Snavely and family and the family of S. Copenhaver, but on account of the almost incessant downpour of rain they could not attend.

WE SHOULD WORRY
A prominent business expert wrote the following sentence: "In the vintage of time, all men whose business methods injure others must bow to the law of compensation and take the bitter with the sweet—this law plays no favorites." It is a great truth! We knew it always, and that is why we had only grinned and said, "We should worry," when during the last three decades here and there some "Crown," "Diamond," or otherwise baptized Bitter Wine was urged upon the public with a great clamor and noise. We knew that the "crowns" would fall and the "diamonds" would prove false. Our product, Triner's Bitter Wine, will soon have its thirty-first birthday and will see many more, undisturbed and unvanquished. The public knows its merits. Triner's Bitter Wine is the very remedy you need if you want to clear your body of poisons accumulated in the intestines and to compel the sluggish bowels to the normal action. You can get it at all druggists and dealers in medicines.—Joseph Triner Company, 1333-45 S. Ashland Ave., Chicago, Ill.

D., May 8.—Farmers in ten states contributed 431 carloads of gift corn for the relief of starving people in Europe and the near east, according to the report of Carl Vrooman, general director of the gift corn project for the American farm bureau federation. Although no accurate check is yet available, it is estimated by Mr. Vrooman that these 431 carloads will approximate 600,000 bushels. The number of carloads from each of the ten states contributing is given as follows: South Dakota, 31; Illinois, 147; Ohio, 67; Indiana, 44; Minnesota, 44; Iowa, 26; Missouri, 22; Nebraska, 20; Kansas, 16, and Colorado 4.

WINS DAMAGES OF TEN CENTS AGAINST BANK
Lincoln, Neb., May 6.—A bank customer is entitled to damages for failure of a state bank to fulfill its contract on a promised loan even though the loan is in excess of the 20 per cent of the capital stock allowed to a single customer by the state law, the supreme court decided today in the case of the Bank of College View against J. F. Nelson, garage owner.

Nelson had contracted to borrow the money and the bank refused later to lend it on the ground that it was illegal because the total amount of the loan exceeded the 20 per cent of the bank's capital stock allowed by law. Nelson had already borrowed $2,056.27. He refused to repay this, claiming it was damages. He sued for damages and the bank for the money. The court allowed him $2,056.37 and the bank $2,056.27, leaving Nelson 10 cents clear damages.
