

An indirect cost you should figure

Lubricating oil is one of the smallest items of cost, when you balance it against fuel or tires. But its indirect cost may easily be higher than either.

Engine wear-and-tear, frequent overhauling, repairs and the replacement of broken parts—practically all this expense should be charged against the cost of lubricating oil.

So lubricating oil of highest quality and proper body is a big money-saver. It protects engaging parts against wear, prevents bearings burning out, keeps compression tight and assures maximum power and mileage from every gallon of gasoline.

Polarine makes these economies not only possible but certain. Its stability under high engine heat insures a fuel-tight and gas-tight seal in the cylinders, and a film on bearings and moving parts that prevents wear.

Polarine is made in four grades—light, medium heavy, heavy and extra heavy—but only one quality. Get the proper grade for your car next time you buy clean-burning Red Crown Gasoline—and you will start cutting down motoring costs.

CLASS OF '21 SAYS GOODBYE TO ALMA MATER

LARGEST CLASS IN HISTORY OF LOCAL HIGH SCHOOL GRADUATED LAST EVENING

Last evening the class of 1921 of the Plattsmouth high school, the largest class in point of numbers that has ever stepped forth on graduation day from the portals of the local school, were given their diplomas that marked the close of their high school life.

The extreme humidity of the evening did not serve to deter the attendance of the friends of the members of the class and the auditorium was well filled before the formal opening of the program and filled to its capacity when the class program was commenced.

The processionary was played by Miss Estelle Baird, one of the talented musicians of the city, and a member of the high school faculty and was the formal opening of the program of the evening.

The invocation was offered by the Rev. A. V. Hunter, pastor of the First Methodist church which served as an inspiration to the interesting program that followed.

Miss Kathryn Waddick, one of the gifted members of the class offered a most charming piano selection, "Two Larks" by Lesellintzky, who gave the talented lady opportunity for the display of her unusual ability as a pianist and proved a delightful feature of the program.

Miss Fae Cobb gave a reading, "Don't You Know" which was much enjoyed and showed great skill as an eloquentist on the part of the young lady.

The salutary was given by Mason Wescott, one of the honor students of the class, who had as his subject "Power", taking the subject from the class motto, "Knowledge is Power" and in his brief but very able address, the young man pointed out to the class that they were stepping forth from the school in which they had received their education, to the value of the knowledge they had acquired in their school life and which placed in their hands an opportunity for success in the lines that they might select as their life work in the future.

Miss Clara Trilley gave as her portion of the program a very difficult and charming piano solo, "Prelude in C Sharp Minor" by Bachmanior which was rendered in very pleasing manner and with marked skill.

The class salutary was delivered by Miss Alice Pollock, who had as her subject "Ambition" and during her brief but very thorough remarks she told of the aspirations of the class and the spirit that had led them through their school work as well as the feeling of gratitude that they held for the educators who made it possible for them to attain the fulfillment of their ambition in their school work. Miss Pollock showed great ability in her remarks on behalf of the class of which she was the highest ranking member in points of credits and to whom the class scholarship was awarded.

The class address was delivered by Dr. Clyde Clay Cissel, of Omaha, who is one of the prominent religious educators of the state and is at present the Methodist church. The subject of the oration was "Bubble Blowers" and in which the speaker took up the viewpoint held up to the young people leaving school that it was necessary to fix on a high ideal in life and that the easy way was the logical one for them to take. The address was short and very practical, the speaker indulging in little of the gloss of oratory but presenting clean cut facts on the value of the higher ideals of life for the young men and women of the class.

The class of 1921 was presented by Superintendent C. E. Pratt, who is retiring as the head of the schools of the city and he expressed his pleasure at being a part of the teaching force to send forth such a splendid array of young men and women.

The class song was then given by the members and was one full of pep and enthusiasm as the members sang it for the last time as classmates. The words of this song were written by Miss Clara Mae Morgan, one of the class members.

The presentation of the diplomas was made by Mrs. W. A. Robertson on behalf of the board of education, with a few brief and well chosen remarks as the cap and gown students filed past to receive the coveted parchment that represented the fulfillment of the high school career.

In the scholarship awards the D. A. R. scholarship was presented by Mrs. W. S. Leete, regent of the local chapter to Mason Wescott and who was the highest ranking student in American history, on which the award was based, having a grade of 99 in this branch. The class scholarship was awarded to Miss Alice Pollock who had secured a grade of a fraction over Mr. Wescott and who will be the highest ranking student securing the schooling that the scholarship affords. The class feels very proud of the splendid showing of Miss Pollock in her work during her school career and which has won for her the highest honors that can come to a member of the class. Mr. Wescott has also showed wonderful work in his school studies and ranked within a very few points of the prize winner and was one of the highest ranking young men to graduate from the school in recent years.

The program was closed with the pronouncing of the benediction by Rev. A. G. Hollowell, pastor of the Christian church.

The class numbered forty-nine and of whom seventeen were young men and is a class of which the school and the citizens of Plattsmouth can well feel very proud.

