WILL HAVE ANOTHER CHAUTAUQUA HERE

The dates for the Big Event Have Been Set for July 7th to 11th—Fine Array of Talent

This city is to enjoy during the coming summer another of the very high class Chautauqua entertainments that have been the rule here since 1917 and which have in the past brought to this city some very high class forms of entertainment.

The Chautauqua association this year is headed by C. A. Rawls as chairman and B. A. McElwain as secretary and they will soon get the organization busy in the final arrangements for the big show that will afford our people many pleasant hours.

The company that is to furnish the summer program is the Mutual Chautauqua and Lyceum bureau and is the same company that has handled the attractions in the past two years. This company provides the tent, seats and all the properties necessary for the chautauqua and the local committee has only to provide the ground space and conduct the sale of the tickets for the big entertainment.

The chautauqua has been found to be one of the most pleasant as well as beneficial entertainments of the summer season and its support is a matter that should be given the attention of the residents of the city who are in favor of good, clean, wholesome entertainment. It is time now to start in planning on the summer course and all the loyal supporters should get behind the proposition and start in to boost it for all it is worth!

VICTROLA IS RETURNED

The Victrola which was taken a few nights ago from the school in district No. 29, has returned as mysteriously as it disappeared and the directors are well pleased that the parties having it adopted this means of settling the case rather than having trouble over it as would have been necessary if they had not come through. Mr. W. H. Meisinger states that the matter is settled pleasantly to all concerned and that the property of the district will hereafter be more secure.

"NOTHING BUT THE TRUTH" IS BIG SUCCESS

ONE OF BEST PLAYS EVER PRESENTED IN CITY IS VERDICT OF LARGE AUDIENCE

From Wednesday's Daily.

The Parmelee theater was filled to its utmost capacity last evening to witness the presentation by the class of 1921 of the comedy, "Nothing But the Truth" and the verdict of the audience was unanimous that this class had presented one of the best offerings that had been given in the city in a great many years, not only in the well selected play, but the clever manner in which the young people acquitted themselves.

The play is one that had scored heavily on the legitimate stage as a farce comedy of more than usual laugh producing qualities and in the hands of the clever cast last evening it was a triumph of its original fun and cleverness.

It dealt with the trials and tribulations of "Bob Bennett," who had been induced by two of his friends to make a $10,000 bet that he would tell nothing but the truth for the period of twenty-four hours and as a consequence he experiences all kinds of troubles and embarrassing situations that are brought on by the friends in hoping to have him lose the bet. The friends proceed to see that Bob is given all manner of embarrassing questions to answer and as he answers them truthfully he finds himself in very bad with the parties with whom he is associated. The final outcome of the play leads the friends into as bad as fix as the unfortunate Bob and their anxiety as to the outcome of the case in the end is worse than that of the "victim".

In the role of "Bob Bennett," George F. Dovey was well cast and this young man, who has often delighted Plattsmouth audiences with his work on the stage, was never seen in a more pleasing role than that in which he appeared last evening and he certainly was ideally chosen for the part.

As "Given Ralston" the funniness of "Bob," Miss Theodosia Kroeber, was in her usual pleasing grace and her exceptional cleverness as a dramatic artist was given full expression during the progress of the comedy and her support of Mr. Dovey added much to the enjoyment of the audience.

Mason Westcott as "E. M. Ralston" and Miss Evelyn Wadley as "Mrs. Ralston," were the storm center of a domestic near tragedy and in their part were very pleasing and sooved a stage presence that was delightful and afforded much pleasing comedy. The misunderstanding as to the relations of "Mr. Ralston" and "Mrs. Ralston," were the basis of the play and presented a very laughable portion of the play in these situations the young ladies carried out their parts in excellent manner.

The parts of "Van Dusen" and "Dick," two of the conspirators, were played by Gladys Linton and "Sable" by Miss Wilma Rainey, proved a very laughable portion of the play in these situations the young ladies carried out their parts in excellent manner.

