there. Alva Bornemeier also had a tire stolen from his car at the church as well as did H. H. Dehning at the same time and Robert Stock lost an overcoat. These acts of petty thievery afford sufficient provocation for the securing of a gun loaded to the muzzle with good old fashioned buck shot. This is about the only successful way to stop it. The only clue to any of the depredations committed in the vicinity lies in the fact that recently some one brought four dozen chickens and a can of cream to the cream station, falling to call for the cream can when it had been emptied.