The members of the graduating class were as follows: Dean Douglas, Gladys Liston, Jack Ledgeway, Grace Beeson, John Sattler, Margaret Kennedy, Thelma Hudson, Ada Tulene, Frank Lister, Bertha Schunbeck, Carl Schneider, Alice Pollock, Eleanor Hiber, Chester Sporer, Kathryn Waddick, Fae Cobb, Rose Janda, John Svoboda, Thelma Olson, Paul Winscott, Mary Parmele, Melvin Johnson, Emma Wohlforth, Margaret Spangler, Gustave Brubaker, Pauline Bajack, Clara Trilley, Ida Patton, Adolph Hallas, Wilma Rainey, Clair Hudson, Emma Knoffick, Erma Smith, Genevieve Goodman, Richard Beverage, Fae Chase, Fern Noble, Mason Wescott, Verla Becker, Helen Pontius, Theodosia Kroehler, Eva Crook, Estelle Tritsch, Joe McCarthy, Clara Mae Morgan, Lois Smith, George Dovey, Lloyd Meisinger, Emma Albert.

EVERYBODY SEES A CHANGE IN FATHER

Grateful Son Says His Father Looks Like a Different Man Since Taking Tanlac.

"My father has suffered from chronic stomach trouble for over twenty years and has paid out thousands of dollars for medicines and doctors," said G. W. Slayton, a well-known Cobb county farmer, living a short distance out of Atlanta, Ga.

"We tried nearly everything trying to cure him and he went off to the Springs, thinking maybe the water might help him, but it just looked like nothing would reach his trouble. Then he tried dieting and lived on liquid food until he was almost starved, but even that failed to do him any good and he just kept going from bad to worse.

"I don't guess there ever was a case as stubborn as his and if there ever was a confirmed dyspeptic, he was one of them and I guess he would have been one yet if it hadn't been for this Tanlac.

"The first I heard of this medicine was when my father saw an advertisement in the papers from parties he knew in Tennessee, who were friends of his and he knew what they said about it was the truth so he got it right away and began taking it. Well, sir, it just gave me magic—everything notices the change in father. Why, he is just like a different man and sits down to the table and eats like a farm-hand. Only yesterday he ate pork and turnips for his dinner and ate so much we were actually afraid he was going to over-do the thing, but he laughed and said nothing hurt him now and that he was hungry and expected to eat and make up for lost time.

"Now, when a medicine will do things like that I think people ought to know about it and I want to say right now that I would not give one bottle of Tanlac for all the other medicines and health resorts in the country put together."

LOUISVILLE Courier

Mr. and Mrs. Wendell Hill drove down to the home of their son-in-law, Louis Meisinger last Monday where they spent the day very pleasantly. Mr. Hill also visited his own farm now occupied by his sons Fred and Walter, and enjoyed some fine strawberries which were just beginning to ripen.

Mr. and Mrs. Henry Gaebel and Mr. Andrew Strohman drove to Omaha the early part of last week where Mrs. Gaebel is still under treatment for her jaw which has caused her much trouble and suffering all spring, and she has had to undergo several operations and also has been obliged to have a number of teeth extracted. She is making some progress however, and her many friends hope she will soon be entirely well again.

Mr. and Mrs. George Reichart went to Louisville last week to attend the funeral of Ben Seybert, whose obituary appeared in last week's Courier. Mr. Seybert was a former resident of Cass county. He died at the Wise Memorial hospital in Omaha last week following an operation for cancer of the stomach. Mrs. C. Ellington, of Sidney, a sister of the deceased, was here this week for a short visit with Mr. and Mrs. Reichart on her way home from attending the funeral at Dunbar.

Henry Schoeman was called to Kansas City last week by the illness of his step-son, Glen Brasel, who was suffering from a severe attack of heart trouble with which he is afflicted. Mr. Schoeman remained with the young man until he was able to travel and then brought him to Louisville, where he will remain until he is able to return to his position as musician in a music store in that city. Mr. Brasel lived here in his early childhood and has many friends in this vicinity and in Springfield who will regret to know of his illness.

Mr. and Mrs. William Ossenkop and son Marion drove to Plattsmouth Sunday, where they were joined by Mrs. Ossenkop's brother-in-law and sister, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Schlater, and made a trip across the Missouri river ferry at Atlantic City, Iowa where Mr. Ossenkop purchased a thoroughbred hunting dog. It is a young pup and he will have it trained. They stopped at Council Bluffs on their way home and purchased a fine lot of plants at a greenhouse and the new flower beds at the Ossenkop home will soon be the admiration of all who see them.

SETTLEMENT NEAR IN MARINE STRIKE

Agreement on Wages Reached Between Chairman Benson and Union Leaders.

Washington, May 27.—An agreement on wages and working conditions was reached tonight between representatives of the Marine Engineers' Beneficial association and Chairman Benson of the shipping board in the controversy which has threatened a tie-up of American shipping. The terms will be submitted to the various local unions Sunday for ratification.

The agreement was reached at a conference with Secretary Davis after Chairman Benson had discussed the situation with President Harding several hours. If the terms are accepted by the locals, the agreement will be signed to remain in effect for one year.

The action was taken, regardless of the decision of the American Ship Owners' association, which was communicated to Secretary Davis today, to refrain from entering into any agreement with the men. The shipping board, however, it was pointed out, operates four-sevenths of all American ships.

The terms of the tentative agreement were not made public, but in general they are understood to follow the lines previously laid down of providing for a 15 per cent wage reduction and making some changes in overtime rules and working conditions.