The parts of "Ethel Clark" was taken by Alice Pollock, who was very charming in her part and displayed an ability that won the audience throughout the play.

As the "Bishop," Gus Brubaker was true to life and made a very clever bishop and as usual was the "goal" for the bad investments of the others and his work was in keeping with the general well balanced cast.

While having the minor part of a maid was played by Emma Wohlfarth and Miss Evelyn Wadley made a marked impression on the audience.

The play was presented under the personal direction of Percy H. Field and the splendid work of the young people reflects great credit on the ability and hard work of the director who has had them in charge for the past few weeks during their training.

During the intermissions the course of the play the Holly orchestra furnished a very pleasing musical program that was much enjoyed and added to the enjoyment and interest of the play.

It is expected to have this play repeated later as there were several hundred who were unable to secure seats for the event.

The class of 1921 can well feel proud of their dramatic offering and the community well pleased with the exceptionally clever young people who have completed their work in the schools of this city.

HARDING REVIEWS

NATION'S WAR DEAD

Walks Through Aisles of 5,212 Rough Caskets Containing Bodies of American Soldiers.

New York, May 23.—There was a review of the nation's war dead by the president of the United States today.

While a band played a dirge, President Harding with bowed head, walked slowly through the long aisles formed by 5,212 rough caskets, containing the bodies of American soldiers brought home from France.

The scene of the gloomy pier at Hoboken was impressive as the chief flag draped coffin to the somber beat of muffled drums.

"There are a hundred thousand sorrows touching my own heart," he said in his eulogy, "and I bear the solemnity of this duty—this must not be again, this must not be again."

After the speech, the president placed a wreath on the casket of Joseph W. Gager, of Hart, Mich., a member of Company I, 126th infantry, who was the first American killed on German soil.

In the name of the republic," he said, "I bestow this tribute on the casket of the first American soldier to perish on the soil of the enemy."

As he laid the wreath on the coffin, the sad notes of taps sounded and the end of the twenty-second infantry which formed the united guard of honor, snapped to present arms.

As Harding mounted the small rostrum after the review, the band played "Nearer My God to Thee." Chaplains read a few verses of scripture.

"These dead know nothing of our ceremony or our sentiment," said the president.

"These bodies were but the clay tenements which contained the souls that lit the battle flame that sped on the altars of justice before the bar of eternal justice."

"We shall not forget them, though they lie in the homeland, or in the land crimsoned by their blood."

After the ceremony, the president returned to New York.

LITTLE CHILD BADLY INJURED

From Tuesday's Daily.

This afternoon Dr. J. H. Hall departed for Omaha in response to a message received here shortly before noon from Mrs. M. M. Soule, daughter of Dr. and Mrs. Hall, and which announced the serious if not fatal accident to Jean, the little daughter of the Soule family, and granddaughter of Dr. and Mrs. Hall. The little one fell from the second story of the Soule residence on Pickney street in Omaha this morning and as soon as the accident occurred the little one was hurried to the Immanuel hospital where an examination disclosed very serious accidents which the attending surgeons pronounced very serious and with but little chance for the child to recover from them.

NEHAWKA WINS OVER MURDOCK

"There were doubtful balances of right and wrong, there were enthusiastic rosters with endless tongues." When the two teams, one from Murdock, composed of a crowd of excellent fellows, and the other the fit young men of Nehawka, met on the local diamond last Sunday. The game was one well worth witnessing. During the first part of the contest the visitors plainly had the best of the fight, but with the realigning of the forces of Nehawka, the game was dissolved and an additional score to cinch the victory, which resulted in a score of nine for the visitors and ten for the home team. At the first game which these two teams played, the record shows, Murdock 29, Nehawka 9. The line-up of the Nehawka team was Griffin, pitcher, A. Johnson, first; Leland Hodge, center; Fred Miller, short; Hennings Johnson, third; Carper, right; Whiteman center; Kembion, catch; Everett Rutledge, left.
